Dog Show On List Of Events

Performing dogs, prize-winning flowers and a haunted house are among the entertainments scheduled this weekend in Marin and Southern Sonoma.

An unusual dog show, sponsored by Blue Ribbon Dog Breeders, will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday at Marin County Fairgrounds. More than 1,000 dogs will participate in the annual Expo K-9, which will include sled dog and hunting dog demonstrations and a performance by the Berese mountain dog drill team.

For the 10th year, the Jolly Rogers chapter of the Children's Home Society is presenting its haunted house in Novato. The home for Halloween ghosts and goblins will be open from noon to 9 p.m. tomorrow through Tuesday. Children should be 6 or over to tour the house at 1485 South Novato Boulevard.

The fifth San Marin community Halloween parade will begin at 1 p.m. Sunday at the corner of San Marin and San Andreas drives in Novato. Floats, bands and drill teams and horses will participate in the event, sponsored by the San Marin Improvement Association.

The Glenwood School Parent-Teacher Association is sponsoring a "Goblins Gathering" carnival tomorrow from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the school at 25 West Castlewood Drive in San Rafael.

The Garden Society of Marin will present its annual Fall Flower Festival tomorrow and Sunday at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. The festival, "Autumn Splendor" will be open tomorrow from noon until 6 p.m. and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Chrysanthemum Society of Marin will hold its 24th annual show tomorrow from 1 to 6 p.m. and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Crocker National Bank in San Rafael.

Other weekend events include:

Growth Control Ordinance Bared By County Counsel

Area Review Boards Would Rate Projects

By ERIK M. INGRAM

A far-reaching growth control ordinance to limit and control future residential development in Marin was unveiled today by County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney.

The draft ordinance, hammered out during a series of meetings with Planning Director Werner Von Gundell and others, would create special growth control boards to carry out the "phased growth" policies of the countywide general plan.

Its preparation and release was speeded up under orders from county supervisors to answer arguments from opponents of the Nov. 6 water bond issue that the county has no way of controlling growth.

It will be discussed by the board of supervisors Tuesday at a time to be announced.

The report calls for establishing "residential development review boards" that would be set up in various parts of the county, in cooperation with interested city governments.

Their single function would be to control the rate of growth as outlined in the countywide plan and applicable city general plans.

The first such control board is planned for the Novato area, where both city and county general plans call for limiting residential growth to about 500 new dwellings a year — 100 units less than the current average.

The Novato area control board would be appointed jointly by the Novato City Council and the county board of supervisors. The board's size and makeup would be determined by a joint powers agreement between the two governmental bodies, Maloney said. Other joint city-county control boards could be established through the same means, he added.

As outlined in the ordinance, these growth control boards would meet twice a year and review all development plans approved for their area by county and city governments.

Using a system of points for special social and environmental features (such as low-income housing and open space preservation), the control board would rate each development proposal and give priority to those offering the greatest benefit for the area.

Through this competitive system, each development proposal would be given a rating, which, in effect, would amount to a place in line for the number of dwellings to be built in that area. (Novato's 500 units per year, for example, would be allocated first to the proposal with the highest number of points and so on down the line.)

Should the annual allocation of dwellings be used up on the first few proposals, all others would then be held in limbo until the next review, when they would be compared with new proposals.

No residential development — except single-family homes on existing legal lots — could be constructed without going through this system of review and rating.

"This system would provide a way to carry out adopted plan policies by creating strong incentives for developers to include desirable features in their projects," a background report said. "Also, the system would establish an effective means of controlling the growth rate so that the various jurisdictions and special districts in the county would have a reliable basis for planning."

The latter point has been a rallying cry for opponents to the $7.5 million water bond issue placed on the Nov. 6 ballot by the Marin Municipal Water District.

Opponents say that without growth control, the water district has no way of planning for future needs.

For instance, it offers up to 30 points for a project which includes low, moderate and middle-income housing. To get all 30 points, 63 per cent of a project's units would have to be low, moderate and middle-income housing (21 per cent

NIXON SLATED TO FACE PRESS

President Richard Nixon was to have wound up a hectic week of crisis today with a 4 p.m. press conference in the East Room of the White House.

It was expected that the President would disclose his position on future conduct of the Watergate investigations.

Collier Says He'll Move To Run For Behr's Seat

Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, 70-year-old dean of the California Senate, today said he will move next year from Siskiyou County and run against Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

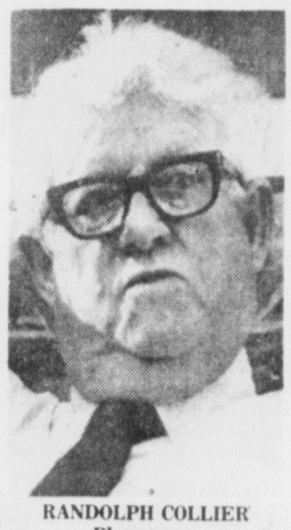

Collier's declaration assumed the state Supreme Court will adopt the redistricting plan drafted for it by a panel of retired judges.

The plan would leave Collier only a remnant of his current district, shifting most of it to a new district running from the Golden Gate to the Oregon border.

The new district would contain 59 per cent of his present constituents, Collier told the Independent-Journal today, and "I owe an obligation to them," he said.

"I don't know yet where (to which town) I will move," he added, saying he was delaying this decision until after Monday, when the Supreme Court is due to consider the redistricting.

The powerful senator disclosed his plans to move at a regional session of county supervisors in Redding yesterday.

RANDOLPH COLLIER
Plans move

Behr said today that Collier's decision "was certainly not unexpected." He called the older senator the "senior survivor of the old guard" and said a campaign against him would be a "certain relief" because the "issues would be clear cut."

Ironically in the eyes of many voters, Behr, the Republican, is considered more liberal than Collier, who has been a Democrat since 1957.

Collier and Behr frequently have clashed over the Marin senator's legislation to preserve rivers in Collier's district in their natural state. The senior senator killed Behr's "wild rivers" bill in 1971, but Behr won the battle the next year.

Known as the "father of California freeway system," Collier is chairman of the potent finance committee that screens most legislation.

He also has been chairman of a special committee pushing for a $65 million high-rise project to house the legislature in what has been dubbed "Collier Towers."

He first was elected as a Republican in 1938 but then switched party affiliation 16 years ago. Most of his work has been as chairman of the transportation committee, and his critics have claimed he was too chummy with highway lobbyists to the exclusion of such interests as conservation and rapid transit.

Critics have scored him as

Middle East Crisis Appears Slackening

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Soviet Union said today it had sent "representatives" to the Middle East to observe the precarious cease-fire and suggested the United States do the same. The United States called off an alert for some of its armed forces but most, including nuclear forces, remained on readiness.

U.S. Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger said the bulk of American forces would continue on alert because Soviet intentions in the Mideast were not entirely clear.

Soviet Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, speaking in Moscow, did not specify whether the "representatives" dispatched to the war zone were troops or civilian observers. Western diplomats, however, said it appeared from his remarks they were civilian observers rather than military personnel.

The Washington and Moscow pronouncements came as the first troops of a U.N. peacekeeping force, authorized by the Security Council yesterday flew to Egypt from a base on Cyprus. The United States, the Soviet Union and other big powers were excluded from membership in the force.

Gerald L. Warren, deputy White House press secretary, said Nixon believed that the major powers should be excluded from any observer team but said the United States was willing to participate if requested by Secretary Gerald Kurt Waldheim.

Schlesinger said the alert applied to all 2.3 million American military personnel throughout the world. He said the units taken off alert today totaled 36,000 personnel.

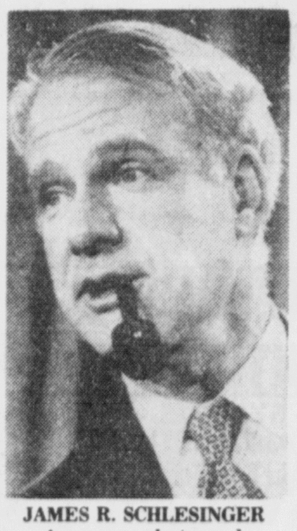

Schlesinger said that as a result of the apparently easing situation, the U.S. southern command — which embraces Central and South America— and the Alaska Command had been returned to normal readiness. He said the remaining U.S. forces would be taken off alert status as Soviet actions became more clear.

Brezhnev said today that Egyptian President Anwar Sadat had appealed to both the United States and Soviet Union "to send to the area of military action their representatives to observe the full implementation of the cease-fire."

"We expressed our readiness to satisfy the request of Egypt and already have sent such representatives," Brezhnev said. "We hope the United States will act in the same way."

Shortly before Brezhnev spok, Israel charged that Egyptian forces, trying to break out of a Sinai desert trap, launched a new armored attack today in violation of the cease-fire. Israel's military command also said an Israeli-chartered

Novato And Redwood In Crucial Tilt

League-leading Redwood (3-0) and pre-season favorite Novato (1-1) will clash tomorrow at 2 p.m. at Tamalpais High School in a crucial Marin County Athletic League football game.

Other MCAL contests find Drake at San Rafael at 8 o'clock tonight and Tamalpais vs. San Marin at Novato High at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow. Terra Linda plays a non-league game at Sonoma at 8 o'clock tonight.

Petaluma visits Vallejo tonight at 8 in a crucial North Bay League game, and Rancho Cotate plays an important contest against Cardinal Newman in Santa Rosa at 8 tonight. Other games find Marin Catholic at Casa Grande, 8 p.m. tonight; Point Arena at Tomales, 2 p.m. tomorrow; and Calistoga at St. Vincent, 8 p.m. tomorrow.

College of Marin will host Solano of Suisun City at 1 p.m. tomorrow.

SYNANON

Questions Arise On Controls

By ANNE WEST
Third of four articles

"How come Synanon gets away with things that no one else can?"

Marshall resident Walter E. Weyman summed up the resentment felt by many in West Marin recently as he asked this question, a question with which Marin officialdom is also coming to grips.

Why, they ask, was Synanon Foundation allowed to put up clusters of buildings for 422 residents on its Marggetti and Walker Creek ranches without benefit of public hearings, while developers are held in check by agricultural zoning or the controls of the Marin County general plan?

And why was Synanon allowed to ignore most of the landscaping and agricultural amenities ordered for the huge, white warehouse-type building that dominates the bluffs over Shoreline Highway at the former Marconi property, its Tomales Bay headquarters?

County planning director Werner von Gundell has some answers, but they satisfy neither him nor the complainers.

Synanon "fell through a gap" in the Countywide General Plan because it was already in existence and because there are few controls on agricultural uses claimed on the two ranches, he said recently.

Senate Takes Action For New Prosecutor In Watergate Affair

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Legislation to re-create an office of special Watergate prosecutor was introduced today in the Senate and President Nixon was told he faced "another severe political crisis" if he vetoed it.

The bipartisan measure, with 43 senators signing as cosponsors, would place the special prosecutor under the authority of Federal Judge John J. Sirica.

With agitation mounting, Nixon was reported to be seriously considering naming a replacement for Archibald Cox, whom he fired last weekend, but leaving the post in the executive branch.

Assistant Senate Democratic leader Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia said: "I would prefer to see the legislation enacted. Then, and only then, would the President not be in a position to fire whoever he appoints."

What would happen if Nixon vetoed the bill, Byrd was asked.

"If he vetoes it, he creates another severe political crisis. It might well be overridden."

Sen. James L. Buckley, R-N.Y., said Nixon should name a special prosecutor, subject to confirmation. "I think we need a fresh start," Buckley said.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., a principal sponsor of the special prosecutor bill, said: "The old system has a fatal defect — the President can interfere whenever he wants to."

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said he "wouldn't have confidence" in a new prosecutor appointed by the President and Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N. C., Senate Watergate chairman, took a similar view.

Bayh said "I wouldn't have confidence" in a prosecutor appointed by the President. He proposed legislation to "take the President and Congress out of this."

JUDICIAL AWARD — U.S. Federal District Court Judge John J. Sirica talked with reporters last night after receiving an award from the American Judges Association in Boston. (UPI Telephoto)

Judge Is Undecided About Testing Tapes

BOSTON (UPI) —U. S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica said last night he expects to have President Nixon's secret White House tapes "within three or four days" but said he has not decided whether to call in technical experts to examine them.

"I don't know myself what I'm going to do yet. We haven't made any arrangements on how I'm going to handle it," Sirica said.

Sirica spoke to reporters prior to receiving the annual merit award from the American Judges Association for "judicial courage" in his handling of the tapes controversy and the Watergate trial.

A spokesman for the judge said earlier in Washington Sirica may get technical advice to help determine whther the recordings have been tampered with.

Sirica, who received a standing ovation from the 400 judges and their wives and later spent half an hour signing autographs, told newsmen: "It's a great thrill, frankly, to get away from Washington and everything that's going on there. Some people blame me for a lot of these things that are going on, but I don't feel I'm responsible for anything." He did not elaborate.

He declined to comment on a request by Assistant U.S. Attorney General Henry Petersen to have the court take custody of all records compiled by the Watergate special prosecution force.

"I can't make any comment on it until I get back to Washington and see the request," Sirica said.

Chief Judge Robert Wahl of the Delaware Court of Common Pleas, who presented the award, praised Sirica as a man "committed to the precept that justice demands all persons be treated equally under the law."

Albert Says Nixon Probe To Continue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Speaker Carl Albert said today that the House should and would proceed with a full and thorough investigation of possible impeachment of President Nixon.

"There's no way to stop it," said Albert. "Either this thing is cleared up to the satisfaction of the American people ... or it goes on forever."

In a rare television interview on the NBC-TV Today Show, Albert was asked about the inquiry being undertaken by the House, where impeachment actions must originate.

"I think the air should be cleared," he said. "I hope it's cleared promptly and I hope the nation can again unite behind the President and dispose of a matter that has divided the nation as nothing in our time ...

"I'm sure that every allegation that could be a ground for inquiry will be pursued."

The inquiry into whether grounds exist for the start of impeachment proceedings was agreed on by Albert and other House leaders Monday —a move that had the effect of heading off immediate consideration of a number of impeachment resolutions introduced by House members.

The President's decision to turn over secret tape recordings of his Watergate conversations Monday apparently took some steam out of impeachment demands but the more severe critics of Nixon persisted in calls for impeachment action.

Nixon's nominee for vice president, House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, said he agreed with Albert that the Judiciary Committee preliminary inquiry "should be carried on."

Albert said: "This is something I recognize is a very traumatic experience and I tried to avoid it...but I think the Presidency, and the nation, and the President himself and everybody, needs to see this thing through ...

"I don't think the committee on the Judiciary is trying to find grounds for impeachment but is trying to find out what happened. They are duty bound to proceed and they are proceeding."

But Albert stressed that the committee should concentrate first on investigation of Ford's qualifications for vice president and dispose of that nomination. Albert, presently first in the succession line for President since the resignation of Spiro T. Agnew as vice president, said of the Ford nomination:

"This, in my opinion...is separate from the investigation of the President. Perhaps some of the issues will be overlapping, but I hope the nomination of the vice president will be disposed of first ... I personally have the utmost faith in Jerry Ford ..."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Sue Lyon To Marry Inmate

CANON CITY, Colo. (UPI) — Actress Sue Lyon will marry convict Gary (Cotton) Adamson, serving sentences in the Colorado State Penitentiary for second degree murder and robbery, next month in the prison chapel.

Sue Lyon

Adamson is 33. Miss Lyon, who became an instant star at the age of 14 by playing the title role of the teen-age temptress in the motion picture "Lolita," is 27.

Adamson is serving concurrent 20 to 24 year sentences for second degree murder and aggravated robbery. He also faces an 18 year federal sentence for bank robbery.

She met him in California after he escaped from the Colorado institution and was being held in the Los Angeles County Jail.

"We spent the first year of our friendship looking at each other through glass and talking through a telephone," she said. "We corresponded. Then I guess we fell in love."

Cut Port Link

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Rebel troops cut the only road between Phnom Penh and the deepwater port at Kompong Som, a government spokesman said today, and field reports said Cambodian warplanes bombed insurgent positions just seven miles from the capital.

Command spokesman Col. Am Rong said the rebels severed Highway 4, a frequent insurgent target, in two places — 31 and 33 miles southwest of the capital.

By cutting the supply road, the rebels not only choke off supplies to Phnom Penh but are able to disrupt government reinforcements and material being sent to troops in the countryside.

Jews Arrested

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet secret police yesterday arrested 18 Jews planning to deliver a petition to the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet Parliament on behalf of an imprisoned woman, a Jewish source said.

The 18 were picked up separately as they made their way to the presidium headquarters, the source said. An officer at militia headquarters in the Ministry of Internal Affairs confirmed the arrests.

Vietnam Deaths

SAIGON (UPI) — Eighteen soldiers on both sides were killed in fierce fighting west of Pleiku near a South Vietnamese battalion position overrun Tuesday by Communist troops, the high command said today.

A command spokesman said seven government troops were killed and 34 wounded in repulsing the Communist attack on infantry and ranger detachments 12 and 13 miles southwest of Pleiku.

Gilda Threatens

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Tropical storm Gilda moved northward today, threatening beaches along the eastern seaboard with rough seas and winds approaching hurricane force.

The National Weather service said Gilda, with sustained winds of about 65 miles an hour and occasional gusts of hurricane force, would produce tides two to three feet above normal, cause some flooding and carry away beach sand at today's high tide.

New Violence

BELFAST (UPI) — Bombings, vehicle hijackings and road blockades today disrupted nearly every main highway in Northern Ireland and forced the evacuation of entire villages, army and police spokesmen said.

"Reports of suspect bombs and blocked roadways have been coming in so fast it's been impossible to list them, but so far almost half a ton of explosives has been used in the 17 bombs that have gone off," a police spokesman said shortly after midnight.

Since then, two more bombs exploded, bringing the number of blasts since the wave of violence began

Suspension Of Rebozo Is Requested

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., has asked for the suspension of President Nixon's close friend, Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo, as an officer and director of the Key Biscayne Bank and Trust Co. in Florida.

Proxmire, a member of the Senate Banking Committee, yesterday wrote Frank Wille, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC), urging Rebozo's removal as chairman of the board and president of the bank until an investigation is completed into a report of a "shady deal" allegedly involving stolen IBM stock certificates.

The Washington Post reported yesterday that Rebozo cashed $91,500 in IBM shares in 1968 after being told by an insurance investigator that the stock had been stolen.

The newspaper said investigator George H. Riley Jr. stated in a 1971 court deposition that, "this would appear to me to be a shady deal."

Pact Reached By Ford, UAW

DETROIT (UPI) —United Auto Workers and Ford Motor Co. have reached agreement on a new contract for 185,000 workers and avoided a second production-crippling automotive strike, it was learned today.

The agreement was put together during an all-night bargaining session and only a few minor details were left to be put in place by 7 a.m., a source close to the bargaining table said. Official announcement was expected before the 10 a.m. EDT strike deadline.

While official details of the new contract won't be known until after an announcement by UAW President Leonard Woodcock, it was learned the UAW was able to get two main issues —early retirement for foundry workers and voluntary overtime similar to that gained in the pattern-setting Chrysler Corp. agreement during a nine-day strike in September.

It was not known, however, what the union had to give up in order to gain the concession from Ford, the nation's second-largest auto company.

Woodcock refused to disclose details of the new agreement until Tuesday, when the union's 22-member Ford council meets to consider the settlement.

"I know it upsets you people," Woodcock said, "but we want to give it (the settlement terms) to our workers first."

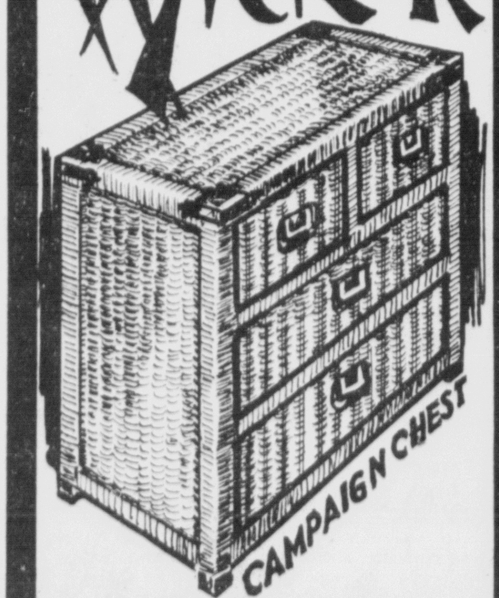

Family Entertainment Center Is Planned

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Marricott Corp. announced Wednesday it would construct a $40 million family entertainment complex in Santa Clara County.

President J. W. Marriott Jr. said the park would include a 19th Century New England fishing village, a Klondike settlement, a midwestern livestock exposition and fair, a rural home of the 1920s and a home representing the pre-Civil War South.

10-Year College Building Plan Approved By Board

A 10-year construction plan, including seven projects totaling more than $5 million, was approved last night by Marin Community College District trustees.

The plan sets priorities for district building from 1975 to 1985 and includes projects which would complete the master building plan for College of Marin, according to Earlene Jones, district publicist.

Trustees reviewed the plan for almost five hours on Wednesday but failed to adopt it and met in special session again last night so it could be approved in time to submit to the chancellor of state community colleges before a Nov. 1 deadline.

Projects approved in the plan, listed in priority order, are:

Indian Valley Colleges, classroom and laboratory, $337,771;

Indian Valley Colleges, science and technology classroom building, $1,047,243;

Mrs. Jones said the 10-year plan will be reviewed annually and used as a guide in seeking matching funds from state sources for building projects.

Trustees also endorsed administration requests for surplus property at Hamilton Air Force Base. They indicated, however, the Hamilton facility would be used for new programs and would not house vocational programs now on the Kentfield or Novato campuses.

Program Slated On Great Books

A free great books adult reading program will start at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Novato Library under the direction of William Baker, who has led other great books programs in San Rafael and Ross.

The group will meet for two hours every other week, with dates of the meetings to be set at the first meeting.

Sophocles, Plato, Thoreau, Machiavelli, Plutarch, Shakespeare, Locke, Aristotle, Adam Smith, Marx, Engels, DeTocqueville, Tolstoy and Joyce are some of the authors scheduled. The Declaration of Independence and the gospel of Matthew are also on the reading list.

Law Schools Ask For Impeachment

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Spokesmen for Bay Area law schools have urged Congress to start impeachment proceedings against President Nixon.

"The long list of incidents which amount to probable cause on the issue of the President's misconduct provide ample grounds for impeachment irrespective of the turnover of the Watergate tapes," the group said.

The spokesmen said they represented Boalt Hall Law School of the University of California at Berkeley; Stanford Law School, Golden Gate University of San Francisco, and John F. Kennedy and Lincoln Law Schools.

No Action Is Taken On Report

The Corte Madera Planning Commission last night took no action on an environmental impact report for the Larkspur ferry terminal, after reviewing it for more than two and a half hours.

About 25 persons attending the public hearing on the impact statement, according to William McBride, town zoning administrator.

He said commissioners expressed concern about growth in the terminal area, use of the Muzzi property, traffic congestion and preservation of marsh and shoreline areas.

The commission promised the Golden Gate Bridge District that it will decide on whether to accept the report at its Nov. 12 meeting.

McBride said the commissioners wanted more time to study the impact statement.

Capital Paper Reports Butz Impeded In Wine Coop Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz is under investigation of allegations that he attempted for political reasons to impede a Federal Trade Commission inquiry into acquisition of a California wine cooperative by Heublein Inc., the Washington Star-News said today.

The newspaper said the matter was reported to recently ousted Special Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox who turned it over to a task force within his office for further inquiry.

Butz was not immediately available for comment. A spokesman in Washington said he was in San Francisco for a speech to the Commonwealth Club later today.

"The investigation is continuing, according to ... sources, despite Cox's firing last week," the Star-News said.

It said the incident occurred in the spring of 1972 during a conversation between Butz and Miles Kirkpatrick, then FTC chairman.

At issue was the 1969 acquisition by Heublein, one of the nation's largest distributors of alcoholic beverages, of United Vintners Inc., a California wine growers cooperative.

The FTC's Bureau of Competition had recommended that the acquisition should be challenged as an illegal restraint of trade.

According to the Star-News, Butz visited Kirkpatrick before the five-member commission met to vote on the recommendation.

The story citing "various sources," said: "Butz at first argued against the proposed challenge by suggesting that it might be detrimental to the wine growers involved, according to those accounts.

"But as the meeting was ending with Kirkpatrick apparently unpersuaded, Butz changed his tack. According to the sources, he asked Kirkpatrick to delay the challenge until after the presidential election, saying that 'California is a critical state' and implying that the challenge would hurt President Nixon's re-election efforts in that state."

The Star-News reporter, Barry Kalb, reported that Kirkpatrick, now in private law practice in Washington, "confirmed the basic details of the meeting in a telephone interview this week, including Butz's attempt to place the matter in a political context."

According to the Star-News, a spokesman for Butz was authorized to say that the Cabinet member was "interested in preserving a market for farmer-run cooperatives" and would feel that way "regardless of the year or whether or not there is an election being held."

The newspaper said that Don Brock, executive assistant to Butz, said later that the secretary was unaware an investigation was going on.

"Brock could not say whether Butz had spoken about the challenge hurting the President's re-election chances, but did suggest that since the FTC issued the challenge anyway, despite Butz's objections, the matter was moot."

UNWANTED HALLOWEEN VISITOR

Scott Evnis, second grade student at John MacPhail school in Santa Venetia, holds a jar containing a black widow spider he spotted crawling on the steps outside a first grade classroom. Teacher Robert Hixon took the opportunity yesterday to teach students how to identify the poisonous spider and warned that black widow bites can be even more serious for youngsters than for adults. The shiny black spiders with red or orange hourglass markings on their underside are more common in Marin than most people realize, health department spokesmen said, but bite reports are rare.

Youths Charged In Auto Insurance Case

Two Marin youths have been charged by the Marin County District Attorney's office with falsely reporting a car stolen and then destroying it to collect insurance money.

Mark Richards, 20, of 15 Sturdivant Avenue, San Anselmo, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court. Preliminary hearing was set Nov. 13. Michael Terrance Peck, 18, of 339 Bolinas Road, Fairfax, was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court. Both were released without bail.

Auto theft investigators for the California Highway Patrol arrested Richards at 10:30 a.m. yesterday as he walked to classes at the College of Marin. Peck was taken into custody about noon in San Francisco, where he works as a mail clerk for a savings and loan firm.

According to the highway patrol, Peck reported his 1966 Lincoln stolen to Larkspur police in July. He then filed to collect $3,300 in insurance. In August, the auto was found stripped and abandoned on a ranch in Sonoma County operated by Richards. Investigators said they believe the two worked together to defraud the insurance company.

Also found at the ranch was a sportscar owned by Joseph Armin of San Francisco, secretary-treasurer of Corporate Planning Consultants of San Rafael. Armin, president of the San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce and a member of the San Francisco Draft Board, was arrested last month on insurance fraud charges. He collected about $3,200 in insurance benefits after reporting his auto stolen, according to the highway patrol.

Conference Is Scheduled In Houseboat Cast

Scott Diamond, owner of a beached houseboat which has some Strawberry homeowners up in arms, will try to settle his differences with the county Nov. 7.

Diamond, 26, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to failing to get a county floating home permit — a misdemeanor.

Judge David R. Baty set the November date for a conference aimed at resolving the case before it goes to trial.

Diamond moved his converted dredge barge to the Strawberry mudflats for some repairs in June, touching off a clash between local residents and the Waldo Point houseboat community.

Plea Is Made In Theft Case

A Gate 5 man, accused of heisting a truck, sailboat and trailer, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to vehicle theft and grand theft.

Marin sheriff's officers said Richard Houston McKinley, 28, took the truck on Oct. 8 from Mendocino Lithographers and the boat and trailer from Sailboats Sausalito. Both firms are at Waldo Point.

Ten days later, officers said, McKinley got the rig stuck in the sand on Bolinas Beach. When a garage went to tow them free, it was discovered they were stolen and McKinley was arrested.

A preliminary hearing will be Thursday.

To get the maximum five points for open space, 81 per cent of the project site would have to be preserved. Another 25 points are offered for other environmental merits.

Points also are offered for public facilities, such as parks and transit, and special types of housing, such as that for large families or the elderly.

A control board decision could be appealed directly to the courts.

Staff work for the boards would be performed by city and county planning departments.

Plea Made To Forgery Of Checks

A Homestead Valley woman, linked to the murder of a Point Reyes Park ranger, pleaded innocent yesterday to five check forgery charges.

Bail for Kathryn Mary King, 25, was set at $5,000 by Judge David R. Baty of Marin Municipal Court. A preliminary hearing will be Nov. 13.

Miss King was one of four residents of a house at 976 Vernal Avenue arrested Sept. 14 by federal agents in connection with the shooting death of ranger Kenneth C. Patrick Aug. 5.

She reportedly was linked to the purchase of crossbow bolts similar to those found near Patrick's body, but has not been charged with his murder.

Miss King and three others who once lived at the Homestead Valley residence — including Veronza Leon Bowers, 27 — face a variety of burglary and stolen property charges in Berkeley.

Miss King is accused of cashing five stolen, forged checks at shops in San Rafael, San Anselmo, Tiburon and Larkspur between June and August.

Expansion Plans Are Set Aside

Expansion plans at Hillcrest Hospital were delayed last night by the Petaluma Hospital board, pending further talks on the possible purchase of Petaluma General Hospital.

District administrator Joseph E. Horner said board members agreed to extend the deadline on its purchase offer for another month.

The district has offered $200,000 to buy the privately owned Petaluma General. Horner said attorneys for both sides were still negotiating and a final decision on the offer should be made by the end of November.

Horner said board members agreed to wait for the decision before deciding whether to spend funds to expand Hillcrest. Expansion would include the emergency room, X-ray and laboratory.

In other business, the board awarded the contract for dietary services to Stewart and Stewart of Fairfax. Horner said the contract for outside food service should reduce the annual food service budget from $160,000 to $150,000.

Two Buildings Given Approval

Plans for a new office building and a winery warehouse were approved last night by the Rohnert Park Planning Commission.

Garrison Pacific Properties received permission to build a 6,048-square-foot office building on one acre at the Park Plaza shopping center.

Insurance Firm Will Pay Repairs

The insurance firm for the dredging company which ruptured a sewer line on Gallinas Creek in September last night agreed to pay the Las Gallinas Sanitary District for most of the cost of repairing the break.

The district settled for $7,749 of the total cost of $8,059 to repair the pipeline that had poured gallons of raw sewage into the creek. The pipeline was temporarily plugged 48 hours after the leak was discovered and repaired within 10 days.

tanker had struck an Egyptian mine in the Gulf of Suez and was sinking.

The U.N. Security Council voted Thursday to create a Middle East peace-keeping force, with troops of the Big Five powers—including Russia and the United States—specifically barred from taking part in the force.

Brezhnev said today he regards the U.N. move to send the force as "a useful decision." He charged Israel had "treacherously" violated the cease-fire and was seizing more and more land despite the truce.

The first troops of the U.N. force flew from Cyprus to Egypt today to take up their stations but Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir warned the war was not yet over.

In Beirut, a press report said the Soviet Union was rushing sophisticated weapons to Egypt and Syria to make sure they would be ready for resumed fighting with Israel "if and when the cease-fire breaks down." Ihsan Hijazi, editor of the respected daily publication "The Arab World," cited East European diplomatic sources for his report.

Finland's Defense Ministry announced that 200 of its troops belonging to the United Nations peace contingent on the island of Cyprus flew to Egypt today for peace keeping duties. Austrian and Swedish troops also were in the first contingent flying off to the war zone from the British Royal Air Force base at Arkotiri, Cypress.

Already on duty in the Middle East today were the observers of the U.N. Truce Supervisory Organization — 26 along the Egyptian-Israeli front and 31 on the Syrian-Israeli front. UNTSO sources said 14 observers were sent to the Egyptian side from Cairo and 12 were sent from the Sinai to operate on the Israeli side.

In Jerusalem, Prime Minister Golda Meir told a meeting of Israeli government leaders the exclusion of Soviet troops from the Middle East had averted a "great danger." But she added that the fourth Middle East War was not yet over.

4-Year-Old Struck By Car

A 4-year-old Petaluma boy was injured yesterday when he was struck by a car driven by a 5-year-old neighbor.

Jeffrey Sandberg, 309 Garfield Drive, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with a possible stomach injury.

Police said his young neighbor, Kevin J. Sesler, 2109 Sultana Drive, was playing with the family car at 4:10 p.m. when it jumped the curb and struck the boy who was walking on the sidewalk.

OBITUARIES

Private Funeral Held For Mabel Klyce, 77

Private funeral for Mabel Klyce, a 54-year resident of Mill Valley was held yesterday.

Mrs. Klyce, 77, died at home Wednesday following a long illness.

A native of Kentucky, she was reared in Oakland.

In 1915, she met her husband, Melvin H. Klyce, member of a pioneer Mill Valley family and son of a former Mill Valley mayor, Harvey Klyce. Her husband designed and built homes in Marin County for many years.

She and her husbnad would have celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary in January.

She was a life member of the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club and a charter member of a Rotary wives group, the Rotary-Anns.

Survivors include her husband; a daughter, Mabel C. Moylan of Sebastopol; two sons, Harvey L. Klyce of San Rafael, and Alfred K. Klyce of Mill Valley; two sisters, Bessie Lovett and Marie Judge of Oakland; a brother, Henry Maddox of Tennessee, and 16 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Another son, Melvin H. Klyce, Jr., preceded her in death.

Also known as the "silver fox of Siskiyou," Collier considered running for governor in 1970, the year Behr, 58, was elected to the Senate.

The redistricting plan, expected to be adopted largely as drafted, would take Napa and Solano counties away from Behr and instead give him most of Sonoma, Lake, Mendocino, Humboldt and Del Norte counties. Santa Rosa would not be in the district.

All of Marin, Behr's main power base, is in the new district. Marin accounts for roughly 40 per cent of the population of the new district.

Behr said today there never had been any consideration of splitting Marin in the new district and that he will file again in whatever district includes his home county, "where my heart and hearth is."

Board Delays Toll Hike Action

Action on a proposed toll hike on the Golden Gate Bridge was postponed today to Nov. 30 by span directors.

The proposal would hike the round trip toll from 50 to 75 cents. District staff has been pushing for the increase, which would raise an additional $4 million a year, to offset rising transit deficits.

The delay was asked by the district's attorney, Thomas M. Jenkins, who said more time was needed for a court test to determine whether San Francisco directors are bound to vote against the increase because it is opposed by the San Francisco Board of Supervisors.

Warrant Issued In Check Case

Marin authorities are seeking a Petaluma woman who failed to appear in Marin Municipal Court for arraignment on a felony bad check charge.

A warrant for the arrest of Patricia M. Dickinson, age unknown, of 262 Douglas Street, Apt. A, was issued Wednesday by Judge David R. Baty.

She is accused of writing two bad checks, for a total of $125, at Crow's Frontier Shop, 1101 Grant Avenue, Novato.

MRS. MARTIN

Funeral for Bertha M. Martin, 78, of Corte Madera will be Monday in Independence, Kan.

She died Wednesday in a local convalescent hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Martin was a native of Colorado, but was reared in Kansas. She moved to Marin from Chanute, Kan., 12 years ago and lived in Mill Valley and then in Corte Madera at 10 Enterprise Road.

She is survived by a daughter, Jeanette Thompson of Corte Madera and a granddaughter.

Burial will be in Kansas.

MRS. FORNEY

Hazel L. Forney, 80, a 19-year Petaluma resident, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Forney lived in her native Iowa until moving to Petaluma in 1954. She had worked as a waitress and housekeeper in Iowa and was the wife of the late Albert Forney.

She is survived by four sons, Lee M. and Kenneth R. Forney of Petaluma, Richard Forney of Independence, Iowa, and Lawrence Forney of Oelwein, Iowa; a daughter, Beverly McDaniel of Ione, Amador County; 16 grandchildren, and 10 great-grandchildren.

Funeral and burial will be held in Independence, Iowa.

JOSEPH RODGERS

Private funeral for Joseph Clinto Rodgers of Lagunitas was held Wednesday.

The Marin County coroner's office reported that Rodgers was found dead at his home Tuesday by his wife Florence. He was 64 and had a history of liver trouble, according to the coroner.

Rodgers was born in Wyoming and moved to Marin County 36 years ago. His home was at 151 Arroyo Road.

He was a social worker for Contra Costa County.

MARION MUSCIO

Marion (Gam) M. Muscio of Point Reyes, a salesman and former tavern owner, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. He was 65.

Muscio was a lifelong resident of Point Reyes. He had worked for 15 years as a salesman at Grandee's Hardware store and had been employed by the Marin Surplus Store in San Rafael for the past two years.

He was co-owner and operator of several Marin taverns in partnership with his brother Dante (Buzz) Muscio of Point Reyes. They included the Knott Inn in San Rafael, Angie's in Point Reyes and the Hideaway in San Anselmo. He also had worked as a bartender in other Marin taverns.

Muscio is survived by two daughters, Joanne Domer of San Anselmo and Marion Spaletta of Point Reyes, his brother, a sister, Ethel Molseed of Valley Ford and eight grandchildren.

A memorial Mass will be offered tomorrow at 11 a.m. at the Sacred Heart Church in Olema.

MORRIS DYBDAHL

Morris Dybdahl of Watsonville, stepfather of August Anderson of Novato, died today at a local hospital after a long illness. He was 80.

Dybdahl, a retired carpenter, was a native of Norway. He had lived in Watsonville for the past 10 years and before that was a resident of San Francisco. He came to the United States in 1926. He was a member of Carpenter's Union Local 22 in San Francisco.

Also surviving are two brothers, Albert Dybdahl of Minnesota and Martin Dybdahl of Norway, nine grandchildren, and 18 great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at Anderson's Mortuary in San Francisco.

WATERGATE VIEWS — Sen. Sam Ervin, chairman of the Senate Watergate Committee, says he does not believe the Justice Department should have charge of the prosecution in the Watergate affair. He made his remarks last night during a speech at Pinehurst, N.C.

Mailliard Says Nixon Bungled Badly In Handling Cox Affair

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, said yesterday the President's firing of Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox may have been "a deliberate obstruction of justice."

The high-ranking Republican, long a Nixon supporter, told the Independent-Journal it was "entirely too early" for him to say whether he will vote to impeach the President.

Mailliard, interviewed at ceremonies opening Alcatraz Island as a public park, said mail to his office since the Saturday night firing of Cox was the heaviest he has ever received in 21 years on a single issue. He reported about 3,000 letters, "almost entirely for impeachment."

The congressman, outranked by only six other Repubicans in the House of Representatives, said he will support reestablishment of the special prosecutor's office. "There always is a question whether any administration should investigate itself," he said of Nixon's return of the probe to the Justice Department.

Mailliard, declaring Cox should not have been fired, said impeachment proceedings will continue, but could not say how far they will go.

He called it "incredible" that neither the President nor his staff realized how the public would react to the firing. "It (public response) was perfectly predictable," he said.

Mailliard said the President's last-minute cancellation Tuesday of his nationwide television speech on the firing came after he and other congressional leaders told the President's staff that the country" was not in any particular mood to listen to explanations."

The whole confrontation with Cox was "very, very clumsily handled," Mailliard said.

Ervin Doubts Confidence Of Justice Dept. Probe

PINEHURST, N.C. (UPI) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., chairman of the Senate Watergate Committee, says he doesn't think Americans will have confidence in the Justice Department's prosecution of the Watergate case.

Ervin told newsmen last night the nation is "not going to have confidence in prosecution where the executive department in effect is going to be prosecuting itself."

While President Nixon, he said, has settled the question of the availability of his disputed Watergate tapes, Ervin plans to introduce legislation "to make certain the federal courts have jurisdiction to rule on our (the committee's) request for the tapes."

"I understood we were going to get the very words of the tapes," he said of the confusion surrounding the compromise after it was announced last Friday. The White House apparently interpreted the agreement to mean it would hand over verified summaries of the recordings instead of verbatim transcripts.

Ervin, here to address a meeting of the North Carolina Bar Asocition, declined comment on impeachment proceedings filed in the House of Representatives against the President.

"I couldn't anticipate what he's done lately," said Ervin of Nixon's Justice Department shakeup.

No Legal Fees Are Necessary

CLEVELAND (UPI) —Mrs. Roberta Morris of New York City, mother of "Mission Impossible" television star Greg Morris, exhibited some evidence of turning in to "Perry Mason" yesterday as she served as her own lawyer and won a settlement from the Cleveland Transit System.

Mrs. Morris accepted a $3,500 settlement from the Transit System just before her $50,000 personal injury suit was to go before a jury.

During the trial, Mrs. Morris took the witness stand and asked herself questions. Then she answered them.

"What I know about law came from taking a lot of college correspondence courses and reading all the time," she said.

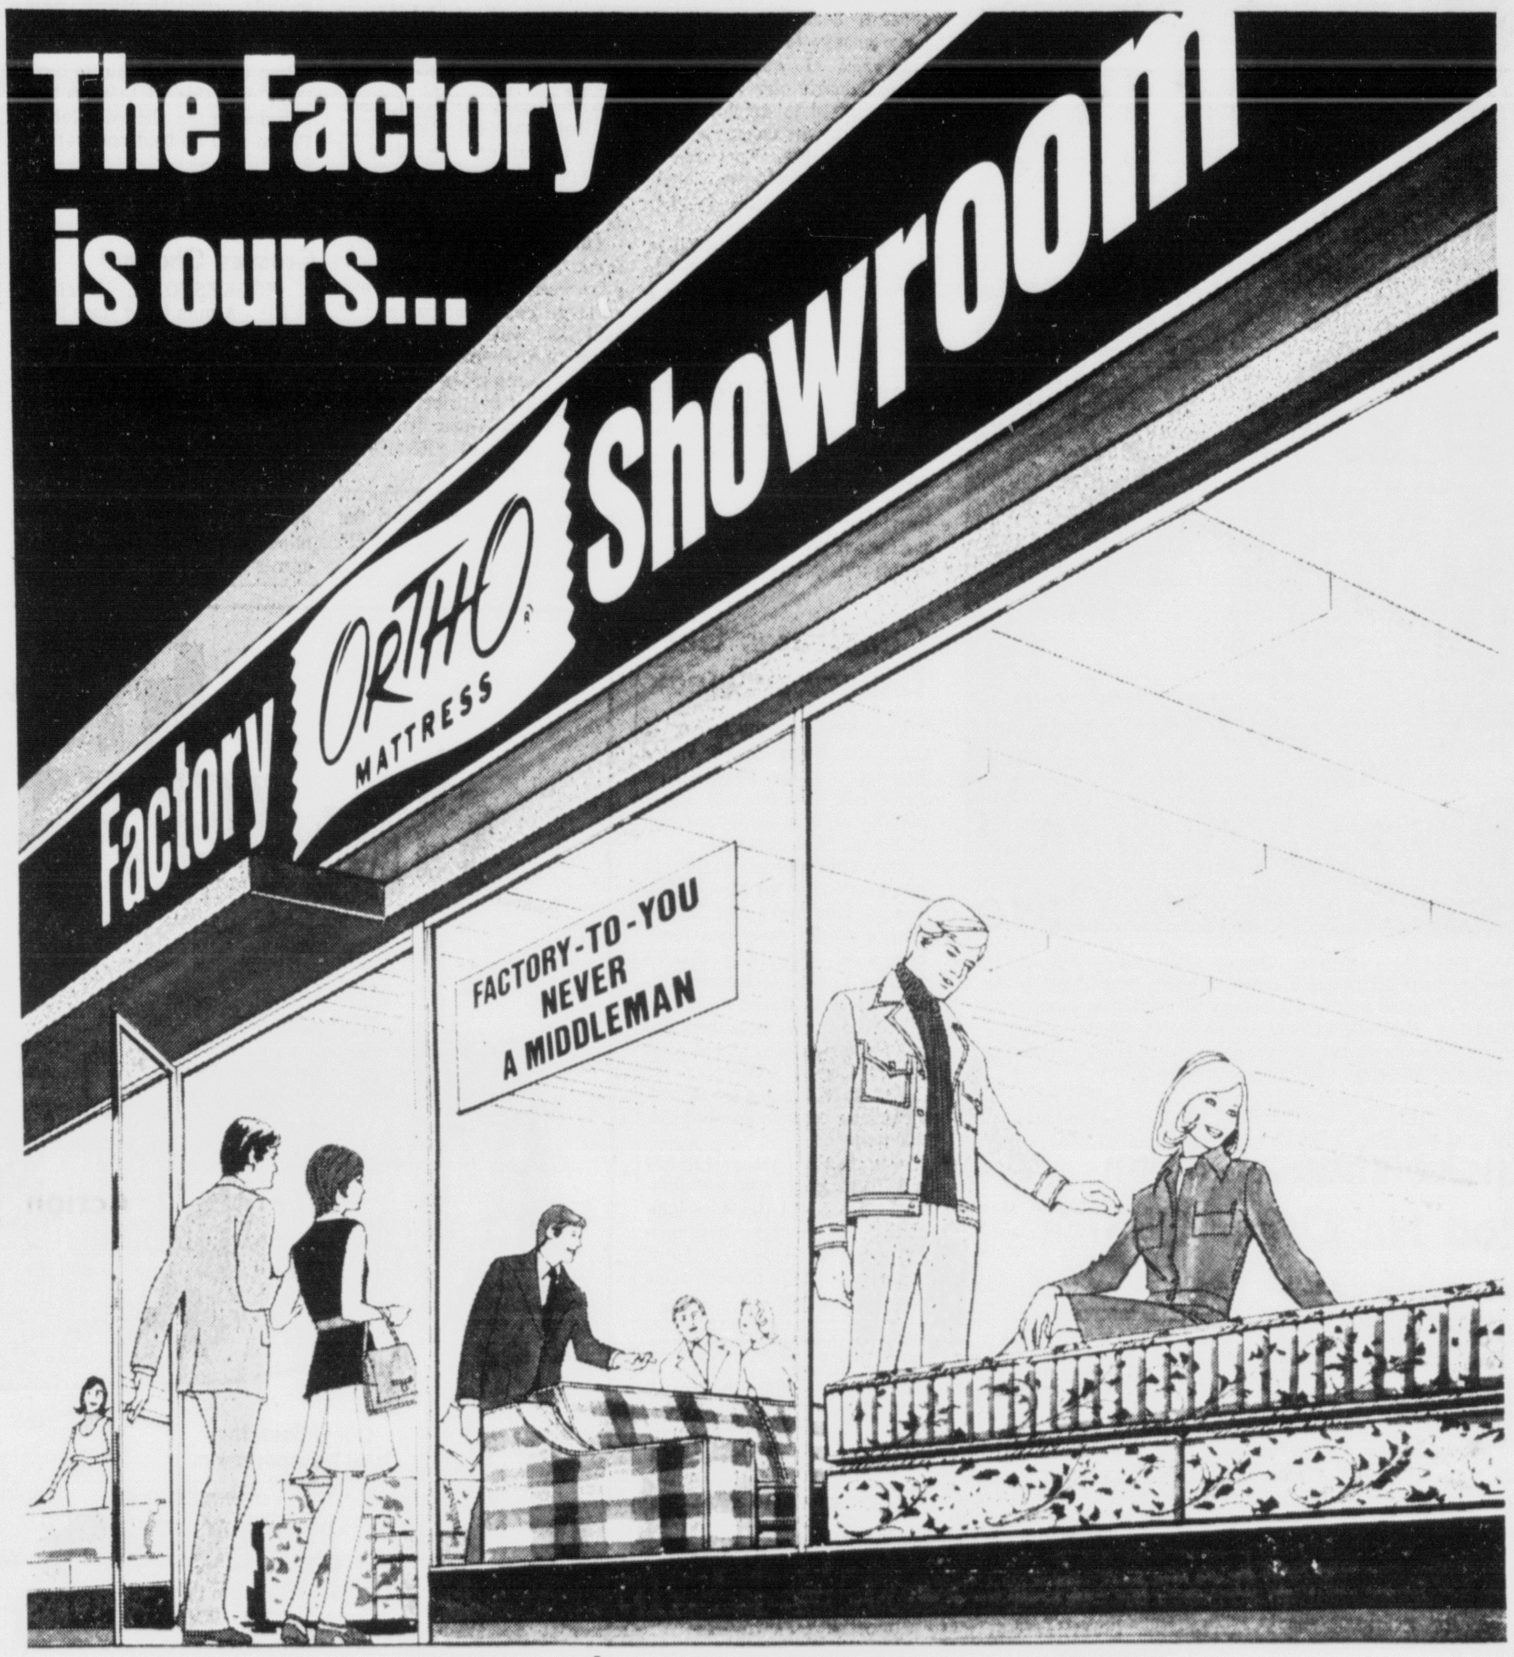

Attorney Joseph Lombardo, representing the Transit System, commented to the judge, "I wish she weren't doing such a good job."

UC RALLY — Former Deputy Atty. Gen. William D. Ruckelshaus addresses a crowd of more than 10,000 in the Greek Theater on the University of California campus in Berkeley. His talk was one of the major events yesterday during an anti-Nixon convocation — the first such Cal gathering since the Cambodian crisis of 1970.

(UPI Telephoto)

Ruckelshaus: Nixon Had No Other Choice

BERKELEY (UPI) — Resigned Deputy Atty. Gen. William D. Ruckelshaus told applauding students yesterday that public reaction to the firing of Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox was "an outpouring such as Washington has never seen."

But Ruckelshaus, who resigned Saturday rather than fire Cox under President Nixon's orders, declared himself "neutral" on the question of whether the President should be inpeached.

Ruckelshaus spoke to 10,000 students of the University of California campus in the first major political convocation on the once strife-torn campus since the Cambodian crisis of 1970.

Ruckelshaus said he lost his job, as did his boss Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson, because Nixon's demand that Cox be fired violated "a solemn agreement" between the U.S. Senate and the attorney general.

He said Nixon handed over the White House tapes in the Watergate investigation because "the people of the United States demanded it.

Limit Voted If Water Bonds Pass

The Marin Municipal Water District board has voted to contract for no more than 8,000 acre feet of water a year from Sonoma County if Measure E on the Nov. 6 ballot passes.

The action was taken at a board meeting Wednesday.

Measure E would provide a $7.5 million bond issue to add pipeline facilities from Novato to Terra linda to import water from the Sonoma County Water District.

Many persons have voiced concern because the pipe is large enough to bring in 22,000 acre feet of water a year, almost double the 13,400 acre feet required to supply growth proposed by the county general plan up to 1980. They feared more water would be brought in, allowing unlimited development in the county.

The board agreed, however, to commit the present board to no more than 8,000 acre feet a year.

"The board's action should set at rest these wild claims by Measure E's opponents, according to Margaret Azevedo, co-chairman of the Marin Yes on E Committee. "Measure E is not a 'growth versus no growth' issue," she said. "It's a case of providing a safe supply of water for our population under the countywide plan."

Ex-Marinite Hunted In Attack Probe

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A former Marin resident is being sought in connection with rape and sodomy cases here, according to police.

William von Diezelski, 34, is wanted for attacks on an 11-year-old girl and two young women in various parts of the city Wednesday afternoon and evening, said police inspector Chris Sullivan.

Sullivan said a Bay Areawide search has been expanded to include other parts of the country because Von Diezelski came to the Bay Area from the East Coast. He has spent time in prison on both coasts.

Von Diezelski came to the Bay Area in August and lived here for a short time in Novato with his wife before moving here in September. He worked briefly as a reporter for the Ebb Tide, a Tiburon weekly, according to Nadine Luc, co-publisher of the paper.

Sullivan described Von Diezelski as six feet tall, 180 pounds, reddish-brown hair with sideburns below the ear and a moustache.

Von Diezelski is said to have threatened his victims with a gun during the alleged attacks. Police said he beat one woman with the gun.

Newsprint Hike Is Announced

NEW YORK (UPI) — Canadian International Paper Co., Ltd. is raising the price of newsprint in the United States and Canada by $25 a ton to $200, effective Nov. 1.

The company's announcement Tuesday came as a surprise because a number of other large paper companies had said they would not raise the price to $200 until next July. These companies had announced that the price would be raised by year-end from the present range of $168-$175 to $183-$190 a ton.

Another Canadian producer, Domtar, Ltd., also raised the price yesterday, but by only $15 to $190 a ton.

Blind Swimmer Crosses Channel

FOLKESTONE, England (UPI) —A man blind since birth crossed the English Channel in a canoe yesterday by following the sound of a motorboat ahead of him. Dennis Moore, 43, of Teddington England, made the crossing in eight hours, said his wife.

Four years ago Moore was a member of a four-man team of blind swimmers which swam across the channel, she said.

Some Drivers Get Good News

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The first 50,000 of a half million California drivers were notified this week that their drivers licenses, due to expire next year, were automatically extended until their birthdays in 1975, state officials reported today.

State Director of Motor Vehicles Robert C. Cozens said only those drivers with no violations or accidents in three years of driving would be selected by the department's computer.

Cozens said that about 17 per cent more licenses will expire in 1974 than in previous years.

American Oil Executive Kidnaped In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — The president of the Argentine subsidiary of Amoco International Oil Co. of Chicago was kidnaped near his plush Argentine suburban home and held for $1 million ransom, police said yesterday.

Police sources said David B. Wilkie Jr., 48, father of five and a Buenos Aires resident for seven years, was kidnaped Tuesday—the third American and the 150th person abducted this year in Argentina's kidnap wave.

An Amoco spokesman here denied Wilkie had been kidnaped, claiming the executive was on a visit to the United States. But Amoco's head office in Chicago confirmed that Wilkie was nabbed Tuesday while enroute to work from his home in the fashionable northern suburb of Martinez.

The Chicago spokesman said "preliminary telephone contacts" were made with the kidnapers yesterday but that no further contact was made as of early today. "We have no idea where he is or what the negotiations will involve," he said.

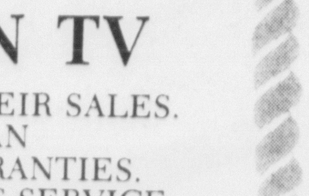

Candidates Get Chance To Speak

Candidates for the boards of the North Marin County Water District and the Novato Fire Protection District will speak Monday night in the lecture hall at Novato High School.

The candidates' night, in preparation for the Nov. 6 election, is sponsored by the Novato branch of the American Association of University Women and the League of Women Voters of Central Marin.

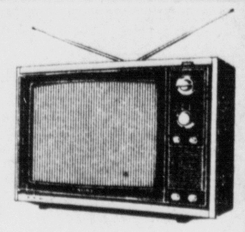

William Boyle, incumbent Peter Ferrarese Ray Landi and Harold Leeds, competing for two seats on the fire board, will speak and answer questions at 7:30 p.m.

Incumbents George Amaroli and Frank Baccaglio, and Robert Burke, Lloyd Harolds, John Taylor and Robert Vacconcellos, vying for two vacant water board seats, will present their views at 8:30 p.m.

Introducing the 1974 Volkswagen.

Our philosophy: Total Transportation.

This year buying a Volkswagen means buying a new idea as well as a new car.

The idea is called Volkswagen's Owner's Security Blanket. It's not just a warranty because warranties don't go far enough. It's a commitment to our owners long after they've signed on the dotted line.

Nobody in the car business has any plan like it. Nobody seems to care enough. Or do enough. Nobody, except Volkswagen.

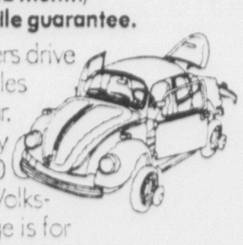

We like to think of it as Total Transportation because you deserve a car you can count on 365 days a year. And we believe you shouldn't have to keep paying to get what you deserve.

From the minute you drive away in your '74 Volkswagen you'll be secure knowing you've got the world's most advanced new car coverage plan riding with you.

Take a little time to read this and you'll find out how Volkswagen has changed the reasons for buying a new car. You'll also discover that what's behind our Owner's Security Blanket is as exciting as what's under it.

Our 12 month/ 20,000 mile guarantee.

Most car owners drive about 14,000 miles during the first year. So what earthly good is a 12,000 mile guarantee? Volkswagen's coverage is for 20,000 miles—most car companies don't come near that.

This is our guarantee, in plain English: "If you maintain and service your 1974 Volkswagen as prescribed in the Volkswagen Maintenance Schedule, any factory parts found to be defective in material or workmanship within 12 months or 20,000 miles, whichever comes first (except filters and tires), will be repaired or replaced free of charge by any U.S. or Canadian VW dealer."

Volkswagen's Owner's Security Blanket goes far beyond just guaranteeing against defects. Most car companies won't replace a windshield wiper if it wears out. We will. They won't replace a lightbulb. We will.

Take things like brake pads and linings. As long as you have them adjusted when your Maintenance Schedule says so, we'll replace them free if they wear out. Same thing goes for clutch linings and batteries.

And spark plugs and points? We change them free at 12,000 miles and we'll honor that no matter how long it takes you to go that distance. This is unheard of in the auto industry.

We've gone one step further with the insides of our engine and transmission. We guarantee them for two years or 24,000 miles, whichever comes first. Of course we don't cover defects caused by lack of maintenance or abuse.

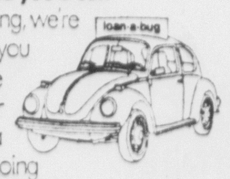

We guarantee our repairs.

When you're running out of warranty, you're still not out of luck. We'll make the repair free and guarantee the parts and workmanship for an additional 6 months or 6,000 miles.

If the repair takes overnight, we'll lend you a car.

Moving right along, we're committed to keep you moving. So if you're a qualified owner and you find that a warranty repair is going to take overnight, we'll lend you a free car by appointment, for as long as the repair takes.

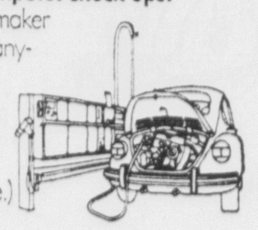

(And we haven't forgotten owners of older VWs. If your car needs a repair and you need a car, we'll rent you one at a nominal price.)

Express care.

How many times have you heard of waiting two weeks before you can get a headlight fixed? Not at Volkswagen. With Express Care if we can fix something in less than 30 minutes, we'll do it while you wait. No appointment needed for these little repairs, because who needs aggravation?

3 free computer check-ups.

No other car maker in the world has anything like Computer Analysis. (They probably will some day in the future.)

Every 1974 Volkswagen can be plugged into a computer and out comes a written analysis of over 50 vital functions. Everything from your engine compression down to your battery voltage.

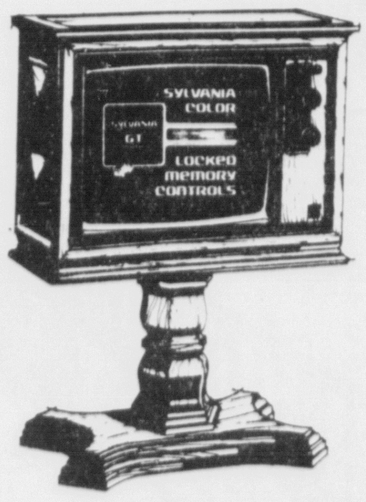

Computer Analysis can spot things that even a master mechanic might not see. So we can fix these things while you're still covered by our Owner's Security Blanket.

We're in this together.

We made the car. You own the car. So we're in this together. As long as you maintain your new Volkswagen properly we'll do most of the worrying for you.

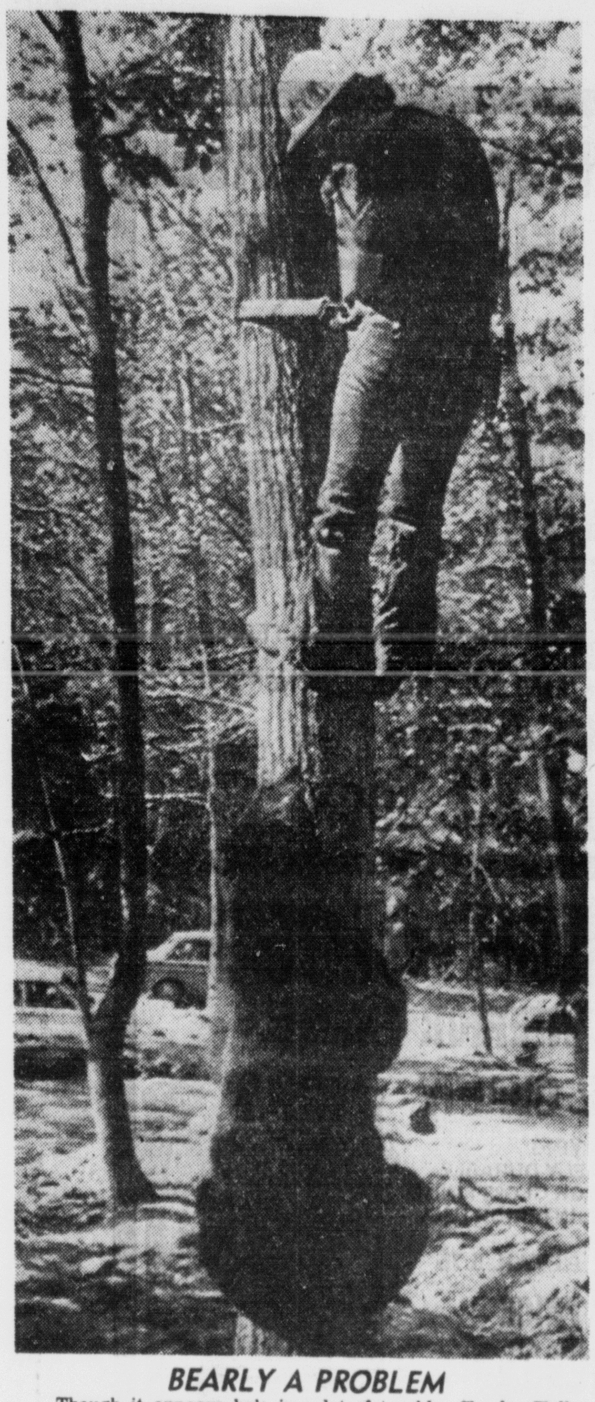

That's what Volkswagen's Owner's Security Blanket is all about—once you're a Volkswagen Owner, we're not going to leave you out in the cold.

BEARLY A PROBLEM

Though it appears he's in a lot of trouble, Charles Hull actually isn't. The head game ranger at Warner Bros. Jungle Habitat in West Milford, N.J., was pruning trees in the park's bear compound when a 400-pound North American black bear became curious and started up the same tree. Actually, the larger bears can't really climb trees so the best the bruin could do was get his feet off the ground before he finally lost interest and ambled away.

Hints On Halloween Costumes Are Given

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The state Department of Consumer Affairs has issued the following warnings to parents in selecting childrens' halloween costumes:

Whether purchased or homemade, costumes should be fire resistant.

When shopping for fabrics, costumes, masks, beards and wigs look for fire or flame retardant labels and heed any 'do not wash' warnings, washing could remove the protection.

Costumes should be short enough so children can move easily without tripping.

Masks or disguises should not impair vision or breathing.

Costumes should be light or bright so children will be visible to motorists.

The department said a natural cosmetic or charcoal mask applied directly to the skin is usually safest and the least expensive. It also said inexpensive reflective tape can easily be added to costumes for protection while crossing streets.

Synanon Status Bewilders Many

ran into trouble when it was under construction in 1970. County inspectors reported approved plans had been "modified during construction" by black-topping approximately 10,000 square feet slated for landscaping, while sunscreens and exterior color trim for the building had not been applied.

Since then, said Von Gundell, "the county has cracked down dozens of times, but either Synanon didn't show up for a meeting, or they would agree to correct a violation and not do it, or they planted landscaping and the stuff didn't grow."

Back at the bay site, Synanon charges it was county planners who chose the glaring white color, while the architectural features could not withstand the winds. Meanwhile "the shed," as it is known to members (or "Stalag 17" to detractors) is a continuing source of local ill-feeling. (This week Synanon members painted the controversial building gray-green.)

Nearly everyone interviewed drew a sharp line between praise for the largely young residents — average age 25 — and fears of future expansion which could "destroy the countywide plan."

"Probably the biggest single worry is that Synanon will be the developer that no real developer can be," said John Vertigan, proprietor of the Marshall Tavern. "It is completely free of restrictions."

Noting the large water and sewage services developed at all three Synanon facilities, Vertigan declared, "if they were Boise-Cascade, they couldn't do better." As to doubts that the large populations on the two ranches are really engaged in agriculture, he snorted, "any farmer who did it that way would be broke in 10 minutes."

"There's sort of a glass wall between us and them," said a neighbor who asked not to be identified. "The few people I know are terribly sincere," he continued, but said he believes the leadership is particularly friendly to ranchers whose property it wishes to buy.

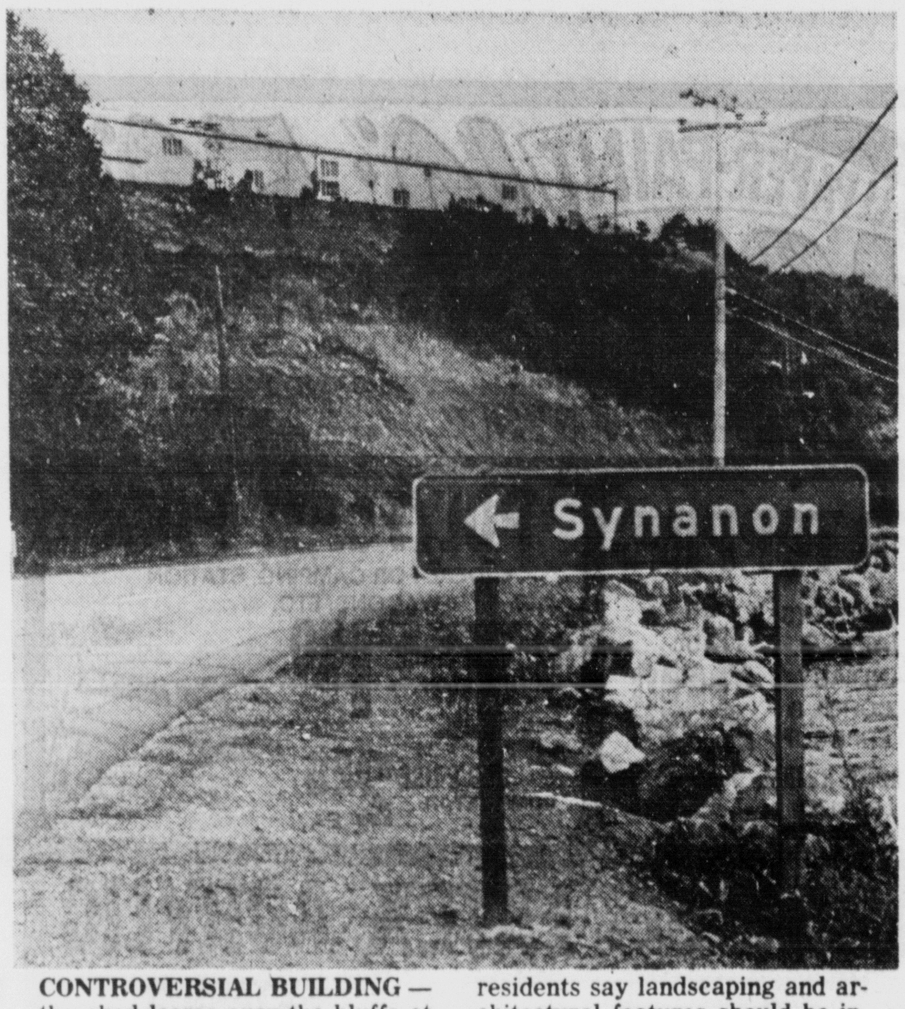

"The relationship on a neighbor basis is generally good — they feel being helpful establishes a good relationship," he said, but added "I personally wouldn't call it a good relationship. I would call it no relationship. They only know us when they want something."

Virgil Petrucci, who bought his Marshall house in 1959 and retired there two years ago, said, "the youngsters who live there — they're fine, and I can't say enough about them."

But, he said, Synanon should pay property taxes; it should not be exempt from county controls; it is unfair when "other people who want to build are stopped, but Synanon can do anything they want."

An outspoken defender of Synanon is Boyd Stewart, an Olema Valley rancher who sold his Walker Creek property to the organization and still pastures some beef cattle there.

"Efforts to keep the county green (through agricultural zoning) are bound to end in failure," Stewart believes. "While meat prices are now fantastic, the cattle business isn't the kind that will pay the property taxes."

CONTROVERSIAL BUILDING — the shed looms over the bluffs at the Marshall entrance to Synanon's Tomales Bay facility. Local residents say landscaping and architectural features should be installed to soften its starkness.

Praising Synanon members for their care in protecting the land, Stewart declared, "I would contend that the two least harmed ranches in Marin County are the two ranches they own."

The cattle, pigs and chickens, and the land broken up for farming make the adjacent Walker Creek and Home Ranch properties "the most diversified ranch in the county," said Stewart.

He would not hazard a guess on how many people are needed for such a commercial operation beyond saying, "All of the agricultural operations we have in the county are greatly undermanned."

Some neighbors are like Martha Ideler, whose home is next door to the big "shed" at Marshall. Answering complaints in the weekly Point Reyes Light, she wrote that she was "happy to report the good neighbor deeds of Synanon . . . and their consideration for my wishes at all times."

Both acceptance of Synanon as a communal group with its own philosophy and fear that it "could set up a series of villages and destroy the countywide plan" are voiced by Jerry Friedman, county planning commissioner who lives on Inverness Ridge.

"I'm delighted with the way Synanon has tried to help the community — that's understood," said Friedman, "but they've had two years of complaints" about the big building on the bay.

"Synanon seems to be changing plans every year or so. They could purchase ranch after ranch, with a complement of 250 people on each."

His main concerns now, said Friedman, are to close the loopholes which permitted loose enforcement of design review controls on "The Shed" and which now threaten West Marin with "a population influx."

"If they really want to be a part of the community, they should submit to county controls," Friedman concluded.

Former POW Given Honors

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Capt. Thomas J. Klomann, a former prisoner of war in North Vietnam, stood erect Tuesday while 1,500 basic trainees paraded in his honor at Lackland Air Force Base. Air Force doctors had once feared he might never walk again because of injuries suffered upon his capture.

Maj. Gen. Robert W. Maloy, commander of the Air Force Military Training center, pinned two Purple Hearts, the Distinguished Flying Cross and eight oak leaf clusters on the Chicago native's uniform.

Klomann reported he received little medical treatment for a massive leg wound following his capture by the North Vietnamese last Dec. 20. However, he now can walk stiffly and is able to drive an automobile.

Reagan Will Blanket State Via TV, Radio For Prop. 1

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan intends to blanket television and radio before the Nov. 6 election with a $244,000 series of commercials aimed at convincing Californians to vote for his tax limit plan and against "big spender" politicians.

Politicians are the principal villain of the minute and half-minute long spots.

The six TV and four radio commercials will be run "quite frequently" in California's major media markets next week, newsmen were told yesterday during a sneak preview.

They will cost $180,000 to show on television and $64,000 to broadcast on radio, said campaign manager Mike Deaver. The producer is the Santa Barbara firm of Larson and Bateman, which Deaver said was chosen for its "creative advertising."

Deaver also announced the entire proponents' campaign, including the signature drive to qualify Reagan's initiative for the ballot, is expected to cost roughly $1.14 million.

Reagan, who spent three decades in front of movie and television cameras before being elected governor n 1966, appears in two TV commercials.

"Prop. 1 is a tax cut. And don't let anyone tell you differently. It's not a tax shift. It begins by cutting your taxes this Jan. 1," says Reagan, wearing a dark suit and an American flag lapel pin while standing in front of a homey scene of landscape paintings in his Capitol office.

"Finally," the governor continues, "it keeps the politicians from raising your taxes without your permission."

Kopp Keeps Seat On BART Board

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Quentin Kopp, a frequent critic of Bay Area Rapid Transit management, has been reappointed to a four-year term as a BART director.

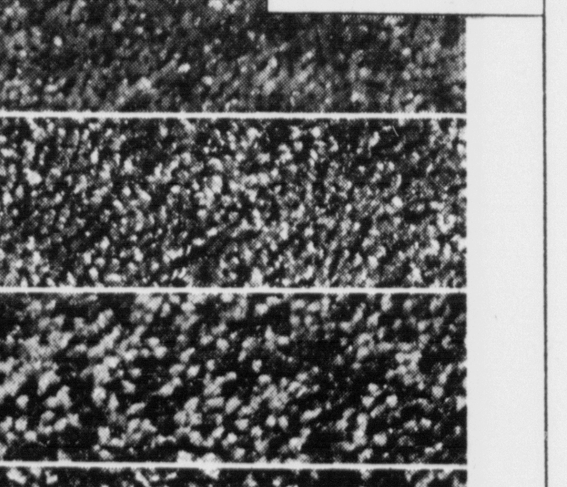

Kopp won unanimous reappointment Tuesday from his fellow San Francisco supervisors, who had named him to an unexpired BART board term in January.

CREDIT-CRAZIES

Free Credit Strikes Again!

No finance charges and monthly payments to fit your budget on approval of credit

Pacific Stereo has come down with another case of the credit-crazies. The doctor still doesn't know what it is we've got, and we can't get the bug out of our system. First, we start making a free credit offer (Doc identifies this early symptom as the No-Finance-Charge stage). Then we get delirious; we only ask for about 10% as a down payment. (Ole Doc thinks this is downright masochistic; "You'll never stay in business," he keeps telling us.) Finally, we start taking Doc's medicine – monthly payments in very small doses throughout the year. Doc is always very excited to see us recovering like this toward the end, but then we come down with another case of the credit-crazies all over again. He hasn't found a cure for us yet, but he has one for you: "Drop by Pacific Stereo while the folks over there are still feeling woozy."

$399 $31 per month

A Fine Sherwood system and a $50 saving too

Sherwood's 7100A is a lot of receiver for its regular $219.95 price. You get 44 watts (RMS) of low distortion power and an FM tuner section with an excellent 65 dB signal-to-noise ratio. You'll find all the most useful convenience features on this receiver also, including a tape monitor and FM muting.

The popular BSR 510A automatic turntable provides anti-skate and cueing controls to take good care of your records. With a base and a Shure M75ECS elliptical cartridge, the 510A normally sells for $69.45.

The TransAudio 1011's are two-way, 12-inch speaker systems that have recently descended on the stereo component market. Right now, they're only $159.90 a pair, but that's because no one has discovered them yet.

Save $130 and get Quadraflex's best

The Spectrosonic 210-4 AM/FM stereo receiver has a direct-coupled amplifier section that's capable of producing 60 watts (RMS) from 20 to 20,000 Hz. The advanced tuner section, as well as features like four-channel adaptability, FM muting, and a loudness contour make the 210-4 one of the best values around for its regular $299.95 price. (The walnut case is extra.) Garrard's SL72B has all the devices to make your records sound better and last longer, and it also has Garrard's famous Synchro-Lab motor for constant speed. With a base and an Empire 999XE/X elliptical cartridge, the SL72B regularly sells for $109.95.

The Quadraflex 66 is the best speaker in Quadraflex's lineup. It's a three-way, twelve-inch system that sounds absolutely great from the lowest organ notes on up and sells for $319.90 a pair.

Superscope's R330 is an excellent choice for your first receiver. Its amplifier puts out 18 watts (RMS), and the AM/FM stereo tuner section brings in your favorite stations sounding so much better than they did on that old table radio. The $179.95 price tag includes the walnut case.

A record player as good as the BSR 310A ought to cost more than $49.45. A cueing lever protects your records, and so does the anti-skate control. The 310A comes complete with a base and a Shure M75CS cartridge already installed. The Audio Design 806's are two-way systems with an 8-inch bass speaker. For only $79.90 a pair, you'll get natural-sounding bass lines that old table radio just can't match, no matter how much you turn up the bass control.

Two good deals on Memorex

$1.99 C-90 cassette

No, we won't chide you for your extravagance if you decide to buy a bunch of Memorex C-90, low-noise cassettes. It's the only logical thing to do considering their quality and their reduced price of $1.99. (Usually, they're $2.99 each.) But while we're talking cassettes, don't ignore Memorex's head cleaner. You just play it as you would any ordinary cassette. The cloth tape inside cleans the head as the cassette plays. And now, it's only 99¢, reduced from its regular $1.29.

A cassette deck that challenges open reels

$26 per month

Harman-Kardon produced the first high fidelity cassette deck, and the HK-1000 is their contribution to the newest generation of cassette equipment. Naturally, it includes the Dolby noise reduction system, but further electronic refinements produce recordings that sound as bright and clear as many open reel decks. An unusual array of control features add to the flexibility of this advanced component, and the price is rather moderate, especially with free credit.

Crowd-pleasing savings

Quadraflex Model 55's sound as clean as can be, and they come in handsome walnut cabinets. These three-way systems with ten-inch bass speakers give you deep bass response, and their power handling capacity leaves little to be desired. This week we're selling 55's for only $99 each (normally they're $119.95 each), so you can save $41.90 on a pair to begin with and then take advantage of our free credit offer as well.

New Joe's In Corte Madera Lays Claim To 'Special' By Same Name

Almost everyone is acquainted with that savory dish generally known as the "Joe's Special," concocted of ground beef, onions, spinach and eggs, all scrambled together.

But did you know that this was originally called a "New Joe's Special?" This has been the claim of New Joe's in Corte Madera and of course at the San Francisco restaurant (now temporarily closed) where it was introduced. According to Corte manager Rich Azzolino, it happened in 1929. Since then it has become world famous. Well, anyway — United States famous. Along the way it picked up a few other names. But whatever it happens to be called it's practically a whole meal on a plate.

Naturally it is featured prominently on the New Joe's menu (with or without mushrooms), in the company of such favorites as scaloppine, scallopine sec, veal Parmigiana, picata and dore, chicken cacciatora, spaghetti, tortellini, linguine and a long list of other Italian and contemporary dishes. All these seem to necessitate a Joe's menu being at least nine by 15 inches or larger.

There are also specials — sirloin tips, boiled beef, osso bucco, veal Toscana, corned beef and cabbage, calamari, baked ham, roast chicken — served according to the day of the week.

Unless you are acquainted with the reverse layout of New Joe's you may be inclined to judge it from the outside as no more than counter and coffee shop (which are visible from the parking area). That's a mistake and doesn't do the place justice.

Inside there are a very pretty dining room, cocktail lounge and banquet area, all very relaxing. The dining section, where you can linger over your coffee or wine, has a lovely view of a garden which Joe's shares with Edgewater Inn.

The garden is often the scene of wedding receptions — and I believe on a few occasions has been used for the ceremony itself. New Joe's seldom lets a week go by without at least one reception. And if the weather is against garden use, there's still plenty of room inside.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, there is organ entertainment by Nancy Valencia at the Baldwin.

I've known this place since the first days it was operated as Bob's of Marin by the late Bob Campbell himself. I believe the present New Joe's operation is the smoothest, most comfortable and most efficient of any.

RICH AZZOLINO
The boss at New Joe's

It is well worth being included in your lunch and dining excursions.

By the way, I'm told by Rich that New Joe's will definitely open again in San Francisco where it was established years ago. New locations are now being studied and an announcement may be made soon.

SPEAKING OF REOPENINGS, Christopher's at Johnson and Humboldt in Sausalito had one 10 days ago after being closed for the first two weeks of this month.

It has a new menu, a new manager, a new chef and a few new decorative touches.

Located at the old Sausalito Yacht Harbor behind the Post Office, Christopher's goes in heavily for seafoods — local fresh fish catches, shellfish and catches from other waters. It serves lobster six different ways, offers such things as steamed clams, louies, new England cod and chips, meat dishes and a daily complete dinner special at $3.95. It is now closed on Mondays but open the rest of the week for lunches and dinners (dinners from 5 to 11 p.m.) It has an on sale general liquor license.

New manager Guy Falchi has been in the restaurant field for many years in just about every capacity. He used to be a principal in the former Boondocks in San Francisco. British-born Tom Wilkins is the new chef. You may recall that he was chef at the former Rico's in Sausalito when it first opened.

YOU CAN DINE in four languages within a single block in San Rafael — Lincoln Avenue, between Third and Fourth.

Maurice et Charles Bistrot at the corner of Third is French. La Casa at 903 Lincoln is Italian. So, too, is Little Joe's at the corner of Fourth. Between them at 909 Lincoln is Old Vienna, with its Austrian cuisine and German titles. And across the street at 912 you can try your Spanish at the Falenque with Mario and Marjorie Lepe. The menu is Mexican.

But this particular area offers still more choices close by. Move over to Third and Tamalpais and you can use your Chinese chopsticks at Travelers Inn. Back to Fourth and Tamalpais and you're in France again at La Petite Auberge. For more variety, add pizzas at the Round Table on the other side of Tamalpais and go back to Third (south side) and Lincoln for plain American food at the Charcoal Pit.

THE FONDUE POT in the Paradise Shopping Center, Corte Madera, which has been closed several weeks on account of fire, is expected to reopen about Nov. 1, says owner York Fischer.

Meanwhile he still carries on his Fondue Factory at 455 Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur and has some new fondues to offer. One is made with cheese and ham and hot pepper. Another is an Oriental fondue — mixed meat and vegetables cooked in a bouillion which, when mixed with an egg, you drink afterward. This is York's own recipe. He also has a beer fondue, with chicken, ham and prawns cooked in beer and herbs.

Carol Teig plays the guitar and sings on Friday nights. The microphone is open other nights for anyone (of talent) who wants to do a little performing. But bring your own musical instrument.

ACROSS THE STREET, the Four-Sixty-Four Restaurant is planning to go on a seven days a week dinner schedule. Phone for information on the menu. It's changed daily. (Previously closed Mondays).

BARELY SIX MONTHS in their new Grotto restaurant at 3751 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, Stan and Ursula Valan are already talking about a new addition and have Bob Eklund, who designed the building, working on it.

What they want is an outside patio in front. They plan to have one in action in time for spring weather and before their first year is completed. It's to be a deck type of affair, with the entrance from the bar.

The Grotto has introduced a weekly $1.95 lunch special with entree, vegetable, potato, salad and bread and butter. It may be something from the dinner menu, like this week's sauted fish in wine sauce with mushrooms — or it may not be a fish dish at all, but one of Ursula's German recipes.

Crab season, Stan reminds us, starts the second Tuesday in November — barring a strike or no catch. In which case, you'll just have to go on eating Alaskan king crab legs.

THE LION'S SHARE in San Anselmo is offering Latin and jazz rock entertainment by trumpeter Luis Gasca and his band tonight and tomorrow night. Soundwhole is also on the bill.

High Court Removes A Municipal Judge

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The State Supreme Court yesterday removed Los Angeles Municipal Judge Leland W. Giler from the bench for willful misconduct in office, the first time in state history the high court has fired a judge.

Giler, 58, was ordered barred from judicial office for "crude behavior, vulgar language, uncouth references to bodily functions and lustful and profane remarks" made in court hallways, the judge's chambers and in court offices.

The court said it was the first time the high court had ordered the removal of a judge from the bench. The order did not disbar Giler from practicing law.

The court acted after accepted the report of the Commission on Judicial Qualifications which investigated complaints against Giler.

The commission said the actions involved a public defender, a court commission, his female clerk and female attorneys.

The commission also said that Giler, in nine instances, arbitrarily replaced public defenders with private attorneys in indigent cases.

Avoid traffic. Swim to Dominic's.
If we're to keep up with the competion in the restaurant business these days, we have to offer an advantage of some kind besides just truly superior food and drink. One day someone noticed that our location on the San Rafael Yacht Harbor meant customers could swim directly to our private docks from almost any point in the Bay Area. We checked to see if any of our competitors were stressing this, and none were. So if you don't want to fight traffic getting to a fine restaurant, now you know what to do.

FIREMAN, SAVE THAT DUMMY

Tamalpais Valley firemen practice mouth-to-mouth resuscitation on two dummies rescued from a smoke-filled, burning house on Tennessee Valley Road. Sixteen valley and Alto firemen spent much of yesterday practicing rescue and firefighting techniques in the house, which has been condemned because of road widening. Chief William G. Canlett said the paid and volunteer firemen will continue setting the house ablaze and putting out the fires today and tomorrow, if air pollution officials allow the burn. The house will be burned to the ground tomorrow along with all the unsalvageable furniture which Goodwill contributed to make the house's interior more realistic. (Photo by Alfred M. Arn)

ON SUNDAY

Bay Area Temblor Forecast

Marin County, along with other Bay Area communities, has been alerted by state officials that a big earthquake is being predicted for Sunday, even though no one apparently is taking the predictor very seriously.

Dan Bloxsom, an amateur seismologist in Southern California, has said the big temblor will occur Sunday, "give or take a few days," according to a spokesman at the California State Office of Emergency Services.

The problem with Bloxsom, according to seismologist Don Rodgers of the state Division of Mines and Geology, is that Bloxsom previously has forecast "50 to 60" earthquakes, but "so far he hasn't scored."

He added that Bloxsom was "using a seismograph he has designed himself."

A spokesman for the Marin Office of Emergency Services said a letter telling of Bloxsom's prediction had been received, but added that a "long letter was attached," containing views of experts who have poo-poohed Bloxsom.

"Nothing special" has been done in Marin to get ready for an earthquake this weekend, the spokesman said.

Conference Of State Welfare Directors Scheduled In Marin

County welfare directors from throughout California will converge on Marin County next week for their 47th annual conference.

The meeting, expected to draw between 150 and 200 welfare officials from the state's 58 counties, will be Wednesday and Thursday at the Holiday Inn in San Rafael.

Annie Jameson, chief of county social services, said the theme for this year's conference is "The Future of Public Welfare in California." It will include a keynote address by David B. Swoap, director of the state Department of Social Welfare, at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

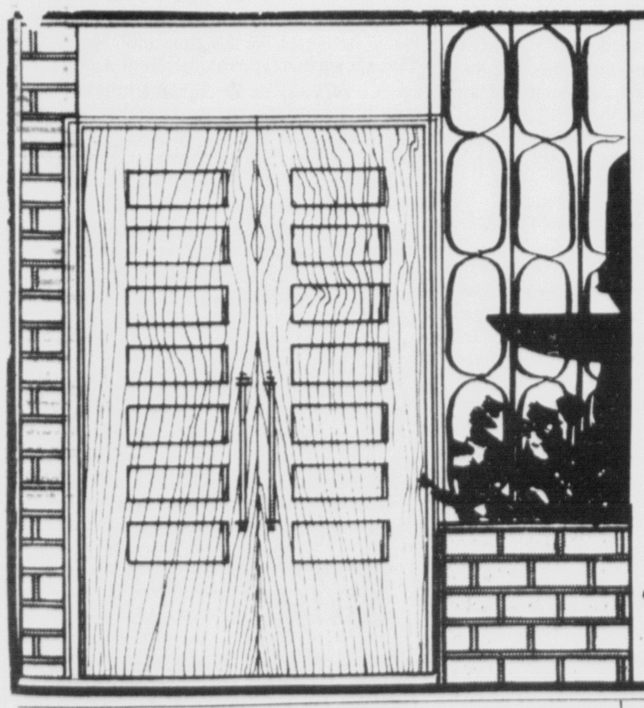

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, and Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, will discuss their views on the future of welfare at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday. Bagley is a member of the Assembly Social Welfare Committee and Behr is a member of the Senate Committee on Health and Welfare.

On Thursday the conference will include a discussion of federal welfare legislation and conclude with a dinner address on the role of the county in future welfare programs by Ralph Tabor, director of federal affairs for the National Association of Counties.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Of Senate Bill 90 And Proposition 1

For those of us who have short memories, or who do not follow closely the debates and disputes over proposed state legislation, a little review may be in order. It has to do with Proposition 1, the state spending limitation which will be on the Nov. 6 ballot.

Early in last year's legislative session, state Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-San Pedro, introduced for the California Teachers Association Senate Bill 90, calling for 50 per cent state support for local schools — a longtime CTA goal. It made no provision for reducing local taxes or spending, only for more state support.

A little later, Gov. Ronald Reagan proposed a major tax overhaul which would put limits on tax rates and spending at all levels.

SB 90, considerably amended from Dills' initial version but still only a school support measure, passed the Senate and went to the Assembly. There, largely through the efforts of Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, many features of Reagan's tax limitation plan were amended into it. The extra money for schools remained, but included were limts on tax rates of counties, cities and special districts and on the amount spent per pupil by school districts.

The new SB 90 passed the Assembly but was blocked in the Senate. Opponents — who included the County Supervisors Association of California — objected to its limits on local tax rates.

The situation was complicated by an initiative drive for the Watson Amendment, which would have restricted local property taxes far more severely than Reagan's plan. CTA, League of California Cities and some other organizations supported the revised SB 90 in part to help defeat the Watson Amendment.

The Watson Amendment was defeated at the polls in November by nearly 2-to-1. However, a group of recalcitrant Democratic state senators still refused to support SB 90 unless all restrictions on local taxes and spending were removed. Only pressure by the governor and CTA (an unusual alliance) got the bill through, with barely the two-thirds vote necessary.

NOTE THAT SB 90 put spending and/or taxing restrictions on all local government bodies — but none on the state.

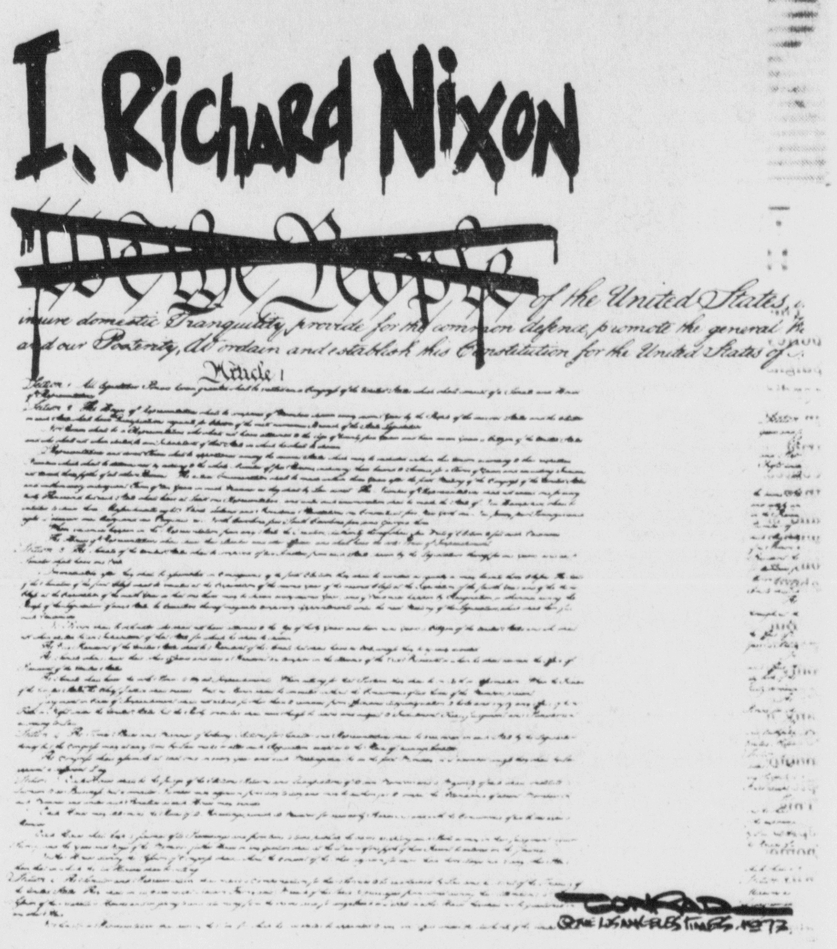

Reagan proposed that this year's legislature extend controls to state spending also. The legislators quickly rejected that idea — not surprisingly, since it would derail their "gravy train." The governor then went the initiative route, resulting in Proposition 1.

This puts the restrictions in SB 90 into the state constitution, with a provision for two-year increases in some local taxes in case an emergency is declared (an "out" not necessary when the controls are merely in the statutes, since any legislature can repeal statutory controls). Besides that, it limits state spending to a fixed percentage of total personal incomes within California.

Now the California Teachers Association, which played such a large part in passage of SB 90, is leading the attack on Proposition 1. Why?

The answer is in the foregoing summary.

CTA supported SB 90 to get more state money for the schools — 80 per cent of which goes to pay teachers, most of whom are CTA members. As long as school spending restrictions are in the statutes, they can be removed by any legislature — and CTA has a powerful lobby. But if they're in the constitution — and state spending is under control besides — the "gravy train" will be derailed for others besides the legislators, including CTA.

BILL FUSSELMAN

Measure E Vital Insurance For Future Water Supply

Proposition E on the Nov. 6 ballot, in my opinion, is about the most vital local issue that has been presented to us in many a day. It is, as you must know by now, the bond issue for $7.5 million of the Marin Municipal Water District to insure our water supply is maintained.

This paragraph from the letter sent out by the committee for "Yes on E" is so squarely on the button that I am repeating it:

"Studies made for the Marin Municipal Water District by independent engineering and environmental firms stress the urgency of the situation. The engineers' report (May 21, 1973) concludes: 'The district should take immediate steps to augment its water supply . . . Two or three consecutive dry years would cause a critical water shortage. We cannot emphasize too strongly the severity of this potential shortage.'"

YOU WILL RECALL that I have urged the passage of the bond issue for some time. We buy insurance for fire — property damage and so on. This bond issue for $7.5 million (which will not cause a tax rate increase) falls in the same category. The loss of one's home through fire because of water shortage would not ever be softened by the insurance one might be carrying.

There simply are not enough water storage facilities in the district to bring in more than is to be contracted for, so the claim that it will induce greater population is more hoo-mali-mali, whether intended or not.

THERE ARE TWO interesting bits that have been brought to my attention respecting the opposition camp. One is that the neighbors of one of the vigorous opponents, both orally and with letters to the editor, can't find her name on the registered voters list posted outside the voting place.

The other is that Supervisor Giacomini's $13,250 a year administrative assistant is a member in good standing in a woman's organization which is opposing the bond issue.

There was a story in the I-J the other day headed, "Giacomini Cancels Water Bond Support." Question: Does she assist him in his voting too?

ERNEST B. FURGURSON: The Time Is Now

WASHINGTON — Conscientious men of both parties have been eaten by deep feelings about this building constitutional crisis, but restrained their statements out of concern for the nation. Believing months ago that a showdown was demanded, they nevertheless held back in hopes that there would be another way. Instead there came reason piled upon further reason for the dread confrontation. Now, not by their doing but by the President's alone, they have been compelled to come out and say it: impeachment.

I speak not of the spontaneous knots that gathered outside the White House last week end, with their improvised signs. Theirs is understandable anger, and their feelings are duly noted, but this time it is the same anger felt by millions hearing the news sitting in their living rooms. This is not the time for action in the streets.

Nor is this a time when the reflex Nixon-baiters in the Congress should be allowed to dominate proceedings. For now is the time to be calm, not shrill; to be deliberate, not panicky, and to deal in hard facts, not hyperbole.

But it is past time for dealing, for counseling delay or making excuses. It is time for the sober leaders of Congress to look back over these past months and to recognize their duty. That duty is to move to bring impeachment proceedings against the President for only the second time in our history.

THE CASE for impeachment today is infinitely more solid than the one 105 years ago against Andrew Johnson. Then, an impeachment was returned by majority vote of the House, and the Senate voted 35-18 to convict, falling only one vote short of the two-thirds required by the Constitution to turn him out of office.

In 1973, we are burdened by a President whose highest and most intimate aides and appointees have been indicted or discredited. Bad enough in itself, but what all their improper actions have in common is that they were committed in the President's behalf and, by implication, with his collusion. When the people of the United States, through both their courts and their Congress, demanded the evidence to prove or disprove the President's role, they were defied by him. When the prosecutor whose independence was a condition of his appointment insisted on carrying out his assignment, he was fired. Only after that act of retaliation did the president yield to a court order.

What is far more ominous than Archibald Cox's firing is that his entire office was abolished, thus threatening to scrap not only the struggle over the White House tapes but the laboriously prepared cases concerning ITT, the corporate contribution shakedowns and on and on. In one infamous week end, the President moved to rid himself of the three conspicuously honest men in his administration and the machinery by which he might have been brought to justice.

FOR MONTHS, Americans have been saying with dismay that the president is setting himself above the law. If he is able to do this, he is able to do anything without ever fearing restraint by the people or the theoretically balancing branches of government.

Nine months ago in his second inaugural, Mr. Nixon said:

"Above all else, the time has come for us to renew our faith in ourselves and in America.

"In recent years, that faith has been challenged. Our children have been taught to be ashamed of their country, ashamed of their parents, ashamed of America's record at home and its role in the world.

"At every turn we have been beset by those who find everything wrong with America and little that is right. But I am confident that this will not be the judgment of history on these remarkable times in which we are privileged to live."

He was more right than he meant to be. For indeed the time has come to renew our own faith and to prove that we deserve the faith of our founders who were confident that we could govern ourselves as free men. It takes courage for public men to recognize the climactic moment of a lifetime when they must stand up to be counted — by their forefathers and by history. That moment is now.

JOSEPH C. HARSCH: Conservatism's Betrayal

One of the more useful comments on the downfall of Spiro T. Agnew is a column in last week's Newsweek magazine by Theodore White ("The Making of a President") in which Mr. White laments the damage done to the cause of conservatism in the United States. He calls Mr. Agnew "the ablest spokesman of the conservative cause" in these times and notes correctly that in the days ahead no one who "again uses the honorable words that Agnew so slickly mastered can speak them without arousing suspicion."

Mr. White regards the Agnew behavior as a "betrayal" of conservatism which he laments because it deprives conservatism of an adequate voice at a time when the country would undoubtedly benefit from vigorous articulation of both conservative and liberal doctrine. We agree. Somehow the United States is in best political health when there is effective definition of the two rival points of view. It is not in full political health right now. There is an edginess in the air which seems to be affecting everyone — of both right and left.

THE LIBERALS seem to be as lacking in effective spokesmen as are the conservatives. George McGovern tried to relight the old torches, but who quotes any McGovernism today? The leading Democrats are trying to sound like men of the political center. But the liberals still have one advantage. Having been out of office and out of power for a long time they have no recent public record to present as a target.

The conservatives are in multiple trouble. They are supposedly in power, hence vulnerable on their record. Their favorite evangelist, Spiro Agnew, has turned out to be a man who accepts cash in manila envelopes over the desk of the vice president of the United States. Their former attorney general, John Mitchell, is under indictment for breaking the laws he was pledgd to uphold.

Even more damaging to conservatism has been the failure of the Nixon administration to move forward with a positive domestic program in the wake of the Nixon landslide of last November. This was the opportunity of the century. Conservatism was in the ascendant. It had been massively endorsed by the electorate.

WHAT DID THE NIXON administration offer?

It peached many things in domestic affairs but it all boiled down to just two negative projects — lower taxes for the rich and lower welfare for the poor. In foreign policy Nixonism means substituting detente for "cold war" and disengaging the United States from direct intervention in regional affairs all over the world. But that is bipartisan and has nothing to do with conservatism vs. liberalism. If the Nixon administration was to be truly conservative it had to show it in domestic affairs.

A current theory is that the administration has been hamstrung by Watergate. But Watergate did not become an obstacle to action in Washington until March. The Agnew disclosures date from August. Long before March the Nixon administration had unrolled its post-election program and it consisted in fact of only those two negative purposes — to keep taxes down for the rich and welfare down for the poor.

So conservatism has been betrayed by the profit taking of Spiro Agnew and by the law breaking of the Watergate culprits. But, I would submit, it had already been betrayed by the negativism of the post-election domestic program offered by the administration.

If true conservatism is to be applied to the national policies of the United States, it will have to find new and different vehicles — for surely, true conservatism is positive, not negative.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Only Pat Retains Good Reputation

In this hour of great crisis in our country, it now seems "perfectly clear" that there is only one person left who has been associated with President Nixon throughout his administration who still remains lily white.

This would have to be Mrs. Nixon.

If it should be revealed that Pat, wearied and frustrated at waiting for Dick to come upstairs to bed instead of burning the candle til all hours devising ways to keep out of the trough, was forced to commit an act of infidelity, my faith in humanity will be shattered.

Upper Lucas Valley Carrier Appreciated

I am writing to advise you of our appreciation of the outstanding delivery service we receive from carrier Ken Kenney in Upper Lucas Valley. Ken's delivery is completely dependable, prompt, and efficient. The paper is on time and never more than a few steps from the door. In addition, he is courteous and friendly and personable in his contact with customers.

In the belief that outstanding performance should be recognized and qualities of good character applauded, and as one way of thanking Ken, we would like you, his employers, to know that he is doing a fine job in behalf of the Independent-Journal in our area . . .

We appreciate the employment opportunity the I-J affords young people and any part their training plays in the development of positive attitudes toward work performance . . .

Cost Of Water Project Seen As Too High

Measure E (stage II) is for $7.5 million, stage III is for $16 million, and stage IV another $16 million. All that money and we still won't have paid Sonoma for the water or our share of the dam.

I'm worried about my food bill, my medical bill, my tax bill. Now I may have to worry about my water bill too. No, thanks! I just cannot afford Measure E.

More And More Taxes For Less Services

In answer to A. Lovejoy's letter appearing Oct. 13, Governor Reagan is campaigning for Proposition 1 because he believes that limitations should be placed on the percentage of our income the government can take in the form of taxes.

Mr. Lovejoy's claim that Proposition 1 would benefit only the middle and upper income is pure hogwash. Families with adjusted gross income of $8,000 or less, individuals with $4,000 or less would pay no income (state) tax at all.

Sure, we're all in favor of sufficient taxes to provide the services we need. Certainly there is much evidence even allowing for inflation, we are paying more and more taxes for less and less services.

RUS WALTON: Bill To Curb Computer Spies

Assemblyman Bill Bagley and I are not what you would call political bedfellows. His bunk is too far to the left for me.

But Bagley has introduced a bill to protect citizens from the improper use of computerized information. And on that one I'm with him all the way.

His bill (AB 2656) would guarantee our privacy from electronic intruders. That is good. It's not only good in this day of transgression by transducers, it's essential.

Bagley (R-San Rafael) would require written assurance to the individual that no improper use would be made of any information given to a data bank. No beady electronic eyeball could stare into his private affairs and blink out messages to some illicit eavesdropper.

The legislation would also permit an individual to inspect his electronic file and to contest the accuracy of that data should he think it in error. That way, a fellow would not be marked for life just because some typist with an Excedrin headache punched the wrong key.

Further, Bagley's bill would allow the citizen to know just when such computerized data was being used, and by whom.

ALL OF THIS would be wired together by penalty of misdemeanor: $500 fine and/or six months in the pokey for violators.

It's a good bill. I resent the invasion of my privacy by digital marauders that stick their electronic fingers into personal affairs. There's little difference between those transistorized sneaks and two-legged peeping toms.

Those who glorify the computer and the data bank talk in terms of efficiency and speed. Well, too many violations of the individual are committed in the name of efficiency. Bagley's bill would attack those invading forces on at least one front.

AB 2656 will be heard Nov. 6 during interim meetings of the Assembly Committee on Efficiency and Cost Control. For our peace of mind and privacy, the committee should punch its "go" button.

NOW THAT the prices of meat and fish and fowl have gone skyhigh, a lot of fellows are taking to the rod and gun to get extra food for the family table. For many breadwinners hunting and fishing is almost a matter of necessity. At least, it's a way to put something in the freezer beside macaroni and cheese.

All of this upsets Ray Arnett, state director of fish and game. He let loose the other day with a blast at the would-be providers. Called them "poachers" and "meat hunters".

"The true sportsman is more interested in a chance to get away, to commune with nature, to pit himself against the animal, to test himself against the elements." So said Arnett.

He has his sights on the wrong end of the gun. I'd rather see a guy go hunting for food for his family than a pair of antlers for his fireplace.

The only defensible reason for hunting down and killing wild animals is either to protect livestock or put food in the family pot or redress the balance of nature.

The bird who kills for the sport of killing, who engages in slaughter to satisfy some emotional hang-up, he's the slob.

Those Secretive Candidates: How Would They Serve Public

The Independent-Journal's policy during election campaigns sounds like a boon to candidates. Everyone running in even the tiniest special district election, provided it's a contest with more candidates than seats, can have a photo and short profile printed, along with a few of his or her opinions on what the election is all about.

But with less than two weeks remaining until the election, only about half of the 13 people assigned to me have provided any information on themselves. Only a handful have sent in photos or agreed to have their pictures taken by the paper. This is the state of things in spite of many calls to their homes and offices to find out why.

The most intriguing excuse given came from a fire district candidate who said he wanted no publicity at all about his candidacy. "There's been too much dishonesty in politics, and I don't want any part of it," he said. "I don't want any publicity, and I'm not going to spend any money on my campaign. Enough people know me in this district. If they want me, they'll vote for me."

Somehow it seems hard to call having an article written about your candidacy in a newspaper a dishonest act.

ANOTHER CANDIDATE claimed that biography forms mailed to him twice had never arrived. A third was hand-delivered to his door.

Two candidates who have declined so far to return biography forms mailed by the paper have unlisted phone numbers, which means a reporter's only recourse is writing to them repeatedly or knocking on their doors. This also would be the only recourse of their constituents if these men are electd.

Another man refused to have his photo taken because he's an engineer working at a construction site and would have to meet the photographer before or after work while wearing construction clothes. He vetoed the idea of taking a shirt, tie and sportcoat along to wear for the picture.

If candidates are not even interested enough to turn in statements about themselves for voters to read in newspapers, would they be interested enough to attend long, dreary board meetings? Would they be willing to listen to and take action on the problems of voters in their districts?

ONE OF THE LONGEST electric power outages reported to this office following the rain storms earlier in the week occurred at a home off Panoramic Highway. The disgruntled homeowner went for 17 hours without electricity. However, Alice Silva, wife of the chief of the Bolinas Fire Department, said that while she was living in Woodacre a few years ago, her neighborhood went four days without power.

Coast Zone Boss Replies To Governor

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The head of the state Coastal Zone Conservation Commission yesterday rapped Gov. Ronald Reagan for telling a group of school students that the commission was "lousing things up."

Last week the governor told a group of high schoolers who visited his office that the coastal protection law passed by the voters last November had brought seashore construction to a near halt.

In a letter to Reagan, Melvin B. Lane, chairman of the Coastal Zone Commission, said that it has granted 3,500 construction permits and has denied only about 100.

Lane said that two-thirds of the requests for exemption from the coastal initiative restrictions have been granted. He said many of the projects denied a permit on the first go-around, qualify on a reapplication.

"If anything," Lane said, some of the regional commissions "tend to be more lenient than the initiative intended."

He said the commission is being blamed for halting "projects that were stopped by high interest rates, skyrocketing lumber costs, higher labor costs, or were under-financed promotional ventures that would have failed anyway."

He said many of the issues before the commissions "are highly disputed and doubtless nobody would agree with every decision that has been made, but, based on the experience thus far, it appears that the Coastal Commissions are fully and fairly carrying out their responsibilities to plan for the coastal zone and to carefully control growth and development as necessary while the planning is under way."

Only A $4 Billion Assessed Value Hike

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The net assessed valuation of California's 58 counties has increased only $4 billion for a total of $59.1 billion this year over last, state Controller Houston I. Flournoy said yesterday.

In his annual report of assessed valuation and tax rates, the official credited newly beefed up property tax exemptions with playing a "major role" in retarding the growth of assessed values and basic tax rates.

Flournoy said 1973-74 gross assessed valuation of counties totaled $69.1 billion, an increase of 6.6 per cent from last year. At the same time, however, exemptions from property taxation totaled $9.4 billion, an increase of 80 per cent.

"This resulted in a 1973-74 net assessed valuation of slightly over $59.1 billion," he said, "an increase of only $4 billion or about .006 of one per cent from the prior year."

The report dealt strictly with the valiations and tax rates used by counties for functions fully or partially supported by countywide property taxes. Excluded were the property tax rates of schools and other local districts.

Flournoy noted that a reduced county tax rate or a lower net assessed valuation therefore "does not necessarily mean a property tax bill reduction for the residents of any county, but there will be savings to many taxpayers."

Under the state's new property tax relief and school aid program, the beefed up homeowner's exemption from property taxation was increased from $750 to $1,750. This accounted for nearly $3.7 billion of the growth in exemptions.

The increased business inventory exemption for farmers and businessmen from 30 to 45 per cent accounted for another $796 million of the exemption growth.

For the loss revenue to counties caused by the increased exemptions, the state makes an offsetting reimbursement. Flournoy said this makes "it possible for most counties to reduce tax rates for those services supported by countywide property taxes."

He also noted, as previously reported, that 45 counties reported lower tax rates for the current year, eight did not change and only five increased taxes.

Magee Seeking Double Jeopardy Plea Reversal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The state Supreme Court has been asked to allow San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee to plead double jeopardy to charges of aggravated kidnaping stemming from the 1970 Marin County Courthouse shootout.

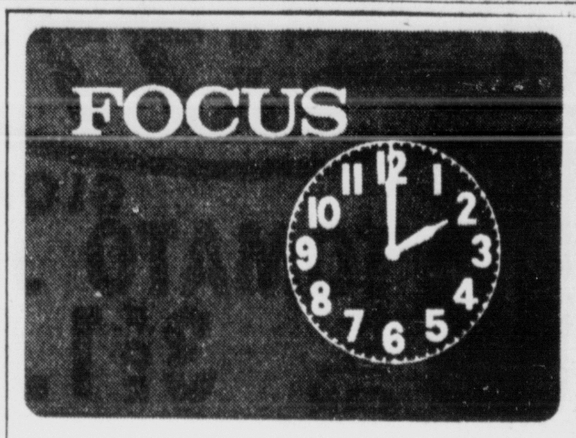

Magee's attorneys asked the high court Wednesday to hear an appeal from a Sept. 11 ruling by the state Court of Appeal which rejected the double jeopardy plea.

The appeals court also refused to rescind transfer of Magee's retrial from San Francisco to San Jose and denied his request to act as his own co-counsel.

Gonorrhea and streptoccocus infections were the most prevalent communicable diseases reported in Marin County last week, with 18 cases of each.

There were also two cases of syphilis, two of infectious hepatitis and one of salmonella.

Standard Time Again

In most states, people will gain back Sunday morning that extra hour of sleep they lost in the spring. Except for those states that have exercised their option to stay on Standard Time all along, the rest of the nation returns to Standard Time at 2:00 a.m. Sunday morning. A few years ago, Great Britain tried to hold onto the fleeing sun year-round by setting clocks ahead permanently for a 3-year trial. The 1968-71 experiment proved a failure, and Britons again go through the annual ritual of switching back and forth from Greenwich Mean Time to "summer time."

LOS ANGELES SHOW

Couture Fashions In All Prices

By MAXINE YEE

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Couture fashions need no longer be limited to the woman who has money to burn. Prices of outfits shown Wednesday by the California Fashion Designers ranged from rasoable $48 to a breath-gulping $340.

Mr. Blackwell, a Los Angeles designer who hails from New York, displayed his usual antic of mixing fashion with a night-club act. His fashion theme this year, "feminine, exciting and liberated," was marked by a generous sprinkling of feathers and rhinestones.

For daytime wear, Mr. Blackwell likes the hemline at the knee or just above it for the woman who has good legs. His daytime fabrics include cotton denim, grape sherbet and faded blues. Many outfits have matching man-caps. Solid and print jerseys with long sleeves, tie-scarves and v-necklines also were prevalent.

FOR EVENING, Mr. Blackwell has a selection of jersey prints in bold black and white, stained window pane and pistachio teamed with mauve pink. Several halters were shown, one with diamonds scattered on the bustline and another in a bright fucshia caught at the neck with a fucshia brooch, giving the look of the 30s.

Ermar has created a complete line of fashions that have no waists. The purpose is to enable each dress to fit the "larger woman." Dresses come in varying hemlines so the individual woman can wear the length that looks and feels right on her.

All skirts were cut on the bias to give them a fluid, flippy motion. Ermar has brought back the mattress ticking pattern fabric, with many outfits made in a variety of styles and colors.

The newest trend seen in the Schnell Sports and the Ernst Strauss collections is the relaxed spirit. Sheer, unconstructed shirt jackets are matched with swinging skirts fitted over the hips.

A SIGNATURE of this year's collection is the emphasis on the return of the suit with the knife-pleated skirt. They have gone overboard with this skirt, teaming it with almost every jacket in the line.

The jackets are diverse, with many pocketed, tailored, top-stitched and pleated.

David Barr Inc. again presented a line of fashions that is totally custom color-coordinated. With the many different styles available in pants, blouses, jackets, dresses and long and short skirts, the woman buyer who has imagination can buy any number of individual pieces and make ensembles that are all different.

There are eight colors in the 1974 spring and resort collection, with fabrics in generous supply in silks and cashmere.

ON THE AGENDA

Public Orientation Scheduled For Sunny Hills Volunteers

Chairman is Mrs. William H. Green of San Francisco, and committee members are Mmes. Keith Yetter of Fairfax, Wayne Boone of Woodacre and Robert Logan of San Rafael.

Intensive treatment areas of the agency, the group homes, day treatment, school and residential programs, will be explained. Staff and students from the residential treatment center for adolescents with emotional problems will participate.

PETER PAULAY, a graduate student in special education at California State University, San Francisco, will give a program, "Dynamic Learning and the New Physical Education," for the American Association of University Women's public education series. The first program of the series will be given Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the George Gustafson Gymnasium of Tamalpais High School.

MARIN COUNTRY Day School Parents Group will hold its annual book fair luncheon Wednesday at noon followed by a fashion show.

Chairmen Mrs. John Huston and Mrs. Ivan Cousins planned the affair for 150 alumni, past and present members and their friends.

The luncheon of soup, bread and dessert will be made by the school's cooking class taught by Mrs. Angus Dun Jr.

Mrs. Marvin Morgenstein is chairman of the 1 p.m. fashion show.

MAI ZETTERLING'S film, "The Girls" is the final in the "Images: Women See Themselves" film series and will be shown Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall of the College of Marin.

The film is a portrait of three actresses on tour with the play "Lysistrata." The play is about women who refuse to make love until their men stop making war, and the film shows the actresses conflicts in their roles of performers, wives and mothers in relation to the play.

The series is sponsored by the college's concert and lecture series and the Marin Chapter, National Organization for Women. Tickets are available at the college box office weekdays from 9 to 5 p.m. and at the Buttercup shop in the Redhill Shopping Center in San Anselmo.

LARKSPUR'S ASSISTANT Fire Chief, William Lellis, will lead an informal discussion Wednesday at noon at the home of Larkspur Councilman Joan Sestak at 359 Wilson Way.

"Home Fire Prevention and Safety — What To Do In Case of Fire" will be the topic.

MEMBERS OF Marin Chapter of Sweet Adelines are seeking to increase the chorus and will launch a membership drive Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael.

Women who like to sing are invited.

GRATON COMMUNITY Club's annual fall flower show will be given Tuesday and Wednesday at the clubhouse in Graton. Hours are Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

A Classic Look

One recipe for a classic look: a print shirt, topped by a glittery pullover and underscored by checked pants. Atop all that: a pea coat. Atop your cranium? A velvet hat.

Wrap Set Ideal For Long Hair

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

One of the biggest innovations in long-hair care to come along in years is the wrap set. The set is quick, and makes neat, long hair possible for the women with wavy or frizzy hair.

All you need for the wrap set: A jumbo roller, some pinked Scotch hair set tape. After shampooing, blot excess water from hair, apply a setting lotion and comb hair straight down. Secure large roller at center of crown.

Beginning with a side or center part, start combine or brushing the hair around the head, picking up more hair as you go along and pull it all taut and smooth. Use a clip or two to keep hair in place while you wrap some more. Now take another section of hair, wind it around and blend it in with the already wrapped hair. Remove and replace clips as you go.

Once the entire head is wrapped, remove any clips and secure the hair all around the head with hair set tape. Because the hair is so tightly combed, add a few extra minutes on to the usual drying time.

Then, when dry, simply unwrap, brush thoroughly and comb smooth, well-behaved hair into place.

Pediatrician Describes Work In Formative Years

By JOAN LISETOR

Chris, Lisa, Josh, Julie, Ben and Eric are patients of Dr. Stephen E. Barnett, a pediatrician in Boulder, Colo.

Dr. Barnett shared the children's experiences with an audience last night in Olney Hall at the College of Marin at the second in the children and their parents portion of the "Stress In Our Society" series.

Once a happy baby Chris fell apart at 20 months when his mother had another child, but his parents understood and involved him with the new baby, Dr. Barnett said.

Lisa was born with a high piercing cry and screamed day and night, he said. The crying irritated her parents, and at 2 there is a barrier in communication between the child and her parents.

Josh is the son of an attorney and a psychiatrist, who were determined the child grow up free and be allowed to express himself. At 2 he was still not talking, when it was discovered he had a hearing problem. The problem was corrected and within two months he was talking.

Julie is also a screamer, and her cries as many as six times a night can only be stopped by her mother comforting her with a bottle.

BEN AND Eric's relationship with their family is an example of what all parents would like to find. Although their mother, a nurse, works long hours to put her husband through school and their father is often busy with school, exciting things take place in their family because of the quality of the relationships and the time spent together, Dr. Barnett explained.

"You can have an excellent and productive type relationship by taking the right approaches," he said. "First, know your child and where he is at."

You cannot get this knowledge from books or from taking courses, he said. The second approach is knowing how to relate to the child, he said, and all it takes is appreciation and an approach to the child's development on a one-to-one basis.

"No book can link a gap the way you can rolling on the floor with your child," he said. "The first six months a child is filled with needs, and the parents role is to fill the needs. What they need is a lot of love along with the feeding, dressing and bathing. Daddys who are not involved miss out. The 'let me hold him, and you take him and clean him up' doesn't work."

A problem that bugs parents is "what is normal and abnormal?"

"Each development sequence has a four-month plus or minus range," he said, adding that if a parent is worried about a child's development he should consult an expert to relieve both his and the child's anxieties.

"TO PUT you at ease there is a 70 per cent chance the child is okay," he said.

High and low expectation often cause problems, he said.

The most common barrier between parents and small children is sheer embarrassment, he said.

"I feel sorry for anyone who is not able to go 'goo-goo' and roll around on the floor with his child," he said. "And many parents are embarrassed when I get their 'kiddos' down on the floor and playing when I'm giving them a physical exam."

Dr. Barnett answered questions from the audience, a group with many problems with young children.

"What do you do with a 21-month-old who bites viciously?"

"Give him zero reinforcement (attention). Under 2½ positive and negative reinforcement are the same. Make it clear his behavior is unacceptable and isolate him in his room," the doctor answered.

"What if a child refuses to be potty trained?"

"Forget it. I've never seen a child forced into potty training, so don't get into a fight with him about it," he answered.

"If you let a child pull you down to his level — yelling, screaming and swatting — it's hard to get back up to the parents' level.

"If you get in a bind, talk to people who have some professional experience with kids," he advises.

The series, sponsored by the Marin Association for Mental Health, continues Thursday with Dr. Joan B. Kelly, whose topic will be "Now We Are Six and Up."

Halloween Parade Will Be Wednesday

Sausalito Nursery School has scheduled a Halloween parade on Wednesday at 10 a.m. starting at the Bank of America in Sausalito.

Costumed nursery school students from 2 to 5 years old will meander in and out of Bridgeway Avenue stores. They are also celebrating the 25th anniversary of their school.

Luciana Avedon Knows All About The World's Beautiful People

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) —If you want to know who the Beautiful People (B.P.) are, ask Luciana Avedon. She's one of them.

"They're a group that exists in every town," said the former Princess Pignatelli of Rome. "They're the ones always a little in the limelight. They have flair, taste, know how to entertain.

"They know how to dress . . . could be chic wearing a towel.

"To be one, you don't necessarily have to be wealthy, but these people usually have money.

"Mostly you're born to B.P. status. But you can arrive."

Luciana Avedon both was born and married into her world of wealth and sophistication. Her father, Francesco Malgeri, a veteran newsman, is president of ANSA, the Italian news agency.

She was educated in Switzerland and speaks four languages.

HER FIRST marriage was to Prince Nicolo Pignatelli Aragona Cortes (known in the international set as "Baby"), scion of an aristocratic old Italian family.

The marriage ended in divorce after two children, a daughter, now 18, and a son, 15.

She now is the wife of Burt Avedon, a cosmetics tycoon and first cousin of Richard Avedon, the renowned fashion photographer. With the marriage, she added three stepchildren to her apartment household in the Italian capital.

Mrs. Avedon, a tall and beautiful blonde, once worked as a cosmetics consultant, still does television commercials for a soap manufacturer, and also has had a career as a reporter. She decided not too long ago that she might as well write about the B.P. as well as be part of the international set.

LUCIANA AVEDON
She knows

The result first was "The Beautiful People's Beauty Book." Now, she's written the natural sequel, "The Beautiful People's Diet Book" (Saturday Review Press) with an assist from Jeanne Molli, a freelance writer living in Rome.

SHE NAMEDROPS the likes of Cristina Ford, Gloria Guinness, Ceezee Guest, Liz Taylor and Richard Burton.

"The beautiful people do not jump on and off the diet merry-go-round," she writes. "They have dieted all their lives and always will...they have chosen, each in a personal way, to eat thin...."

Rounding out a whirlwind promotion tour for the book (20 U.S. cities in 30 days), Mrs. Avedon sat sipping fresh grapefruit juice and talked of some of her food theories and weight control.

The fresh juice was because she believes fervently in fresh foods both for nutritional and diet reasons.

"Why on earth buy a package of diet food when fresh food is no more fattening, often costs less, and tastes better," she said. "When cheese and apples exist, why have soup and a sandwich?"

Mrs. Avedon, who's five feet seven inches tall, maintains shapeliness at 125 to 127 pounds. But it's taken years of discipline, she said.

"THERE ARE the cheetahs of this world and the hippopotami," she said. "Much to my chagrin I was built for the herd—one year of negligence and you would find me by the riverbank, shifting my bulk in a vast hippopotamus sprawl."

Mrs. Avedon remarked that in her travels she's noticed a growing health and weight consciousness, a vast increase in the number of health spas, in the burgeoning of diet books.

But something nevertheless must be going amiss. "Americans," she said, "are getting fatter."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Undue Criticism Should Be Met With A Little Talk To Mothers

DEAR HELEN:

I'm a 28-year-old woman, living with my father. I have dated, but am not going with anyone presently. If the right man comes along, I'll marry. Meanwhile I'm happy in my career.

But why must people be so cruel, Helen? We live next door to a family with two teenage daughters. The girls would visit me often, and we'd talk about their boyfriends, fashion, man-woman things. They said they felt more at ease with me than with their own mother.

They don't come over anymore — because someone told their mother I was "one of those." If you're near 30 and not married, it would seem, you're a menace to teen-age girls.

I'm terribly hurt. I don't like being thought of as a queer when I'm not. But how can you combat this sort of thing? If I go to the mother, she'd suspect me even more for bringing up the subject. The girls know I'm not, but if they stand up for me too much — there go those nasty suspicions again.

I don't know exactly who has been talking — and again, if I make a big issue about it they'll all say "she protests too much, she must be guilty." If I knew the woman, I swear I'd make a play for her husband, just to prove her wrong.

How CAN I quell these rumors? — WRONGFULLY ACCUSED

DEAR W.A.:

Rumors such as these need an open airing. Why not have a tea for the girls, their mother, and several other dear little ladies you suspect of spreading gossip? Discuss the situation frankly and honestly with as little rancor as possible. Let the women know how it feels to be in a spot where you can't defend yourself without adding suspicion. And ask them if they'd prefer a husband-chaser on the block. Let's hope they go home chastened and ashamed.

(But don't expect to win back the old camaraderie with the girls. My guess is their mother resents you out of jealousy, and may be using the Lesbian talk as an excuse to close you out of her daughters' lives.) — H.

HELEN:

I couldn't believe your answer to PCPPM even though I am fully aware of your unfair feminist bias.

Since when should a hungry man come home to an evening meal of low-calorie junk like cottage cheese and salad (Note from H: Don't forget beef, fish, and chicken are on diet lists too, sir) just because his fat, lazy wife is out of shape from too much television and too little exercise?

I have avoided marriage because I have seen what happens to a woman once she gets that ring on her finger. The woman who lives with me takes pride in her appearance and knows that if she gets pudgy she goes out on her ear.

You may print this if you aren't afraid it may liberate some of the downtrodden victims of women's liberation in your reading audience. — MEN'S LIBBER

DEAR LIBBER:

Hot bread, mashed potatoes and gravy, and gooey desserts are hazardous to husbands also. I only suggested that this man knock off the criticism and help his wife reduce by cooperating with her on a healthful diet plan.

Somehow I think that's better than trading her in for a slim model, and I've an idea your roommate might agree with me. She's got a real winner. — H.

'Jorie Talks' To Spotlight Bay Area Theater

Spotlight will be on theater for the daily five-minute "Jorie Talks" broadcasts at 9:30 a.m. on KTIM.

Ronald E. Krempetz, set designer of the College of Marin production, "The Good Woman of Setzuan" will be the guest on Tuesday. Marin actor-director John Brebner will discuss his 25 years in the profession and his current activities on the Thursday and Friday shows.

Michelle Truffaut, director of the San Francisco Theater Company, which performs at the Inside/Outside Cafe in San Rafael, will appear on Wednesday.

Monday the show's host, Jorie Parr, will discuss two new American Conservatory Theater productions, "Taming of the Shrew" and "The Hot 1 Baltimore."

Vows Are Repeated In Santa Venetia

Blessed Sacrament Church in Santa Venetia was the setting for the wedding of Bonnie K. Chiaroni and Paul Rimola, both of San Rafael.

The Saturday nuptials were followed by a reception in the church parish hall.

The bride's sister Geralyn Chiaroni was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were another sister Cindy Chiaroni, the bridegroom's sisters Donna and Lynn Rimola, and Julie Lagier, all of San Rafael.

Dwane Miller of San Jose was best man. Ushering were the bride's brother Lawrence Chiaroni, and Richard Hampton, Doug Pool and Dan Johnson, all of San Rafael.

After a Southern California wedding trip, Bonnie and Paul will live in San Rafael.

The daugher of Clifford Chiaroni of San Rafael, the bride is a Terra Linda High School graduate, attended the College of Marin and is employed by Greyhound in San Francisco.

Bonnie is the granddaugher of Mrs. Max Graham of Petaluma and Bert Chiaroni of Sonoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rimola of San Rafael are Paul's parents. He was graduated from San Rafael High School and is a junior at California State Polytechnic University.

Halloween Party Set Tomorrow

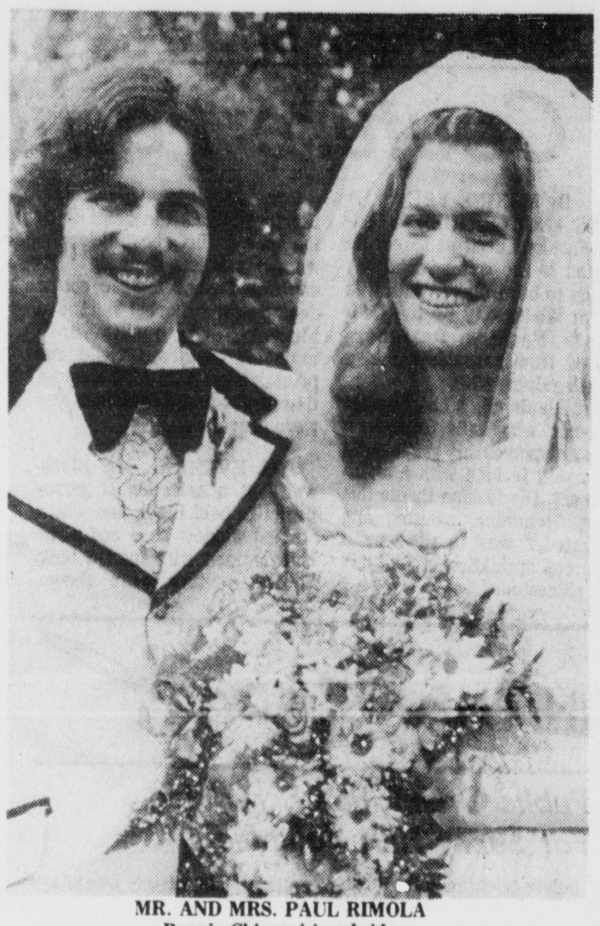

A Halloween party will be hosted by the Beginning School parents tomorrow from 2 to 5 p.m. at the nursery school in St. Andrew Presbyterian Church at the Marin City exit of Highway 101.

Tickets will be on sale at the door for the afternoon geared to 3 to 8-year-olds. Games, treats, prizes for costumes and snacks for children and parents are planned.

A puppet show featuring Steve Abrams and his friends will begin at 3:30 p.m. Other entertainment is continuous.

Fashion Student

Aline Estournes of San Rafael has enrolled at the Fashion Institute of Design and Merchandising in Los Angeles. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andre Estournes of San Rafael, she is a graduate of San Rafael High School.

Vows Said In Ceremony In Novato

Susan Jane McDaniel and Kendall Alan Kessler were married at St. Francis of Assisi Episcopal Church in Novato on Sunday.

Susan is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George E. McDaniel Jr., and Kendall is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Kessler, all of Novato.

The bride chose Tracy Ann Kitchak of San Anselmo as her maid of honor and bridesmaids were Janice Lee Jackson and Rondi Gleason of Novato and Marcia Lynn Jewhurst of Hamilton Air Force Base.

Best man was Russell W. Kessler, brother of the bridegroom, and ushers were Michael A. McDaniel, brother of the bride, and William G. Armstrong Jr. and Robert Brown, all of Novato.

Following a reception at Collins Hall at the church, the couple went on a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe. They will live in Novato.

The bride was graduated from Novato High School and attended College of Marin. She is also the sister of Richard E. McDaniel of Novato. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George E. McDaniel of Porterville and Mr. and Mrs. William S. Palmer of Danville.

The bridegroom was graduated from Novato High School and is a security policeman with the Security Police Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base. His grandmother is Mrs. Louise Kessler of Cleveland, Ohio.

HOMAGE TO THE PAST

Paris designer of sportswear Daniel Hechter displayed print skirts with sports motifs in his ready-to-wear collection shown in the French capital this week. On this skirt print figures play basketball, and other skirts and jacquard sweaters display baseball and soccer athletes in action. It is a part of Paris designers' homage to the '40s and '50s.

Community Friends Training Classes Set

Training classes for Community Friends are beginning the second week in November.

The program, sponsored by the Marin Association for Mental Health, is to help persons recovering from mental disorders to readjust to the community through the help of a volunteer.

Community Friend volunteers receive training from the Marin Association for Mental Health, led by Mrs. Robert McLaughlin of Ross and learn to help on a one-to-one basis to get the former patient settled in a place to live, shop and get around, discover ways to have fun, find new friends and groups and locate or train for work.

Both men and women volunteers are needed and must be over 18.

YMCA Sets Instruction In Tennis

Tennis lessons on the Young Men's Christian Association's new tennis courts will begin Nov. 5. Beginning and intermediate lessons will be given to women and children over 8.

Beginning students will cover etiquette, grip, forehand, ground stroke, backhand, serve and volley. Intermediate students will review rules, serve and volley, forehand, ground stroke, rallying, backhand and overhead smash.

Terry Timmons is the instructor.

Beginning women's classes will be held Monday and Wednesday, from 2 to 3 p.m. Beginning children, 3:30 to 4:30 p.m., Monday and Wednesday.

Intermediate women will meet Tuesday from 3 to 4 p.m. and Thursday from 2 to 3 p.m., and intermediate children's lessons will be Tuesday from 4 to 5 p.m. and Thursday from 3:30 to 5 p.m.

The series ends Dec. 16.

Pandora's Box Opened On Proposal For Army

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
(Distributed by Los Angeles Times Syndicate)

H. Minton Francis, U.S. deputy assistant secretary for equal opportunity, opened a Pandora's box when he suggested in a recent issue of Army Times that bonuses be paid to black college students to induce them to join the Army as commissioned officers.

"If we were to launch a special program for the recruitment of black officers," he stated, "it would be no more significant . . . than the special programs that have been launched in the past to get more dentists, to get more lawyers or whatever."

Reader response to the proposal was immediate. "Reverse racism — no way." or "Has it been found that specific colors exhibit highly favorable officer qualities not found in other colors?" Translation: There are fewer black officers because they do not have what it takes to be good officers.

We have a disproportionate number of black officers because of the historically racist nature of this country and its military forces. Integration in the armed forces is fairly recent. Historically, blacks were segregated by units, according to color.

FOR FAR too many years, these units were administered by white officers. After all, "inferior" blacks certainly couldn't be given power or position in a "gun-carrying" environment. Hence, the background for the birth of the Francis proposal.

According to a recent Intelligence Report in Parade, 10.5 per cent of the American male population between the ages of 18 and 35 is black. In the enlisted ranks of the U.S. Army, blacks make up 18.6 per cent of the total. And the percentage is on the upswing. During July 1973, of 13,117 new recruits signed up by the Army, 34.1 per cent were black.

One major reason for this increased enlistment among blacks is the unavailability of jobs. Across the board, blacks still have less education. Programs are in effect to alleviate this situation, but many young black males remain unemployed. College is not for everyone.

Couple the employment situation with the increased crowding of the inner cities, crime rates and black male suicide rates. When one is faced with a choice of welfare benefits, convict benefits or commissary benefits, the military refuge is certainly a viable alternative.

WILL THIS trend of black enlistment continue? Will blacks come to dominate the U.S. Army? (A prediction, by the way, of the opponents of an all-volunteer Army.) Such a situation proposes several interesting questions.

Are the brutal race conflicts talked about by military personnel, but denied by official spokesmen, real? Or has the Army become a colorblind establishment?

Would a predominantly white country continue to support the Army if it were predominantly black? Conversely, would an all-black Army cease to have loyalties to a white country-which might fear or reject it?

Blacks have indicated that if they were in power (gun) positions they would not be inhumane toward whites the way whites have historically been toward them. Were the shoe on the other foot and blacks controlled a powerful military junta, what kinds of things would happen?

WOULD IT be possible for any length of time for white officers to preside over black forces? (Granted, we do have a few high-ranking black military personnel, but the percentages are disproportionate.) Would black soldiers continue to be loyal to white officers? Would black soldiers be loyal to black officers?

Would the overall quality of he U.S. Army increase or decrease? Or would it remain the same?

In the framework of this country's (and the entire world's) racial concerns, the speculations are endless.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning star is Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Mars.

American gospel singer Mahalia Jackson was born Oct. 26, 1912.

On this day in history:

In 1825, the Erie Canal, America's first man-made waterway, was opened for traffic between Buffalo and Albany, N.Y.

In 1920, the Lord Mayor of Cork, Terence MacSwiney, died after fasting 75 days in a British prison cell demanding independence for Ireland.

In 1942, the American aircraft carrier "Hornet" was sunk by Japanese warships in a fierce naval engagement off the Solomon Islands in the Pacific Theater of World War II.

A thought for the day: Irish poet Thomas Moore said, "Ask a woman's advice and whate'er she advises, do the very reverse and you're sure to be wise."

Case Sent To Superior Court

A Marin Municipal Court judge has ruled there is enough evidence to bring William Geoffrey Howard, 26, to trial on three counts of receiving stolen property.

Howard, of Waldo Point, was bound over to Marin Superior Court Tuesday following a preliminary hearing before Judge Robert A. Smallman. He will appear Nov. 5 in the higher court.

A second man accused of the same felonies — Henry Garrison, 25, of Marin City — has been hospitalized following a traffic accident and will face a preliminary hearing when he recovers.

The men are said to have had property from three Mill Valley homes in their pickup truck when police in that city arrested them June 30.

East Scores Knockout Punch By Forcing South To Overruff

Even if your partner is the best player in the world, it pays to make things easy for him. The principal is even more important if your partner is actually somewhat less than perfect.

SIGNAL BY EAST

West opened the king of hearts, and East began a signal by playing the seven. West saw at a glance what this meant. East and South each had doubletons in hearts. East thought his doubleton might pave the way for a ruffing trick later on, but West could tell that South would be in position to overruff East.

West dismissed the ruffing trick from his mind, but came back to it after a few seconds. It was true that South would be able to overruff, but some good might come out of this just the same.

WEST CONTINUES

West next led the ace of diamonds. This made it obvious that the defense needed exactly one trick more, and that this trick would have to come from spades or hearts.

KEY PLAY

West now made the key play of leading a low heart. Dummy followed with the jack, and it was now clear that West wanted his partner to ruff.

East easily worked out his partner's plan. West obviously held the ace of hearts, yet he had not led it. Clearly, it was up to East to ruff. A high ruff would do more good than a low ruff, so East made the "uppercut" play of ruffing with the queen of spades.

AN OVERRUFF

South had to overruff, and then he had to give up a trick sooner or later to West's jack of spades. If East had ruffed low, South would have won with a low trump and would have drawn trumps by laying down the ace and king.

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

This is a borderline hand, but you should strain to open such hands when you have a strong six-card major suit.

Station Drops All News Format

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — KMEX-TV this week ends its experiment with all news television programming.

When the format was announced July 9, station officials said it was the first all-news television station in the nation. The experiment was to last a year, but the station's management said it could no longer secure bank financing for it.

The 23-member news staff was notified Tuesday that the format is being terminated, and the station will return to its former programming policy, broadcasting in Spanish for the Mexican-American community.

MUSIC REVIEW

Chamber Group Shows Polish

By SYLVIA L. RUBY

A charming program of 18th Century rococo music by the French Chamber Orchestra opened the Marin Concert Association's 1973-74 season at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building last night.

The orchestra of 12 young adults, ably led by violinist Jean-Pierre Wallez, performed throughout the evening with the elegance and grace demanded by the music of this era.

Works from the French court of Louis the XV by composers Boismortier, Rameau and Leclair comprised the first half of the program. It was a suitable choice, not only because of the orchestra's nationality, but also because the rococo period originated and flourished in France.

The Third Concerto in Sextet by Jean-Philippe Rameau is a transcription (perhaps by one of his disciples) of one of the Piece de Clavecin En Concert originally scored for keyboard, violin and viola. Although typically lacking in depth of feeling, this highly ornamented composition translates beautifully to the small chamber orchestra, and the pleading melody of the Gracieux, Tambourin, and the lively dance rhythms of the Vif-Rondo were nicely expressed.

Violinist Wallez displayed his marked virtuosity in the Concerto of Violin and Strings by Jean Marie Leclair. Leclair was one of the great masters of the violin and a gifted composer. Works such as this are a violinist's delight or downfall due to the long sections of tricky passage work and the demands for technical proficiency.

The violinist maintained a lovely warm tone and a relaxed style that belied the work's difficulty. Martine Roche on harpsichord and F. Dariel on cello gave solid support to the stately adagio movement.

Although the second half of the program moved to Vienna for its composers, the rococo flair was still in evidence. Haydn's Concerto in C Major for Violin and Strings was written early in his career and contains none of the seriousness of later works, nor any development of inner voices, but it is a pleasant, joyful work nonetheless.

Wellez spun out the lovely continuous melody of the second movement; the orchestra accompanying with precise pizzicato. Temporary problems in the violinist's higher positions in the third movement affected his tone.

The orchestra then delivered a highly polished performance of Mozart's Divertimento in D Major. This often performed and very popular early work bears Mozart's unmistakable stamp. For all its unaffected simplicity, Mozart, unlike Haydn, never neglected the inner voices, even employing them in a fugal development in the finale.

For the encores Italy's Baroque composer Vivaldi took over — first in two movements from the Four Seasons, then a delightful piece for sopranino recorder. Cellist Manfred Stilz doubled on recorder and his ability to play the elaborate melody line without seeming to breathe left the audience gasping for him.

This orchestra is a highly disciplined group. In the entire program tempos were always satisfying — fast movements were quick and light, and slow ones lingered over expressive phrases without ever dragging.

The Marin Concert Association's next concert features contralto Marvellee Cariaga, at the Marin Veterans Memorial Buiding, Nov. 19, at 8:15 p.m.

Maddox Brands UNICEF A 'Hoax'

ATLANTA (UPI) —Georgia Lt. Gov. Lester Maddox charged yesterday that the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) collection on Halloween was a "cruel hoax" by the "Communist-controlled United Nations."

Maddox said in a statement that he approved of charity but was distressed "greatly when well-meaning Americans are tricked into raising money for the Communist-controlled United Nations through the UNICEF campaign."

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The Council's findings are from California and National Parent-Teachers Association magazines and Parents' Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael City Library.

FAMILY

"On Any Sunday" — Expertly produced documentary of Sunday motorcycling (by Endless Summer team) with spectacular desert aerial views.

"Visions of Eight" — Eight creative directors from as many countries give us their particular perspectives on what the Munich Olympics in 1972 was all about. For film buffs and sports fans.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"American Graffiti" — Filmed in Marin and Sonoma counties, this story of one night in 1962 in the lives of four youths before they leave for college. Some suggestive sex scenes and scuffy language.

"Boy Who Cried Werewolf" — Unremittingly inept semi-horror film. Boy's father becomes werewolf but no one will believe boy's story.

"The Candidate" — Exceptionally clever political comedy. Timely, downbeat story told with great flair. Excellent supporting cast. Robert Redford as handsome, idealistic candidate has never been better.

"40 Carats" — Light comedy about love between a 40-year-old woman and a 22-year-old man has an added twist of her 17-year-old daughter involved with a man older than her mother.

"Harold and Maude" — A heavy-handed film about an 80-year-old woman teaching a mixed-up, suicidal young man how to enjoy life including marriage to her.

"Harry In Your Pocket" — Detailed look into lives of four pickpockets. Strangely lacking in suspense. Good cast and scenery.

"Last of the Red Hot Lovers" — Amusing comedy about a staid married man's three abortive attempts to have an affair. Based on Neil Simon's play. Good cast.

"Mackintosh Man" — Suspenseful spy story. Script abounds in double identities. Stylist performances and sophisticated direction make up for any flaws. Some violence.

"Paper Moon" — Sophisticated comedy drama recreating the 1930s. Salesman-con-artist agrees to deliver a 9-year-old orphan girl to an aunt. The child is tough, smokes and swears and outswindles her mentor.

"Slither" — Off-beat comedy of four people wending their way through California in search of hidden loot. Mood shifts from Hitchcock to Mack Sennett. Excellent cast. Profanity.

"The Stone Killer" — Fast-moving police thriller. Dedicated policeman transfers to San Francisco force from New York. Becomes involved in mysterious murders with Mafia undertones. Confusing plot. Violence, some cursing.

"Westworld" — Science-fiction tale of a tourist resort peopled by super-robots identical to humans. Provides entertainment and critique of our escapist culture. Gory ending.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Butterflies Are Free" — A blind boy strikes out for independence from a domineering mother by living alone in a swinging San Francisco neighborhood. His sexual encounters change his life.

"Fists of Fury" — Karate expert fights a dozen armed men with his bare hands. Almost all of cast is murdered in an overindulgence of blood and gore. Cursing, nudity.

"JIMI HENDRIX" — Documentary of late rock star. Compilation of film clips, interviews and concert scenes from Woodstock, Monterey, etc. Sketchily informative and relentlessly unexciting. Vulgar dialogue.

"J. W. Coop" — Low-keyed, penetrating study of a contemporary rodeo rider intent on being "champion" after spending ten years in prison. Cursing, nudity, sex.

"Soylent Green" — Science-fiction presents chilling view of future. Population explosion causes environmental problems. While solving a murder detective discovers an ugly truth about society. Sex scene and violence.

ADULTS ONLY

"Last Tango In Paris" — Middle-aged man adrift in Paris engages in brutal affair with 20-year-old girl. Highly controversial, crude language and nudity. Some scenes are revolting.

Member Exhibit Set At Gallery

An all-member exhibit of paintings by Gilbert Wheat, etchings by Ron Moe and drawings by Anne Wienholt will be on display at the Genesis Gallery, 2 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley from Nov. 2 through December.

Beginning Nov. 24 and continuing through December there will also be a Christmas small works show by members.

New Route Asked For Dipsea Race

The Stinson Beach Fire Protection board has asked for a change in the route of the annual Dipsea Race, sponsored by the Mill Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Volunteer Fire Chief George H. White said the board complained that the present route, which ends up in downtown Stinson Beach, creates too much congestion and traffic.

Ex-Nazi Will Be Extradited

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) —The Bolivian supreme court ordered yesterday that Klaus Altmann, identified as a Nazi war criminal, be extradited to Peru to face tax evasion charges in foreign exchange dealings.

The court decision sidelined France's extradition petition for Altmann, wanted there under the name of Klaus Barbie for war crimes during World War II.

Altmann has been in a La Paz jail since March 2, when Bolivian courts accepted the French legal contention that he was Barbie.

Alquist Claims Tax Plan Fraud

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A Democratic senator yesterday said if Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax initiative passes he will launch a "draft Reagan for governor in 1974" campaign to make sure Reagan is "around to face the music" if the measure is proven to be a hoax.

If the Nov. 6 ballot proposal passes, said Sen. Alfred E. Alquist of San Jose, "the average taxpayer will have been duped and Gov. Reagan ought to be around to face the music.

"Instead, he hopes to be safely installed in the White House before the hoax is discovered," Alquist added.

Reagan has said he will not run for a third term in 1974 but has left the door open for a possible presidential bid in 1976.

Peugeot. What makes this car so interesting to people who have looked at Audi, Volvo and Saab?

In its September 1973 issue, Popular Science Magazine reported a road test comparing Peugeot with the Audi 100 LS, Volvo 144 ES and Saab 99 LE. Peugeot scored higher than all three in quietness and ride comfort. It equalled or surpassed its competitors in handling, maneuverability and fuel economy—24 miles per gallon. Standard on Peugeot: independent suspension, disc brakes, reclining bucket seats, Michelin steel-belted radial tires and, on the sedan, a steel sliding sunroof.

STUDENTS LEARN GREEK DANCING

Getting High On The Hasapiko

By PAUL LIBERATORE

"Some people like to smoke the marijuana or the hash," said Vasilios Romaidis with disdain. "Dancing makes me happy."

With that, the 27-year-old San Franciscan rounded up his students to demonstrate the soulful nuances of the hasapiko, whose kicking, twirling steps millions admired when Anthony Quinn danced them to exhaustion in the film "Zorba the Greek."

"I do not want no bouncing," he told his intent pupils. "I know the tempo goes nice for bouncing," he said as the metallic notes from a buzuki rolled out of a record player in the corner of Greek Islands Imports in San Rafael. "But you will not bounce."

His nine students, arms linked in the brotherly fashion of the Greek culture, bounced only slightly as they exuberantly copies Romaidis' smooth, sweeping movements.

"I used to watch my father do his thing, you know," explained Romaidis later. "In Greece, when the man gets up to dance there is no interference." Romaidis, in the United States for four and a half years, was raised in Salonika, a major seaport in northern Greece.

But can middle-aged Americans in Marin County, raised on fox trots and waltzes, capture the gutsy flavor of the old country steps? "Oh, sure," said Romaidis. "Especially if they have been to Greece."

Each week, Tuesday through Thursday evenings, Romaidis stands in the center of the tile floor at Greek Islands, 1208 Fourth Street, theatrically demonstrating the dances of his homeland, the popular sirtaki, the sirto, serviko, susta, tsamiko, ipirotiko, and many others.

Between lessons, Robert and Mae Weiss of San Rafael, puffing slightly, sat sipping Greek wine. "I've always been intrigued by the music and Greek restaurants," said Weiss, an administrator for Pacific Telephone. "It's hard work but it's fun," chimed his wife.

They come each week with their friends, Shep and Velma Porter of Petaluma. The couples heard of the classes through a newspaper advertisement.

Many of the class members, like Joan Dracott of Tiburon and Alice Quiros and her 11-year-old son, Robert, were introduced to the Greek experience at Opa restaurant in Santa Venetia, a family place where Greek dancing is encouraged. They decided to follow up their interest with lessons with Romaidis at Greek Islands, owned by Daniel Kazakes of Mill Valley, who also owns a second Greek and Israeli import store in Sausalito.

Kazakes, 50, absorbed his family's Greek background while growing up in, of all places, Omaha, Neb. "Love of Greek art and culture" led him to quit his construction business seven years ago and open the Sausalito store, operated by his wife, Irene. The San Rafael branch opened in mid-July and dance lessons began this month.

"I don't want to dance alone," shouted Romaidis, signalling the end of the breather. He gathered Shep Porter and Robert Weiss, placed their arms over his shoulders, and began again. "Kick forward, swing your legs and stop," he ordered.

The dancers picked up steam, threatening to topple imported statuary from nearby shelves. Onlookers gawked through the open door on Fourth Street. Nondancers loitered among Greek trinkets and worry beads, bright caftans and jaunty Greek seamen's caps.

Slower Patrols Will Save Fuel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Coast Guard said yesterday its patrol boats will slow down to conserve fuel.

Slower patrolling and longer missions will mean a tougher life for crewmen but will assure fuel for emergencies, said Capt. Herbert J. Lynch, operations chief of the 12th Coast Guard District.

Alcatraz Opens As New Bay Tourist Attraction

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — Alcatraz Island, the infamous U.S. version of Devil's Island, was dedicated officially yesterday as a public park and opened today for the first time to the public.

Tours tomorrow and Sunday already are sold out, reported Harbor Carriers, operator of ferries to "the Rock."

Some 200 dignitaries and newsmen arrived at the prison fortress as a ranger in an 1861 Union Army seacoast artillery uniform bugled a number of assembly tunes. He was borrowed from Fort Point National Historic Site as a reminder that the fort built on the island in 1853 was its first structure.

J. Jerry Rumburg, 27, ranger in charge, led a two-hour tour of the island along the same route the public will take. It included the main cell block, dreaded "D Block" for solitary confinement and the outdoor exercise yard — which Al Capone unsuccessfully offered to enlarge at his own expense.

Extensive debris seen along the way by newsmen in June had been cleared away, and barriers keep visitors strictly to the official route. William J. Whalen, superintendent of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area, which includes the island, said about $15,000 was spent to prepare it for visitors.

Whalen said many areas were excluded from the tour because of safety problems and time limits. Visitors will not see the hospital (where Robert Stroud, the "Birdman of Alcatraz" lived many years), the kitchen, mess hall, or shower area.

Speaking at a brief flag-raising ceremony, the director of the National Park Service, Ronald H. Walker, said the service "will not preserve this island solely as a memorial to a century of military and civilian confinement."

He stressed instead its magnificent panoramic view of the Bay Area, and said it should be thought of in English as "Island of the Pelicans" instead of "the Rock."

It will be at least five years before plans are drawn for future use of the island, he said. Whalen noted the cost of demolishing just the damaged and dilapidated buildings is estimated at $6 million.

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, an author of the bill that created the national recreation area a year ago, tomorrow, told the Independent-Journal enough money should be available to start demolition "a part at a time." One guard tower was so rotted it fell over on its own two weeks ago.

Park service officials said one former convict who spent many years in the prison had applied to be one of the 11 rangers guiding visitors through his former home. He was in his 80s, however, and died of cancer before his application could be considered.

Among the crowd was Phillip F. Dollison of Lafayette, who lived on Alcatraz almost a decade. His father, Arthur Dollision, was associate warden for 10 years before the prison closed in 1963. He predicted the tour will be "the biggest tourist attraction on the West Coast," and said he would like to see "the Rock" restored as it was when he lived there.

Reservations are required for all tours and are handled by telephone only at Harbor Carriers' San Francisco headquarters.

Boats, limited to 50 persons per trip, depart daily every half hour from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. from Pier 43 near Fisherman's Wharf. Tours will take almost two hours. Transportation costs $2 for adults, $1 for children 12 and under, and is free for children under 5.

Board Supports Impeachment

Directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District have voted to support the movement to impeach President Richard M. Nixon and have sent a letter to the White House announcing their stand.

The motion passed 3-0 Wednesday on the votes of Orville Schell, Lewis P. MacAdams Jr. and William E. Niman. Directors Paul D. Kayfetz and Margeurite K. Harris were absnet.

Some in the audience questioned whether the board's action represented the community and said the directors should stick to utility matters in their votes. Others replied that Bolinas had gone 5 to 1 against Nixon in the presidential election and that directors comprise the only locally-elected board.

New Games Tourney Scheduled Again

The New Games Tournament, partially rained out last weekend, will be held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. tomorrow and Sunday at the Gerbode Preserve on the Marin Headlands above Sausalito, according to organizer Pat Farrington.

Games will include boffing, earthball, computer contests, hang-gliding and others. Tickets may be purchased at the gates.

Percy Attacks Bad Advisers

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said Wednesday the White House advisers who steered President Nixon to the brink of impeachment proceedings should be fired.

Those advisers "seriously miscalculated" the effect on public opinion of the dismissal of Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox and the resignation of Elliot Richardson as attorney general, Percy said.

The senator told a news conference Nixon's surprise decision to release the Watergate tapes "has been a wise one" and has "lessened the pressure for impeachment."

Confrontation Compared To Growl

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An administration source gave a succinct view today of what happened in the U.S.-Soviet confrontation on the Middle East crisis:

The source, who asked not to be identified, told newsmen: "He (the Soviet Union) stirred. We growled. He heard it and he backed down."

More Vocational Courses Sought

By BILL ROBERTS

(Last of a series of stories on candidates for a vacancy on the Marin Community College District Board.)

Daniel J. O'Halloran Sr., a San Francisco geophysicist, is seeking election to the Marin Community College District board to bring increased emphasis on vocational programs.

He is one of seven candidates for a vacancy created when Elizabeth M. Deedy resigned her seat to accept a state position. The vacancy will be filled in the Nov. 6 election. (An eighth candidate, Kit M. Cole of Ross, has withdrawn from the race, although her name will appear still on the ballot.)

DANIEL J. O'HALLORAN SR.
Vocational concerns

The 50-year-old O'Halloran received a bachelor and master of science degrees from the University of Michigan. He holds a lifetime community college teaching credential in earth sciences.

He favors more technically oriented classes — like, for example, computer operation — to create a balance between vocational and academic classes.

O'Halloran said future building at Indian Valley Colleges might have to be reduced if enrollment continues to grow more slowly than in the past. Any building should be financed through bond issues, he said.

Students, faculty and administration should work together to present their views to the board through existing representative organizations, O'Halloran said. But he opposes faculty committees which bypass the administration to deal directly with the board.

O'Halloran supports the adult education program in the district but would eliminate any programs which provide only "entertainment or recreation" for adults.

He would seek to emphasize vocational courses and deemphasize ethnic and social service courses. Ethnic courses aimed at particular groups should be eliminated entirely, he said.

O'Halloran favors separate presidents at both the Kentfield and Novato campuses and would add a district superintendent to watch districtwide concerns.

He would not oppose budgetary expansion as long as increases are aimed at meeting community needs but opposes federal grants to the district because "federal support equals federal control."

O'Halloran and his wife, Virginia live at 2038 El Dorado Court in Novato. They have six children.

Bank Boss Hit With Giant Suit

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Minority stockholders in U.S. National Bank, which collapsed last week in the biggest bank failure in U.S. history, filed suit for $120 million Thursday against C. Arnholt Smith, accusing him of driving the bank into insolvency by illegally enriching himself.

The suit named Smith and 22 others who have served as bank directors.

The failure of U.S. National Bank was one of a series of blows during the last six months to the financial empire of Smith, one of President Nixon's closest friends and financial supporters.

On Wednesday he agreed to step down as chairman of the board of Westgate-California Corp., as part of an out-of-court settlement of a civil fraud suit brought by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The bank and Westgate-California were the foundations of his business holdings.

The SEC suit, the forced insolvency of the bank by the comptroller of the currency and the stockholders suit were all based on the same grounds—that Smith used his position as majority stockholder in the bank to secure large loans, beyond the legal limit, to interests he controlled.

The amount was put at about $400 million.

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court, sought $60 million in actual damages and $60 million in punitive damages, charging the defendants permitted Smith to "appropriate bank assets by making illegal loans far in excess" of the federal limit, 10 per cent of the bank's unimpaired surplus.

The loans were made "for the express purpose of allowing defendant Smith to unjustly enrich himself and entities owned and controlled by him and his relatives ... " the suit said.

EAST INDIAN COLONY

Sikhs At Yuba City Work Hard, Prosper

YUBA CITY (AP) — Visitors exploring this Sacramento Valley agricultural community might think they're seeing things when they see a colorful onion-domed Sikh temple nestled in a fruit orchard.

The gold and white temple in the nearby hamlet of Terra Buena has brilliant blue windows, strings of multi-colored light bulbs and yellow flags.

Bearded and turbaned Sikhs tend the temple gardens. Crowds of East Indian families — the women in saris — attend religious ceremonies at what is the focal point of one of the largest colonies of East Indians in the United States.

"We're mostly from Punjab because the land and climate here are just like Punjab," said Bachan Teja, 70, a retired fruit grower and one of the leaders of the East Indian and "American" communities.

"We're mostly farmers, because Punjab is a farm area," said Teja, who came to America on a student visa in 1922 and never went back.

"It started around 1905. The British government recruited Punjabis to build railroads in British Columbia. Many just walked away from the job because farming was so much more to their liking," said Teja.

No one remembers who started the colony in Yuba City, but it grew because they sent for friends and relatives.

"By 1910 there were so many of us that in 1912, the state passed a law against everyone except students and businessmen," said Teja. That law was declared unconstitutional in 1947.

Today immigration is legal, and 16,926 came in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1972, said George T. Patterson, officer in charge of the U.S. Immigration Service office in Sacramento. Estimates of the total East Indian population around Yuba City range from 3,000 to 6,000, depending on who is and who isn't considered "completely assimilated."

"In the early days, we were accused of replacing American workers, of not spending any money, and of sending money to India. But we weren't sending any money to India. We were saving it to buy farms," said Teja.

He is the father of G. Dave Teja, Sutter County district attorney who successfully prosecuted Juan Corona on charges of murdering 25 itinerant farm laborers.

The district attorney said the East Indians always have been good workers. "They formed living groups, pooling money and expenses. Since the religion forbade alcohol, they didn't squander their money like so many day laborers do. Maybe there has been prejudice against them, but they've always had money. They've never been poor because they work."

Today, some of the owners of the largest rice farms and orchards in the area are East Indians.

They have also earned "a pretty darned good record in county government in the last few years," said the district attorney, whose father was once chairman of the county Democratic central committee.

"They have a high regard for education. I don't think you'll find a graduate medical school anywhere in the country that doesn't have an East Indian on the faculty," he said.

"The hardest thing there is to do is to get one of them to go home," the younger Teja said. "It's more fun to make money."

Adds his father: "There are more educated persons out of work in India than here — attorneys, doctors and so on. They keep coming because of better opportunity. The living is better."

At the temple, bearded 91-year-old Ganda Singh Heir leads the way — shoeless — into the carpeted hall where 1,500 persons can worship. He barely speaks English, and he wears the steel bracelet, long hair and the dagger which carry religious significance. While he has had virtually no assimilation into American society, others such as the Tejas have.

"I'm a Unitarian," the district attorney said. "My 13-year-old daughter plays the organ in a Baptist church."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:
Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, light air pollution.
Smoke particles, light air pollution.
Other areas:
San Francisco, light air pollution.
San Jose, clean air.
Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources but the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Added Iron In Bread Should Prove Beneficial To Eaters

Battle lines are drawn between nutritionists and hematologists on the value of additional iron fortification of flour and bread. There are pro and con arguments but, in my opinion, additional fortification is more beneficial than harmful. In other words, it will help a large segment of our population.

Iron deficiency anemia is said to be widespread, especially in infants and women of childbearing age. If so, this could be one of the most prevalent nutritional diseases. In 1969, the White House Conference on Food, Nutrition, and Health recommended that the level of iron enrichment be raised in wheat flour and bread. Many national organizations involved in nutrition and health, including the American Medical Association, endorsed the recommendation.

THE AMERICAN Bakers Association and the Millers' National Federation filed a petition to quadruple the amount of iron that existed in flour and bread. However, the Food and Drug Administration decided that triple the amount was sufficient. The final decision was to double it.

Then the hassle started. Most of the protesting was done by blood specialists who had good reasons for their objections. They pointed out that there were many different types of anemia. Furthermore, the diagnosis of iron deficiency anemia was not always clear cut. As a result, thousands of women are overtreated possibly on the outside chance that they are anemic. In addition, many persons have deficient iron stores in he body but are not anemic. Most authorities agreed that our problems with iron deficiency anemia were greatly exaggerated.

OPPOSERS TO the new recommendation also pointed out that additional iron in the diet might interfere with the health of others. Too much systemic iron could possibly cause cirrhosis of the liver, diabetes, sterility, and heart failure. There are no statistics on how often this occurs. In addition, the few individuals with hemochromatosis absorb too much iron. However, the condition, although fatal, is rare.

The amount of iron absorbed by the intestine depends upon need and type of food consumed. Enrichment of bread and flour will not cure anemia, but it could improve the nutritional state of millions.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael, CA 94902. Telephone inquiries will not be answered.

OILY DIET

H. R. writes: I've heard of reducing diet where you take two tablespoonsful of cooking oil before each meal and then eat foods prepared with cooking oil. Is this type of diet good for a person?

REPLY

No, but it sells cooking oil. Cooking oil is a reducer if it kills the appetite and thereby cuts your calorie intake in half. But what a way to live.

LIQUOR AND BANANAS

REPLY

No, and if you should get sick, blame it on the liquor and not the bananas.

SUDDEN WEIGHT GAIN

M. C. writes: Why would a person put on 20 to 30 pounds within a short period?

REPLY

Too many calories, along with inactivity, is the usual story. A glandular disorder or dropsy may do the same.

U.S. Trade Balance Rebounds Into Black

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. trade balance, which has been in the red since early 1971, turned into a surplus in September with the strongest one-month showing in more than eight years, the Commerce Department reported today.

The value of exports surpassed imports last month by $878 million, more than wiping out a $720 million deficit accumulated in the first eight months of the year.

The dramatic September improvement was the result of a steady increase in exports of American-made goods plus an unusual falloff in imports, reflecting in part smaller orders for foreign automobiles.

The nation's trade performance had sunk to an all-time low last summer but has been on the upsurge since as two devaluations of the dollar plus the realignment in exchange rates of other world trading powers made the price of U.S. goods more competitive overseas and foreign-made goods more expensive here.

Mining Town For Sale At Auction Next Month

NEW IDRIA, Calif. (AP) — This town is for sale.

New Idria Mining and Chemical Co. closed down what was left of their operations here in April 1972. Company officials said Tuesday that the town's 48 homes, modern elementary school, store, gas station, 60 mining buildings and 1,750 acres of land will be up for public auction next month.

Mine manager Mark Ward and mine superintendent Nick Esteban have been caretakers for the dead town since the rich quicksilver miners were shut down. They said the mines were the sole support of a community of about 300 people.

"I'm going to bid on some items," Ward said. "There are some beautiful old machines here, antiques."

When the town was abandoned, Ward said his wife and children moved to nearby Coalinga so that the children could attend school. But he's not sure he wants to leave New Idria.

"It's a beautiful area and one of the reasons I like to live here is that it's away from the city," he said.

"It's just as well to sell the equipment because it's no use letting it sit here and rot. There's an old blacksmith's shop with handmade tools and some cast iron compressors made in 1910."

Benton Bailey, the company's vice president of mining, said New Idria will go on public auction next month. He said some of the old equipment was sold to a Los Angeles auctioneer company.

Ward said the company gradually closed its century-old operations here because of the falling mercury market and stringent environmental controls on mining.

"We just couldn't afford to come up to the minute standards of the Environmental Protection Agency," he said.

However, he predicted that the mercury market and rules will change because "the crunch is coming and they're going to need mercury and other raw materials."

He estimated that there are at least 100,000 flasks worth of mercury still to be ferreted out of the New Idria mines. A flask is about 76 pounds.

The community might make a nice buy for someone planning a recreational facility, he says, or maybe even someone who wants to try a little mining.

Welfare Work Program Lauded

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Declaring California "is no longer a haven for welfare payments," the Reagan administration has announced plans to expand its "work or else" welfare program.

Earl Brian, secretary of Health and Welfare, Wednesday said the administration has "indisputable evidence that these programs are paying off."

Brian said the program would be extended to other counties where "there is a significant welfare caseload."

He said that during the last fiscal years in counties without the employables and community work experience programs, only one in six employable welfare recipients was placed in a job. But in counties with both the programs, he said, the rate was one in two.

Hotel Is Looking For Ghost Hunter

They need him, they say, to settle a dispute between the hotel and three of its night porters. The three say they have been scared at night by a ghostly white lady floating through the corridors at the hotel, and they've threatened to strike unless the management gets someone to deal with it.

Building Ban Could Come On Thursday

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A ban on new construction in Stinson Beach may be imposed next Thursday, two weeks earlier than expected.

The Regional Water Quality Control Board ordered the ban a month ago, but it requires approval by the State Water Resources Control Board to become effective.

The issue had been expected to come before the state board on Nov. 15. The change of date was reported yesterday to the Independent-Journal by Deputy Marin County Counsel George J. Silvestri Jr. and confirmed today by the state board's staff.

The state board can impose the ban immediately upon its vote. It will convene at 10 a.m. in the Resources Building Auditorium.

The ban will become effective after Nov. 25 if the state board fails to act. The state board traditionally upholds bans imposed by regional boards, and the ban in this case was recommended by the state board's own staff.

The state staff's report said more septic tanks would further overload the soil's ability to filter pollution before wastes reach adjacent waters. (Stinson Beach, which has no sewage disposal system, uses septic tanks exclusively.)

The regional board's action exempted any construction for which a building permit has been issued before the ban becomes effective. The order also prohibits use of any septic tanks after Oct. 15, 1977.

The Stinson Beach County Water District has objected that the community cannot afford to build a sewage system meeting state pollution standards.

Youth Sentenced To College

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI) —A former high school football star who pleaded guilty to a charge of armed robbery was sentenced to four years—in college.

San Mateo County Superior Court Judge Gerald E. Ragan yesterday suspended a one-year County Jail sentence and told David Brown, 18, to complete four years in college.

And, Ragan said, Brown was to perform volunteer work with troubled youths once a week for a year following his graduation.

Pauling To Sue Over Vitamin Regulations

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Dr. Linus Pauling, twice a Nobel prize winner, plans to sue the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to stop regulations which he says could raise the price of vitamins and discourage Americans from taking them.

Pauling's criticism was the latest development in a controversy which has triggered at least 10 other court suits against the FDA and prompted two days of congressional hearings next week on legislation to sidetrack the agency's proposal.

The FDA regulations, scheduled to become effective on Jan. 1, 1975, would classify as a drug any food, vitamin or food supplement containing more than three times the recommended daily allowance of any one vitamin. Once classified as a drug, such high concentration doses of vitamins could be later placed on a prescription-only basis if an FDA review so determined.

Pauling, who won the Nobel prize for chemistry in 1954 and the peace prize in 1962, wrote a book which recommends heavy doses of vitamin C to combat the common cold.

"Thirty million Americans are taking vitamin C and improving their health. There's no doubt that these regulations would prevent many of them from continuing," he told a group of reporters yesterday.

Pauling said that if vitamin C in heavy doses is placed on a prescription basis people would have to pay more for it or buy larger quantities of weaker pills. He said it costs more to buy a lot of weaker pills than a few high-strength ones.

"I think the FDA has gone about handling it in quite the wrong way ... it will have very serious consequences for the people of the United States if it goes into effect," Pauling said.

Ex-Ambassador To Laos Accused Of Profiteering

WASHINGTON (UPI) — G. McMurtrie Godley, former U.S. ambassador to Laos and his administrative assistant benefited from the sale of excess military equipment, two subordinates charged at a congressional hearing yesterday.

Godley immediately denied the allegations but acknowledged that General Accounting Office (GAO) and the Agency for International Development (AID) investigators did find "instances where people didn't follow the regulations to the letter."

Former embassy security chief Howard F. Mushett of San Clemente, Calif., and former AID official, Col. Ralph F. Newman (Ret.), who was head of the office through which military equipment was funneled to the Laotian Army, testified before the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on Foreign Operations.

Most of Mushett's charges were against Godley and the former embassy administrative officer, Reed Robinson, now retired.

Mushett charged that large quantities of the equipment, which was worth up to $8 million, were illegally bartered by Robinson and other embassy officials between 1970 and 1973.

The equipment was allegedly used to pay for $110,000 in improvements to Godley's residence and for the profit of other officials, including Robinson.

"It is my opinion that much of the property was disposed of to provide unauthorized construction on the ambassador's residence and for the personal financial gain of the counselor of the embassy for administrative affairs (Robinson) and two of his subordinates," Mushett testified.

Godley said the Mushett's figures were exaggerated and that nothing improper was done to finance the repairs. He is scheduled to testify, along with the GAO and AID investigators, next week.

Newman testified that embassy officials ignored the theft of entire truckloads of aviation gasoline by Laotian Air Force personnel, even after it discovered that some of the gas was being resold to North Vietnamese truckers operating down the Ho Chi Minh trail.

Funt Seeking Friend's Estate

MINEOLA, N.Y. (UPI) — Lawyers for Candid Camera producer Allen Funt claimed Wednesday that Funt should be the beneficiary of $920,000 worth of insurance left by his chief accountant and close friend, Seymour Goldes.

The attorneys disclosed in state Supreme Court that some of the premiums for eight insurance policies were paid by Goldes out of funds he stole from Funt.

Goldes, who was 42, took a fatal overdose of sleeping pills Sept. 9, the day before he was slated to appear for sentencing on a charge of embazzling $1,264,036 from Funt and his television production firm.

Employees Get Pay For Voting

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California employers are required to post notices in a conspicuous place to inform their workers that they may be entitled to paid time to vote Nov. 6.

Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. Wednesday issued the reminder, noting state law allows an employee to take up to two hours from work without loss of pay to vote if he cannot cast his ballot outside office hours.

The law requires employers to post the notice conspicuously 10 days before the election. Workers must notify the employer at least two days in advance of the election that they will need time off to vote.

Teen Admits Mischief Charge

A Kentfield teen-ager pleaded guilty yesterday to a malicious mischief charge and headed off a scheduled jury trial on a more serious burglary count.

Frederick Benjamin Casini, 18, will be sentenced on the misdemeanor Nov. 16 in Marin Municipal Court.

New Electronics Age Is Forecast

LONDON (UPI) —Robert W. Sarnoff, chairman and chief executive of RCA, said yesterday that mankind is moving rapidly into a new age of pollution-free, sophisticated electronic devices that will transform life in the home, office and factory.

Sarnoff outlined the age of the "Electronic Revolution" when he received an honorary fellowship from London's Imperial College of Science and Technology.

"The Industrial Revolution took more than a century to gather full momentum," Sarnoff said. "The Electronic Revolution may do so in the next two decades. In contrast to its predecessor, it will be silent, and it will create neither environmental pollution or urban blight."

Book Sale Will Benefit Library

A book sale to benefit the Novato Library will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. tomorrow at the library.

Thousands of books have been donated to the sale, sponsored by Friends of the Library, according to Carolyn Crabtree, publicity chairman.

A Women's Lib Medal For Pope

"I said all I wanted to say and was amazed and pleased by the Pope's reception of me," Miss Friedan said.

Miss Friedan said she and the Pope began their five-minute conversation by exchanging medallions. He gave her a bronze Vatican emblem. She in turn presented him with the international women's liberation sign—the biological symbol for woman with an equality sign superimposed on top.

"I told him it made a different kind of cross," she said.

Masquerade Ball

Lead Pollution Along Freeways Said Excessive

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Lead pollution alongside freeways "greatly exceeds" state health standards at a sampling of Southern California sites, a freeway pollution study indicated yesterday.

The report, compiled for the state Air Resources Board, said lead levels 300 feet downwind from a freeway were nearly seven times the permissible state level.

"If this level is typical, that site would greatly exceed the California air quality criterion for suspended lead," the University of California at Davis report said.

Compiled by scientists at the university's Crocker Nuclear Laboratory, the report estimated that 37 per cent of the lead in gasoline is emitted into the air as pollution. The same was found to be true of other pollutants, such as sulpher and bromide.

The report concluded that major factors in the concentration of pollution near freeways were weather and the design of the freeway itself. At one site, for example, lead pollution downwind was four times as great as upwind.

Overall, the report concluded that two-thirds of the particulate pollution found near freeways came from vehicle emmissions.

The study was conducted between February and August of last year at four sites along the so-called "42-mile loop" in Southern California, bounded by the Santa Monica, Harbor and San Diego freeways. It cost $110,000.

The study was qualified with the remark, "It is in no way implied that freeways are more polluting per vehicle mile than other roadways, and, in fact, the converse is most likely the case."

California First

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI — Of the 11 western states, only California spent more money on water quality control than Washington in 1972, according to the Washington State Department of Commerce.

Federal Beach Plan Criticized

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interior Department, citing President Nixon's pledge to move government "closer to the people," yesterday opposed a proposed federal program to open more beaches to the public.

Chairman Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., of the House fisheries and wildlife subcommittee, said private development is encroaching on the small number of beaches now open to the public.

Deputy Assistant Secretary Douglas P. Wheeler said the Interior Department agreed but believes the states should do the job of opening more public beaches.

Eckhardt's bill first introduced in 1969 with wide backing in coastal states would set up a legal basis for opening beaches adjacent to private property to the public through a joint federal-state program, with 75 per cent federal financing.

Wheeler said the present Coastal Zone Management Act makes federal funds available to states that want to do the job their own way, making the sweeping Eckhardt bill necessary.

"Why are the states not competent to handle the problem?" Wheeler asked during a lengthy debate with Eckhardt soon after the Texan opened two days of hearings on his bill.

Wheeler cited the President's 1973 "Natural Resources and Environment" message to Congress in which Nixon said "land use policy is a basic responsibility of state and local governments. They are closer to the problems and closer to the people."

Eckhardt countered that except for Texas and Oregon, which have attempted to achieve his bill's goal through state legislation, the states have been slow in doing anything.

Oregon Att. Gen. Lee Johnson, another hearing witness, also opposed the bill. He said it would "superimpose" the departments of Justice and Transportation over his state's own program.

Two Florida House members, Democrats Sam Gibbons and Bill Gunter, testified in favor of the bill and said the proposal is endorsed by Florida Gov. Rubin Askew.

Gibbons said a 1967 study shows that only 1,209 miles, or 2 per cent of the 59,157 miles of United States shoreline is publicly owned — almost half of that by the military.

"By contrast the report shows 19,934 miles, or approximately 86 per cent of the nation's 21,724 miles of recreational shoreline is in private ownership," he added.

Guilty Plea To Role In Slaying

MARTINEZ (UPI) —Paul F. Mumm, 27, a Hell's Angel, pleaded guilty Wednesday in being an accessory to the slaying of two motorcyclists from Georgia in 1971.

Judge Sam Hall set Nov. 13 for sentencing.

The cyclists, Charles Baker and Tom Schull, were killed in the Hell's Angels headquarters in El Sobrante.

William Moran has been sentenced to life in prison for the slaying, and Edward J. Carter has been put on probation. Both are club members.

Winning Lottery Ticket Is Found

ST. CLAIR SHORES, Mich. (UPI) —A St. Clair Shores woman's knack for saving old keepsakes, even if it meant rummaging through garbage cans, turned up a lottery ticket worth at least $10,000.

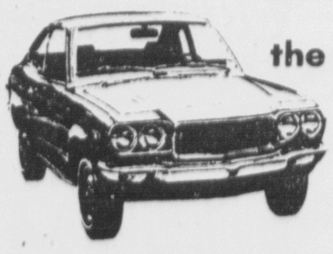

Mrs. Dorothy Lavers yesterday discovered a batch of two-week-old lottery tickets tossed away by her son's friend, Harry Harcourt, 25. One of them was a winner.

"I almost had a heart atack when I saw the numbers," she said. "When we called Harry over and told him, he turned white and we had to pull up a chair for him."

The discarded tickets qualify Harcourt for a chance to win up to $20,000 in the super drawing, with $10,000 already guaranteed.

Rodeo As A Sport, Not Just A 'Show'

He doesn't look big enough to be making his living by wrestling 750-pound steers. But when 5-foot-10, 165-pound Bob Ragsdale jumps from his horse and grabs onto the horns of a running steer, he has the strength to get the job done — and well.

BOB RAGSDALE

Ragsdale is a 37-year-old cowboy from Chowchilla, a little community in the San Joaquin Valley, and is one of the top rodeo athletes among the more than 500 entered in the 1973 Grand National Rodeo, regular season finale in this bruising sport. The rodeo is part of the Grand National which opened a 10-day run today at the Cow Palace.

In addition to being one of the leading money winners on the rodeo circuit, Ragsdale is president of the Rodeo Cowboys Association, governing body which regulates more than 600 rodeos in 44 states and five Canadian provinces. A professional rodeo man for the last 13 years, he had his best season last year when he earned $40,000 in his three events — bulldogging, calf roping and team roping.

But expenses on the rodeo tour don't come cheap. Ragsdale estimates it takes $20,000 per year. After all, there is a lot of travel involved. "I'm in about 90 rodeos a year," said Ragsdale, "and to do that I have to travel 70 to 90 thousand miles on the ground."

RAGSDALE'S MAIN concern is to get rodeo news on the sports pages of the country's newspapers. As Bob says, rodeo men are athletes, not performers. He has a good point. Perhaps it's because too many sports editors (including yours truly) don't know the front end from the back end of a horse. The tendency is to shove the rodeo news to the city desk so at least the stories find a place on one of the inside pages.

"In the past, rodeos have been sold to the public as events, no different than circuses," said Ragsdale. "We're trying to change this. We want to give the top rodeo athletes — and we are athletes — some identity." In this way, he explained, rodeo fans could look forward to seeing certain stars and a following could grow, as happens in other sports. "I hate the word, 'show,' used when someone is talking about a rodeo. It's competition. For 36 years it was left up to the promoters to sell ourselves as persons."

RAGSDALE HAS BEEN runner-up for the national all-around rodeo title twice, in the top 10 of calf roping each of his 13 years as a pro, and in the top 10 of steer wrestling five times. He has suffered serious injury only twice, a broken arm a few years ago and then a deep gash when he was gored in the groin by a steer last June during a rodeo in Novato. He was out of bulldogging for three months with that wound and lost his chance at winning the overall title.

To Ragsdale and many of his colleagues, the most dangerous part of the rodeo circuit is the travel. They would rather be in the arena with a bucking bronco or try to bring down a steer than be out on the highway.

Marries and the father of twin girls 15 and another daughter, 12, Ragsdale admits to being among the lightest steer wrestlers in the ranks, most of his competition coming from cowboys 190 to 250 pounds.

"BUT I'VE ALWAYS had pretty good strength. I guess it comes from all the work I used to do back home in Montana on the ranch — wood chopping and things like that."

He said rodeo men who stuck to steer wrestling and calf roping have a longer career span than those who make their living riding bucking broncs or brahma bulls. "That's a lot of punishment to the body," he declared. "Those guys who ride are usually in their 20s."

He is optimistic the sport of rodeo will make the sports sections of the country's newspapers and points out that television is showing an interest and some colleges are offering athletic scholarships for rodeo hopefuls.

Ragsdale and other cowboys like him are not performers. They are athletes. Welcome to the sports section, Bob.

Williams Counts On 'Good Relationship'

RIVIERA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Former Oakland Manager Dick Williams said yesterday he hoped that his "good relationship" with Athletics owner Charles O. Finley would help resolve the current squabble over his job status.

Williams said he hoped Finley would clarify his statement of Wednesday that he would not release the world champion manager for the remaining two years left in his three-year contract unless he was "handsomely" compensated by the New York Yankees.

Williams, who resigned from his job last week after the last game of the World Series, said he had waited last night for a telephone call from Finley, but Finley had not called.

Williams has been rumored as first in line for the job of departing Yankees' Manager Ralph Houk, who also is in the middle of a contractual hassle.

"I thought we had the matter resolved under what I felt was a good relationship with Finley over the years," Williams told United Press International from his home here.

According to Williams, Finley had indicated he would allow the Yankees to talk to the

Last Season For Brodie; Steve Starts

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— John Brodie yesterday announced his retirement as quarterback of the San Francisco 49ers but Coach Dick Nolan denied that Brodie's announcement had anything to do with switching Steve Spurrier to the starting position against Atlanta on Sunday.

Brodie, who has played with the 49ers for all of his 17 years in pro football, said he would complete the current season and then retire to pursue other interests, incuding directing an antiddrug program and continuing his study of scientology.

Nolan, who announced only three hours earlier that Spurrier would start Sunday, said, "The situation is the same. I have two No. 1 quarterbacks and another good one in Joe Reed."

The 38-year-old Brodie, who led San Francisco to division titles the past three years in the National Football Conference West, said he earlier discussed the situation with Nolan.

"I believe I can still play the game effectively but I just think this is a good time to make an announcement," Brodie said.

The 6-foot-1, 203-pound Brodie joined the 49ers in 1957 as a No. 1 draft choice from Stanford. Since that time he has completed 2,428 career passes to rank fourth among pro quarterbacks. He has also rolled up 31,134 yards. He won All-Pro honors in 1965 and 1970.

"I expect John to be on the field a lot of the time during the rest of the season," Nolan said. "He has done as good a job as anybody could do. We are losing a great quarterback."

Red Sox Deal Smith To Cards

BOSTON (UPI) —The Boston Red Sox today traded outfielder Reggie Smith and relief pitcher Ken Tatum to the St. Louis Cardinals for righthanded pitcher Rick Wise and outfielder Bernie Carbo.

The trade had been highly publicized in the past week but was made official with today's announcement.

Smith, 28, hit .303 in 115 games this year. He has lifetime average of .281 with 149 homers.

Wise, 28, was 16-12 with a 3.37 earned run average this past season and in two years with the Cardinals, he had a 32-28 record. He pitched seven years with the Philadelphia Phillies before being traded to the Cardinals in 1971 for pitcher Steve Carlton.

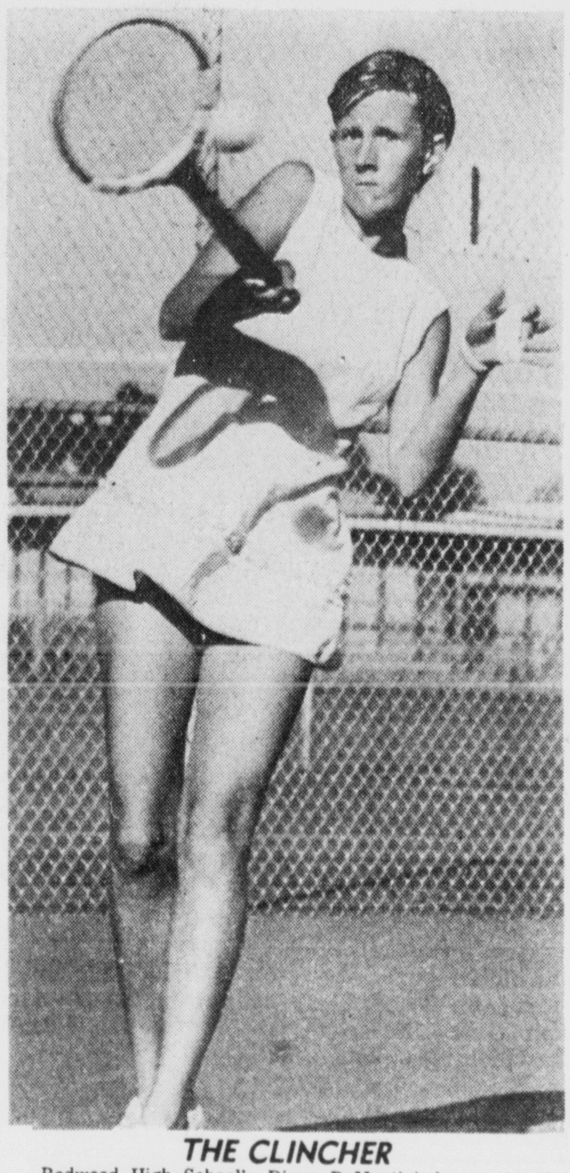

TERRA LINDA MAN BOWLS A PERFECTO

Rick Posusney gave up bowling for a four-year stretch once, but you would never have guessed it if you had watched him last night turn in a perfect 300 game.

Posusney rolled a 300 in the third game of his series in the 680 Mixed Scratch league at Country Club Bowl in San Rafael. Combined with earlier games of 183 and 196, it gave him a 679 series.

"I quit bowling for four years when I went into the Navy," said the 23-year-old Terra Linda baker, "and I didn't start again until last summer, after I had been out of the service for about a year."

Posusney's best previous league game was a 278, "though I bowled a 300 once outside of league." Since taking up the game again, his best was 255 before last night.

THE CLINCHER

Redwood High School's Diane DeMartini demonstrated the strokes which led her to a 10-3 pro set victory over Marin Catholic's Katy Muldoon in No. 2 singles yesterday. Redwood finished its third straight undefeated championship season in girls tennis and captured its 27th consecutive victory with a 4-1 triumph over visiting Marin Catholic, losing only No. 1 singles to undefeated Lisa Beritzhoff.

Drake Gridders Visit San Rafael

The same image appears in Drake High School's sweetest dreams and San Rafael's dark est nightmares — the sight of a football lying alone on the ground, and a shocked ball carrier yelling "Oh, no" to himself.

The demon Fumble will be on the minds of the Pirates and Bulldogs as they meet tonight at 8 o'clock in a Marin County Athletic League football game at San Rafael.

Part of the reason that Drake is a surprising, undefeated 2-0 in the MCAL is the fact that Pirate opponents have fumbled 21 times in those two games, losing 10. "We like to think we cause a few of those with our hitting, especially with the helmet," said Drake coach Dean Lazzarini.

Part of the reason San Rafael is 1-2 is a tendency to bobble. Fumbles cost the Bulldogs one touchdown directly and set up the other two in a 21-16 loss to Terra Linda last week.

San Rafael leads the league in total offense (248 yards a game) and Lazzarini says, "Talent-wise, they are the best in the league offensively. What worries me is that they may put it all together against us."

Drake was upset last weekend in a non-league game by Marin Catholic, 14-10, but Lazz says his players "have reacted well in practice — it's like they didn't play last week."

Lazzarini has moved linebacker George Pedersen to nose (middle) guard and inserted John Cook at linebacker. San Rafael coach Bob Muster has put Mike Farris at free safety, moved Dave Steele to strong safety, shifted Nelson Moore to X (split) end and John Munson to defensive end. Both teams are healthy.

Drake: (Offense) SE Matt Elliott, LT Cliff Koch, LG Pete Lavaroni, C Warren Pino, RG George Pedersen, RT Craig Marquis, TE Corky Ingraham, QB Terry Fahey, RB Ross Perry, RB Henry Kremer, WB Mike Willis. (Defense) LE Dan Trimble, LT John Segale, MG Pedersen, RT Bill Slaby, RE Kent Hauge, LLB Ingraham, RLB John Cooke, LC Dave Foti, RC Perry, FS Rick Herbert, SS Gary Shankman.

Reds Sign 'Finest Manager' Anderson

CINCINNATI (UPI) —Calling him the "finest manager in baseball," Cincinnati Reds President Bob Howsam today announced that Sparky Anderson had signed a new contract to manage the club through the 1975 season.

Anderson has led the Reds to three National League Western Division titles and two league championships in his four years of running the club.

Anderson had just completed the first year of a two-year contract but that has now been replaced with the new pact.

"It gives me great pleasure to reward Sparky with a new contract," Howsam said. "We feel he's the finest manager in baseball and he proved it again this season the way he brought the team through to another championship despite injuries to so many key players."

Anderson said he was happy with the expression of confidence.

"The thing that makes me feel so good about this is that I was in the middle of a contract and so I wasn't even thinking about a new one," he said. "It's nice to know the front office is happy with what we've been doing and the way we do it."

Howsam also announced that Anderson's entire coaching staff has been rehired for next season.

Anderson put together his staff of Alex Grammas, Ted Kluszewski, George Scherger and Larry Shepard when he first arrived in Cincinnati prior to the 1970 season and it has remained intact.

Anderson's teams won the Western Division and National League titles in 1970 and 1972. After taking the division title again this year, the Reds were beaten by the New York Mets in five games in the National League playoffs.

"I'm sure our fans will be happy to hewr that Sparky is under contract for another two years," added Howsam. "We're looking forward to another exciting season in 1974."

Warriors In Seattle Versus Sonics Tonight

SEATTLE (AP) — The Golden State Warriors will go after the Seattle SuperSonics in a National Basketball Association game here tonight at 8 o'clock.

The Warriors are tied for second place, one game behind Los Angeles, in the NBA's Pacific Division while the Sonics are in third place, 2½ games out.

Golden State won its last game 121-109 over the Phoenix Suns, mostly on a last-quarter surge by Cazzie Russell who scored 19 of his 27 points then.

This time, the Warriors have a Russell going against them — Sonics head coach Bill Russell. The Warriors also face a former teammate, Mahdi Abdul Rahman, who was traded to Seattle last summer.

Young Caldwell To Giants For McCovey

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It's all over for Willie McCovey and the San Francisco Giants.

McCovey's mighty bat will no longer terrorize Giants' foes but will be still in action—for the San Diego Padres.

The 35-year-old McCovey, who has been bothered with arthritic knees the past couple of years, yesterday was traded to the Padres for left handed pitcher Mike Caldwell, 24, a fast-ball specialist. The Giants also gave up Bernie Williams, a .313 hitter with their Phoenix farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

McCovey, a 6-foot-4 slugger whose booming drives amazed fans because of their distance, began his National League career with San Francisco 14 years ago. The only time he was not in a Giants' uniform was when he performed a brief stint with Tacoma in the PCL early in his career.

"McCovey has given the Giants a great many years of service," San Francisco Manager Charlie Fox said in Casa Grande, Ariz., where he was playing in a golf tournament, "but there comes a time when you have to give way to the young people."

WILLIE McCOVEY
To Padres

But the likeable Willie doesn't feel that his days are over.

"I'm just 35 and I can still play three or four more years on the field," McCovey said. "I feel in pretty good shape and stay in good shape."

Besides, he said, the warmer weather in San Diego will probably be better for his legs. And, he added, San Diego has promised him a hefty pay hike. "I'm over $100,000 but I'm not going to say how far," he said.

Padre General Manager Peter Bavasi said McCovey was one of the "premier power hitters in baseball." Coupled with the might of Nate Colbert, he added, the Padres will have "as potent an offense as we could hope to have."

Caldwell's win-loss record is 13-25. He began his big league career in 1971.

"Caldwell can be used as either a starter or in long or short relief," Fox said noting the he has a pretty good sinking fastball.

In the spring, the manager said, Caldwell will begin as a starter. "From all our reports," Fox added, "he's got great poise and shows great promise."

CRUCIAL GAME

League-Leading Redwood Seeks To Hurdle Novato

There are a few other complications in the tangled race this year, but Redwood and Novato high schools are ignoring them for the moment, and approaching tomorrow's football game as if the title were at stake.

The Marin County Athletic League rivals will collide at 2 p.m. at Tamalpais High and Novato coach Al Scott asserts, "If Redwood beats us, they will have won the championship."

Redwood (3-0) enters the game with a difficult decision to make. Led by halfback Mark Richter, the Giants have the MCAL's best running attack (177 yards a game)). "I would be very happy," Scott said, "if Redwood tries to prove how tough they are by running against us."

On the other hand, Novato has given up more yardage passing (137 per game) than any MCAL team, which must suggest something to Redwood coach Phil Roark. "I think we can pass on them," he says, "but I think we can run on them, too. We did last year" in a 20-14 victory.

Novato (1-1) must play without fullback Mark Lipe, who cracked a kneecap in a 28-0 victory over Tamalpais last week. "You don't 'replace' a player of Mark Lipe's caliber," said Scott. Les Nicolini will start at fullback, with Mark Magers, Mark Reagan and Ken Ferrari bidding for the two halfback spots.

Redwood may have to do without fullback Bill Edralin (knee), a blow made more severe because backup man Mickey Robinson broke his foot in a 26-22, come-from-behind victory over San Marin last week.

Redwood will have nine starters going both ways, but the overworked Giants have been exceptionally strong in the fourth quarter all year, winning their last two MCAL games in the final minute.

Pacific-8 Race Is Up In Air

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

If UCLA, Washington and Washington State win their respective Pac 8 games tomorrow, there could be only two teams —the Bruins and Southern California —left in the league race by next week.

UCLA, 2-0 in the league, is a 27-point favorite over California, 2-1, while Washington, 0-3, is a nine-point underdog to Oregon, 1-1, and Washington State 0-2, is anywhere from a two point favorite to a three point underdog to Stanford, 1-1.

Southern Cal, which leads the race with a 3-0 record, plays outside the Conference this week —against Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind., while Oregon State, 1-2, also is in a non-league tussle — against Arizona State.

If California, Oregon and Stanford should win, though, the Pac 8 standings will tighten up considerably and leave as many as five teams with a chance for the title and Rose Bowl berth that goes with it.

California is in deep against UCLA's explosive Wishbone. The Golden Bears have a pretty good offense of their own but stopping UCLA's seems a little too much to ask of the young Bears, who rank last in total defense.

"If I knew how to stop the Wishbone I'd tell you about it," said Cal coach Mike White, "but I don't. I don't know if anyone can stop it. As for my guys, we'll give it our very best and hope it's good enough."

Washington goes to Eugene for its traditional against Oregon off a loss to Stanford, while the Ducks, despite a 31-10 loss to USC last week, feel they have a good chance for the league title.

"I like our chances as much as anyone's," said Oregon coach Dick Enright. "We're a young team getting better every week. I wouldn't be surprised if we went undefeated the rest of the way."

Washington State, beaten by USSC and UCLA on successive Saturdays, is about the best 1-5 team in the nation, according to Stanford coach Jack Christiansen.

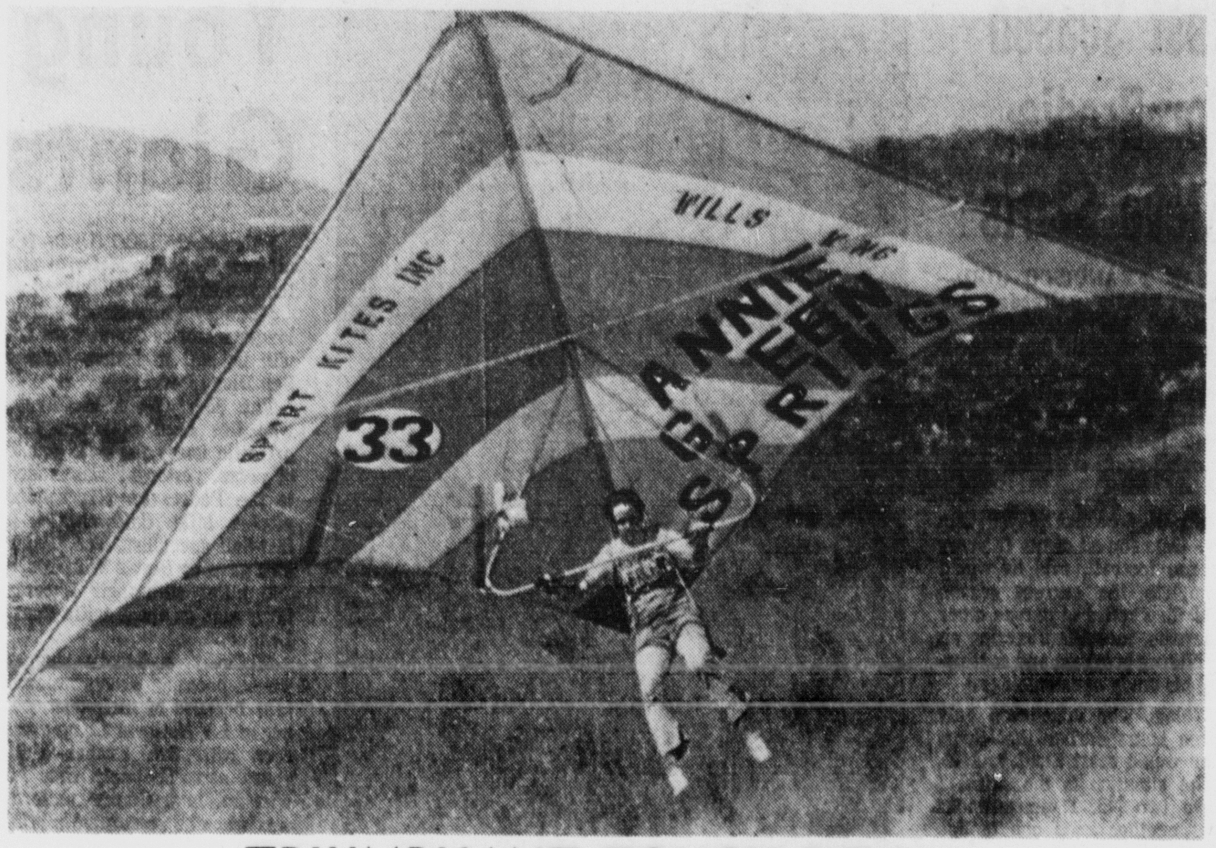

"The Cougars are tough, make no mistake about it," said Christiansen. "They played five tough teams in their first six games and never once did anyone embarrass them."

Stanford, which played almost as tough a first half schedule, is banking on a budding running game and the league's best pass defense to stop the Cougars and get into the league race.

"I feel we haven't played our best game yet," said Christiansen. "Maybe, this could be the week."

Both USC and Oregon State are underdogs in their non-league games. Notre Dame is picked by four over the Trojans and Arizona State by 15 over the Beavers.

All the Pacific Coast Athletic Association schools play outside games this week with San Jose State hosting New Mexico and San Diego State at home to Florida State in the big ones. Otherwise, its Santa Clara at Pacific, Riverside at Long Beach State, Fresno State at Cal Poly SLO and US International at Los Angeles State.

TRIUMPHANT TOUCH-DOWN

It is not known if UCLA medical student Chris Wills sold his suits and pawned his watches to buy this delta-wing hang glider, but wherever he got it, it was good enough to let him win the first Annie Green Springs National Hang Glider Championships, held yesterday over the San Fernando Valley. Competitors were graded on maneuvers, flight duration and landing after taking off from a spot 1,300 feet above the valley floor, and Wills compiled 1,774 of a possible 2,000 points.

GOLF NOTES

Frazer Keeps His Meadow Club Title

Defending champion George Frazer Sunday retained his Meadow Club men's golf championship by defeating Luke Helms, 5 and 4, in a scheduled 36-hole tournament.

Frazer, who has won the crown nine times including the last three years, said: "I'm happy to win it for the older folks. The youth will have to wait until next year." The semi-retired real estate broker claimed he is "a young 55." Helms, playing in the finals for the first time, is 29.

Forty-eight golfers started Oct. 6 in a match play elimination. Al Quilici took first flight honors by ousting Ed Martens, 3 and 2, in the finals Sunday, while John Morris eliminated Hodge Davidson, 2 and 1, in the second flight finale.

WAYNE WALLICK, San Geronimo National Golf Club pro, Saturday missed the cut in the Club Professional Championship at Pinehurst, N.C. "My putting deserted me," said Wallick regarding his 236 total.

NHL Flames To Visit Seals Tonight At 8

OAKLAND (UPI) — Coach Fred Glover will be more than happy if his California Golden Seals can match their last performance when they take the Coliseum Arena ice tonight at 8 o'clock against the Atlanta Flames.

California downed Detroit 7-3 Wednesday with Gary Croteau scoring a three-goal hat trick and Joey Johnston making it a club record six goals in as many games.

The strange thing is that Detroit goalie Doug Grant made some epic saves and the Seals should have won even bigger after what Glover termed "their best skating of the year."

The crowded National Hockey League West standings have to be seen to be believed with front-running Philadelphia at 4-2 and seventh place St. Louis at almost-asgood 2-3-1. In the mob of teams in between are the Seals and Flames, both of whom have 3-3 records.

Novato Captures Girls Swim Meet

League-leading Novato High School (4-0) defeated visiting Terra Linda (2-2) yesterday, 60-53, in a girls swimming meet, as Sue King and Sharon Payne won two events and a relay apiece and Laura Griffin won one and a relay.

In another meet, visiting Drake (3-1) topped San Rafael, 67-45, behind three victories by Patti Furrier and two each by Tammy Secondo and Jane Cann. Julie Waters won twice for San Rafael.

Three Share Sahara Golf Tourney Lead

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Good weather produced a raft of good scores in the first round of the 72-hole, $135,000 Sahara Invitational and the pressure to make the cut becomes acute today in the second round.

With the temperature in the mid-70s and virtually no wind to whip up the Sahara-Nevada Country Club course, three pros shot six-under-par 65 in the first round yesterday to tie for the lead.

First round leaders were two veterans, Homero Blancas, Houston, with 34-31, and 44-year-old Dow Finsterwald, Colorado Springs, Colo., 34-31, and 25-year-old Allen Miller, Pensacola, Fla., 32-33.

Finsterwald, who won the National PGA crown back in 1958, had eight birdies and two bogeys on his card. Blancas, 35, and Miller had six birds and all the rest pars.

Par of 36-35—71 was equaled by 18 of the golfers in the starting field of 144 but what was more remarkable was that 27 were under par.

Two strokes back of the leaders were three pros at 67— Lou Graham, Bruce Fleisher and Ben Kern.

There were four at 68— Leonard Thompson, Bob Menne, John Mahaffey and Jim Ferriell. And six at 69—John Schroeder, Steve Melnykn Fred Marti, Art Wall, Ken Still and Bob E. Smith.

More good weather was forecast for the remainder of the four-day tournament. At the end of today's second round, the field was to be cut to the low 70s and ties.

Arnold Palmer, the only really big name here, sneaked in at par with 35-36. He needed an eagle three on the 535-yard fifth hole to make it.

Defending champion Lanny Wadkins, rusty after a week's layoff while his wife had a baby, could do no better than 37-38—75, four over. Napa's Ron Cerrudo also carded a 75.

PRO FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Bengals Win Over Steelers Could Make 3-Way Loop Tie

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

There could be an awful logjam in the American Football Conference Central Division come Sunday night.

The Pittsburgh Steelers lead the division with a 5-1 record but the Cincinnati Bengals and the Cleveland Browns are right behind at 4-2. Pittsburgh Sunday plays host to the Bengals, the only team to beat the Steelers this season, while Cleveland is heavily favored over San Diego.

Should the Bengals repeat with another upset of the Steelers and the Browns beat the Chargers, the Central Division would have a three-way tie for first entering the second half of the season.

The same might be true in the AFC West, but it'll be Monday night before that can happen.

Kansas City and Oakland are tied for the lead with 3-2-1 records and Denver is close behind at 2-3-1. Oakland is heavily favored over Baltimore and Denver is picked to beat the New York Jets. Kansas City takes on Buffalo Monday night.

Should Denver beat the Jets and both Oakland and Kansas City become upset victims, that race also would turn into a three-way tie.

The most publicized game Sunday may not be the most important. That'll be in Bloomington, Minn., where the Vikings take on the Los Angeles Rams in a battle of undefeated teams. But all that's really at stake is an unbeaten record. Both clubs own three-game leads in their divisions and a loss wouldn't really hurt that much.

In other National Football League action Sunday, Green Bay is at Detroit, Miami at New England, Washington at New Orleans, Atlanta at San Francisco, Dallas at Philadelphia, the New York Giants at St. Louis and Houston at Chicago.

Terry Bradshaw has had problems running the Pitsburgh offense and was pulled in favor of Terry Hanratty, who engineered the winning touchdown in a victory over the Jets last week. Bradshaw had given the Steelers only one TD in their last nine quarters but will start Sunday.

Franco Harris, apparently over his knee problems, ran for 102 yards against the Jets. Cincinnati, which used a ball-control game to beat the Steelers two weeks ago, may be without All Pro defensive tackle Mike Reid, out with an injury.

Minnesota and Los Angeles match up extremely well. Both have high-powered offenses and have been awesome on defense.

Ali Exhibition Is Called Off: A Lack Of Interest

HONG KONG (UPI) —An exhibition match featuring former heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali, the American fighter whose appearances once drew thousands of fans, was cancelled because of lack of interest, his promoters said today.

"There's no way the fight can go on. It's got to be called off," said a spokesman for his promoters, Messrs Vortex International Promotions (Far East) Ltd. He said only 120 tickets in the 14,000-seat statium had been sold by Thursday.

"Having brought the world's most colorful and talented boxer to Southeast Asia, I am totally stunned at the response shown by the public both here and elsewhere in Asia," the spokesman said.

Hong Kong newspapers said the cancellation of tomorrow's fight will cost the organizers at least $36,000, mainly in advertising expenses.

One newspaper said Ali will still come to Hong Kong either tonight or tomorrow morning despite the cancellation.

On Wednesday, only 2,000 fans showed up for an exhibition match in Singapore where Ali boxed two rounds with one of his sparring partners, Orlando Johnson and three rounds with the other, Tony Doyle.

The biggest crowd Ali has drawn during his Southeast Asia trip was in Suribayah, Indonesia, where he fought a 10 round exhibition. More than 30,000 fans showed up.

former A's manager about a job.

"He's never gone back on his word before, but if he's not giving permission, it seems like he is now," Williams said.

Meanwhile, the Yankees have asked the American League for a ruling on whether Houk's decision to quit violated a contractual arrangement with them. Joe Cronin, outgoing president of the league, said his office would investigate. Houk, who has a long-term contract similar to Williams', announced he was quitting to become manager of the Detroit Tigers.

Finley told Williams Wednesday morning that he refused permission for Yankee owner George Steinbrenner to talk to him about a job.

Williams repeated his contention that he has never been in direct contact with the Yankees about a job, but he has said publicly that he would like to replace Houk as New York manager.

Williams said he had quit the A's to get "closer to his family" and he had no intention of returning to his job in Oakland.

Cubs' Jenkins Sent To Texas

Combined AP & UPI

CHICAGO — The Chicago Cubs weren't taking any chances with a bitter Ferguson Jenkins, 30.

"They didn't want anybody to come back and haunt them," Jenkins said.

And so the Cubs made sure the six-time, 20-game winner, who begged to be traded when the fans turned on him this season, was out of striking distance. They dealt him yesterday to the Texas Rangers of the American League as interleague trading opened.

BRISBANE, Australia — Jerry Breaux led fellow American J. C. Snead and Guy Wolstenholme by two strokes today after the second round of the Quantas Australian Open Golf Match. Playing at the Queensland Golf Club, Breaux added a one under par 71 to his opening 67 for a 138 total at the halfway mark of the $37,500 tournament.

NAGOYA, Japan — Masashi (Jumbo) Ozaki fired a seven-under-par 65 today and took a three-stroke lead with an eight under par 136 in the second round of the $125,000 Tokai Classic International Open Golf Tournament.

Lee Trevino, who had a 73 for a 28th place tie yesterday, putted better today and shot a four-under-par 68 without a single bogey to climb into an eighth place tie with Hahn Chang Sang of South Korea and Japanese pro Hiroshi Ishii with a three-under-par 141.

Hockey

BOSTON — The Boston Bruins yesterday acquired defenseman Darryl Edestrand from the Pittsburgh Penguins for defenseman Nick Beverley.

Horse Racing

TORONTO — Triple Crown winner Secretariat will race for the final time Sunday in the $125,000-Added Canadian International Championships Stakes at Woodbine Race Track but will not be ridden by regular jockey Ron Turcotte, who was set down for five days by the New York Racing Commission yesterday. Secretariat will be ridden by Eddie Maple.

Football

FOXBORO, Mass. — Rookie running back Mack Herron, who leads the New England Patriots in kickoff and punt returns, rejoined the National Football League club today after being fined $1,000 in Canada for possession of marijuana and cocaine.

Florida State Grid Rhubarb Intensifies

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—The managing editor of the St. Petersburg Times yesterday accused Florida State University of trying to set up a "confrontation of truth" over charges of brutality in the university's football program. It is most unfortunate that Florida State has chosen to set up a confrontation of truth between the university and the St. Petersburg Times, for that is a fallacious construction. If there is a test of credibility to be made, the litmus should be applied to the players," said Robert Haiman.

Haimans comments came in reaction to an investigation by former Florida Gov. Leroy Collins into charges published during an investigative series last June by Times sports writer Fred Girard.

The series of articles was based on interviews with 22 players who claimed they had either quit or were dropped from the football program at FSU because of a "brutal" preseason training course, which involved the use of chicken-wire screens.

FSU President Stanley Marshall hired Collins to check the charges and in a report released yesterday, Collins said he found no evidence of brutality.

"We found no support for assertions that the course was 'dehumanizing' or 'animalistic,' neither did we find anyone who ever saw a coach 'strike' a player, as that term is usually understood, nor any support for the charge that a coach had as a goal the 'running off' of players," Collins said.

Haiman said the St. Petersburg Times would continue to stand by the series.

The Hunt Ends, Sans Bagged Bucks

Monday, being the last day of deer season, we gave it one last hopeful go. We were just about on top of one of the high mountains here when it started to rain and blow. It was really cold. We hadn't dressed for this, because the morning radio news from Alturas had predicted warmed weather and sunshine. It took us about two hours to hike off that peak. So we closed the season with no bucks for our family after a Northern season's hunt. This had never happened to us before.

After getting back to camp, a new weather report predicted rain and snow, so we made some camp preparations. Oh, things weren't too bad. We have been through this before. We were using Howard Leach's tent which is about 14 by 20 feet. It has space for a sheepherder's stove, and we had put the tent up around one of those large Forest Service tables. There is also room for double sleeping bags and two folding chairs for extra comfort. We also keep a Coleman gas stove at one end of the table. With two lanterns going and the two stoves for cooking and heating, it's just like home. The main thing is to set the tent up so that no wind, can blow the tent away. That happened once a long time ago to us, so we learned that lesson the hard way.

I'm happy to say that everything stood up, and we got up Tuesday with about two-inches of snow surrounding us. Lots of people panic at the first snow — they feel they are about to be snowed in for the winter. Not so! By noon, most of the snow was already melting away. The morning radio report predicted clearing by Wednesday. This is usually the pattern of each year's first snow.

In the afternoon, when things were almost dry, we broke camp of everything except a good woodpile, the sheepherder's stove and the tent. We also left enough for another meal or so when we returned. We left the tent so that it would dry out before storing. This prevents rotting of the canvas. We'll light the stove up once more to be sure the tent is thoroughly dry.

I had to do this several years ago, and when I returned to get the tent, a new group had camped nearby. You could see where they had walked around and around the tent wondering if someone was in there. Their curiosity finally got the best of them and they finally looked inside. It was pretty funny, because we did have a buck hanging in there that year, which added much to their consternation. This year the cupboard is bare!

We came to Litchfield because we needed a few of life's comforts. You can't imagine how good a hot shower and a shave can feel, especially after those mountain baths.

We just bought a newspaper. The first thing we read is the Richard Testa of the Woodacre Fire House Gang found the Boy Scout patrol at Kent Lake, lost since Saturday. Lost in Marin County? Impossible! Of course the feats of Richard Nixon keep even camp life from becoming dull.

Wednesday, being here in Litchfield, which is just a few miles from the Honey Lake Wildlife Refuge, we planned on a duck and goose shoot. Hardly anybody is expected to be there, so we may get a good shoot.

Yesterday and today, we were to scout out some other duck areas, and attempt to locate some chukars for the opening tomorrow. At night we'll head for Reno, and Sunday morning, we'll head for home.

THE RECENT rains which you have had should move the sharks and crabs out of San Pablo Bay, so the sturgeon fishing will begin to pick up.

The salmon and steelhead will begin to really show in Tomales Bay and the tidewaters of Papermill Creek. In fact, the salmon are probably there right now. The storm here will be moving new flights of ducks and geese down too. Things just keep moving along, no matter what!

See you Sunday.

Fishing Locally Is Good

A combination of big tides and recent rains has sent both bass and sturgeon on the prowl in the bay waters.

"The fishing just couldn't be much better," reported Bill Franchini at the Loch Lomond Live Bait and Tackle Shop.

Many boats are returning with at least one sturgeon while almost all anglers have been bragging about easy limits of striped bass in the eight to 18-pound class.

Most of the sturgeon have been fooled by shrimp bait while the trollers and live bait drifters have had equal success in the bass department.

An added bonus for the bait fishermen has been the sudden arrival of flounders in quantity in the bay.

As a sample of the bass activity, Rex Morgan and a party of four and Ted Jauto and a party of two all limited in less than two hours Tuesday in the Red Rock area.

But as well as the drifters, trollers and bait fishermen have been doing the last few days, the ones who have been really "killing the bass" are the bullhead anglers, reported Franchini.

Best spots for using bullheads have been China Camp and the shallow area around the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge, both on the outgoing tide.

INNSBRUCK, Austria (UPI) — When Denver had to withdraw as host city for the 1976 winter Olympics because of lack of funds, the games quickly were awarded to this 740-year-old city in the Alps. Innsbruck staged the 1964 Olympics and, for the most part, will run 1976 events on existing facilities.

San Marin Vs. Tam Tomorrow

Bob Martin is a frustrated man. When he tells his San Marin High School football team, "Fellas, we need a miracle," the Mustangs always give him one, but they still lose.

Thus, Martin will settle for an ordinary, run-of-the-mill victory tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. when Tamalpais High meets San Marin at Novato High in a clash of the Marin County Athletic League's two remaining winless teams.

San Marin (0-3) rallied in the fourth quarter of its first two losses, but was too late and lost each game by a touchdown. Last week, the Mustangs fashioned their miracle too early in the last period, giving Redwood time to retaliate for a 26-22 victory.

"We will have to gang-tackle," said Martin, remembering that Tam fullback Fred Adams gained over 100 yards last year as the Indians upset San Marin, 36-22.

"We feel we can beat them if we just limit our mistakes," said Tam coach Jess Racines. "Missed assignments have been a problem. We feel we are a tough hitting team." Tam (0-2) lost to Novato last week, 28-0.

Both teams will be healthy for the game. San Marin's George Saunders has a bruised leg and will not see defensive duty, but will be available for kicking.

Tamalpais: (Offense) LE John Hanley, LT Rob Michaelson, RG Ray Bell, C Tom Hunt, RG Ray Snell, RT Dan Morgan, RE Mike Lamb, QB Mark Davis, WB Ken Praszker, HB Kevin Murphy, FB Fred Adams. (Defense) LE Alvin Hall, LT Michaelson, MG Snell, RT Tom Silewicz, RE Hunt, LLB Bob Praszker, MLB Curt Campbell, RLB K. Praszker, LCB Thomas Roberts or Rodney Williams, RCB Hanley, S Michael Evans.

Marin Catholic Vs. Casa Grande Team

Marin Catholic High School, coming off what coach Bruno Banducci called "a great victory" last week, will battle Casa Grande of Petaluma tonight at 8 o'clock at Durst Field in Petaluma.

The Wildcats stunned Marin County Athletic League co-leader Drake, 14-10, for their second straight triumph, raising their football season record to 2-2-1.

Casa Grande is fielding its first varsity football team, but the Gauchos had an unbeaten junior varsity squad last year, and have played respectably this season. They are 2-3, and last week beat Menlo School of Menlo Park, 28-25.

Marin Catholic will be healthy for the game, except for running back Jeff Reusche, who re-aggravated a knee injury and is a doubtful starter. Receiver Rich Speidel remains out, but the cast will come off his broken arm next week, Banducci said.

The 'Cats will be smaller than their opponents, which they are used to by now. "We can play most teams up front, though," said Banducci, citing the play of tackles Jim Schneider (who got the game ball in the Drake victory) and Brian McCarthy in clearing holes for runners Jeff Knotts and Steve Lombardi, both of whom were outstanding against Drake, Banducci said.

Players Preparing To Strike In NFL

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "I wouldn't say a strike is imminent, but we're preparing as if there will be one," an official of the National Football League Players' Association said yesterday.

Association Executive Director Ed Garvey said pro football will be faced with a strike next season unless club owners take the association's demands seriously.

Garvey, who was in St. Louis on a tour of all 26 NFL teams, said a player survey indicated three problem areas in relations between the players and club owners.

He said they were the length of and payment for the exhibition season, removal or retention of NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle as arbitrator and the player pension fund.

"After our convention in March we started talking freedom for the players," Garvey said.

"If they can get the freedom to negotiate good contracts, other priorities would probably be changed. With that freedom, the pension issue would begin to take care of itself," he said.

Terra Linda On Road In Football

The Sonoma High School Dragons may not have much fang and fire on offense, but their defense will be waiting with sharpened claws, Terra Linda coach Don Lucas feels.

Sonoma (1-4) has not scored many touchdowns since knighthood was in flower, or so it seems, losing last week to El Molino of Forestville, 14-8, and the week before to Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park, 35-0.

"Both of El Molino's touchdowns came when they ran back fumbles," said Lucas. "Their (Sonoma's) defense didn't give up a score.

Terra Linda, 3-3 overall and winner of three of its last four games, will field a team recognizable only by its blue and gold uniforms. Injuries have eliminated such familiar names as linebacker Larry Buttner (back), tackle Dave Pulver (ankle sprain), linebacker Jon Kagleas (neck), and running back Cam Leith (sprained shoulder), who also missed last week's 21-16 victory over San Rafael.

Replacements will be Doug Scollon for Pulver, Kent Yamagata for Kagleas and Mike Hobson for Buttner. Dick LaBarthe and Mike Kirby, both slightly injured, will play in Leith's spot.

Retired Jerseys

CANTON, Ohio (UPI) — Officials at pro football's Hall of Fame say a total of 57 football uniform jersey numbers have been "retired" officially or unofficially by the 26 National Football League teams and will not be worn by another player on those teams.

No Revenge For Raiders' Bubba

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Bubba Smith says he won't be looking for revenge when the Oakland Raiders come to Memorial Stadium as nine-point favorites over the Colts Sunday.

But former teammate Dennis Nelson knows he still faces a tough line battle across from the 6-foot-8, 266-pound Smith.

"Bubba taught me how to stop the rush of good defensive linemen and I know that if I could block him I could block anyone in pro football," said the offensive right tackle. "He (Bubba) was, and in my mind, is the best in the league and I expect him to be the best, especially against us this Sunday."

Smith was dealt to Oakland in July for tight end Raymond Chester. He loudly asked for a trade last January when general manager Joe Thomas cleaned house of Johnny Unitas, Tom Matte, Bill Curry and other starting veterans.

He got the trade when Oakland scouts were satisfied an injured knee was well mended.

Bubba insists he doesn't have revenge in mind for anything that happened in Baltimore. He speaks, rather, of respect.

"I left Baltimore with a lot of respect for Baltimore and the fans," Smith said. "The town was always good to me. Thomas is a newcomer and I don't think he typifies Baltimore. I just hope the fans' reception for me isn't negative."

Baltimore, 2-4, leads the series with Oakland 2-0 with wins in 1970 and 1971. The Raiders are 3-2-1 this season coming off a 23-23 tie with Denver Monday night.

Marty Domres is back at starting quarterback for the Colts after a strong performance in the 29-27 win over Detroit last weekend. He was benched for the first five games in favor of rookie Bert Jones who showed he needed more work.

"I never doubted myself," said Domres. "I knew I was a starting quarterback capable of winning in the National Football League."

Nelson said it was Smith's work with him after the Colts' practices that helped him to become a regular.

QB Stabler Listed As Probable

OAKLAND (UPI) — Kenny Stabler's leg is hurting, but he'll still probably open at quarterback Sunday when the Oakland Raiders call on Baltimore.

Stabler became the American Football Conference's top passer Monday night with a 300-yard plus performance at Denver but he also banged up his right leg in the rough contest, which saw the Broncos sack him six times.

"We don't know for sure, but he'll probably be okay," says a hopeful coach John Madden.

Strong safety George Atkinson, who suffered a concussion, is listed as "probable" for the Colts and tackle Bob Brown, who has been bothered with a nerve problem in his leg, is on record as a possible.

Marin Tars Host Solano Tomorrow

"They're like we are; they're struggling," said College of Marin coach Dick Read regarding the Tars' Camino Norte Conference football foe Solano College of Suisun City.

When the Tars (2-3) host the Falcons (1-5) tomorrow at 1 p.m. in Kentfield, they will face a team that hasn't jelled offensively. The visitors have an unsettled quarterback situation with Victor Chiono and Bo Wisniewski alternating. Both run the option play well out of the I slot attack, but neither has impressed overall.

While Solano likes to run with halfbacks Derek Packard and Norm Woodrow and fullback Robert Walegir, the Tars will continue countering with the pass. Quarterback Mike Sanderson has touched off a proverbial aerial circus in directing Marin's sometimes explosive attack. He'll have to be sharp, because injuries have slowed Tar running backs Homer Hall (bruised left arm) and Jim Filippi (bruised right heel). To ease the running pressure, Read plans to use halfback Les Dunn a little more this week.

Healthy backs will be needed to ward off a Solano defense noted for its aggressiveness. The Solano defense is spearheaded by quick tackle Mike Bechtel, end Mike Young and middle linebacker Bill Sparrey. "They're always coming at you. They're tough," said Read.

Marin Academy Harriers Win

Marin Academy yesterday won the Little Four cross country championship with 20 points to 38 for Mt. Tamalpais, 114 for Royce of Oakland and 125 for Marin Country Day.

In a meet held at the quarry near Marin Academy, the winners' Drew D'Anneo slashed 20 seconds off the course record with 16:26 for three miles. Marin Academy's Ross Parmenter was second in 16:36, also breaking the mark, and Mt. Tam's Terry Kinney was third in 16:52.

Breakdown Of Marin's Population

Marin County's population is composed of 197,542 whites, 5,042 blacks, 1,054 Japanese, 873 Chinese and a sprinkling of other races.

This breakdown of races is included in a new state publication just released by the State Department of Human Resources Development. The 140-page publication, entitled "County Labor Market Surveys 1971-72", presents capsule data on each of the state's 58 counties. The population figures are based on the 1970 census.

In the labor market, Marin shows "a continuing surplus of job applicants for the limited number of entry-level positions that occur," says the publication.

"Construction has shown strong growth during the past two years following a period of tight money," according to the report. "Further growth of this industry will be limited, however, especially as Marin County residents seek to maintain the area's rural atmosphere. Jobs in electrical machinery manufacturing — one of the county's few large primary sources of jobs —fell by 50 per cent between 1969 and 1971, reflecting the national downtrend in that industry; however, this industry is expanding again."

The statewide population as of April 1970 stood at 19,953,134, with females out-numbering males by 10,136,448 to 9,816,685. Eighty-nine per cent, or 17,761,032, of the state's population is white; seven percent, or 1,400,143, is black. Other minorities include 213,280 Japanese, 170,131 Chinese, 138,859 Filipinos, 91,018 American Indians, and 178,671 other races.

The Greenhouse, Shop For Indoor Gardens, Sets Northgate Opening

The Greenhouse, a new shop that will supply all needs for indoor gardens, will open Thursday at 288 Northgate One Shopping Center in Terra Linda, next to Northgate Drugs.

Dorothy E. Hartley and Carol D. Hedrick, both of San Rafael, took over the space formerly occupied by Citizens Federal Savings and Loan and have refurbished the interior with white latticework, redwood furniture and astro-turf carpeting down the center.

"We plan to emphasize personalized service more than anything else, with service directed to the customer as an individual," said Mrs. Hedrick, who managed The Plantique in Montecito Shopping Center for about eight months. "We hope to offer consultation by going to a home and suggesting items to fit the decor of the home as well as giving advice on what will grow best."

The Greenhouse will be a well-rounded indoor garden shop carrying not only plants but also accessories such as pots, baskets, hangings, fertilizer and potting soils. The owners plan to carry some patio and deck furniture to go with indoor gardens.

Plants and gardens have been Mrs. Hedrick's hobbies for more than 10 years. Mrs. Hartley has years of experience in the wholesale furniture business.

JERRY H. LASLEY of Novato has been appointed vice president and manager of Security Pacific Bank's Front and Pine Office in San Francisco.

Formerly manager of the bank's Main and Commercial Branch in Los Angeles, Lasley takes administrative charge of the Front and Pine office, heading a staff of nine. He joined the bank in 1961.

Bullis

JOHN BULLIS of San Anselmo was promoted to vice president in charge of the Bank of California's market planning department at the bank's San Francisco head office.

A banker for 32 years, Bullis joined The Bank of California in 1966, was promoted to assistant vice president of the operations department in 1967, and transferred to the marketing division in 1971.

HEDDEN'S BEAUTY CENTER at 917 Fourth Street in San Rafael, across the street from Macy's, has a new owner, but the same name and staff will be retained.

The new owner is Gene Pender of San Rafael, who worked for Cricket West Hair Stylist on Lootens Place for the last six years and has 15 years of experience as a beautician. Miss Pender said she will offer all-round styling for both men and women.

She took over Hedden's Beauty Center on Wednesday from Margaret Hedden, who will retire after operating the shop for 27 years.

WILLIAM D. MAYO, 32, has been promoted to assistant vice president at Bank of America's San Rafael main office, Vice President and Manager R. E. Corrick announced this week. Mayo succeeds Phil Gonella, who is retiring.

Mayo joined Bank of America in 1966 and has held lending positions in Sacramento, Anderson and Redding. He was assistant manager at the Roseville Square office before his promotion to the San Rafael post.

STEVE EASLEY of Sausalito has joined the investment and development division of Frank Howard Allen & Co. Realtors' Greenbrae office. A resident of Marin for the past five years, he was formerly with Home and Land Co.

Easley won his finance degree from the University of Portland and his master of business administration from the University of San Francisco.

FILM DOCUMENTARY Ltd. of San Anselmo announced that its camera crew members, Al and Marty Shell, have returned safely from Egypt where they were involved in filming, among other things, the Nubian Desert and the reconstructed $50 million temple at Abu Simbel.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Retailing Prospects Less Than Buoyant

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Last year, when it was a new issue, I bought Ames Department Stores (NYSE) at 21¼. The price dropped almost immediately and went as low as 4¾. Would you recommend selling or do you think there is a chance for recovery? — M.A.

A. Shares of this retailer, which have been publicly traded for more than a decade, were listed on the Big Board in October 1972. In June 1972, when you presumably purchased, a 265,000-share secondary offering was brought out by the company and selling stockholders. At this time some 21 per cent or 440,000 shares are held by the chairman and his family. As of Jan. 31 of fiscal 1972-73, 36 stores were in operation, with 10 new units (four were acquired) to be operative by the 1973-74 year-end.

In the decade following the initial stock offering, earnings rose from 8 cents to $1.10 per share. Thus, the abrupt cessation early in 1972 of this geometric expansion of profits precipitated a collapse in share price. Causes of the slowdown were territorial saturation which created a highly competitive marketing climate, escalating costs, inability to pass on costs particularly in the low to medium-price merchandise market in which Ames operates and a slowdown in demand. Prospects for the immediate future of consumer demand are not encouraging. Sell on any upturn.

Q. Is it still possible, now that interest rates have dropped, to get long-term bonds yielding eight per cent or better? — S.C.

A. Absolutely, since the interest rate slide has been primarily in the short-term sector of the money markets. For example: A-rated Chrysler Corp. 87/8 of 1995 are trading above par to yield 8.3 per cent currently and slightly less when held to maturity.

Higher rated (AA) Pacific Tel. & Tel. 91/8s of 2004 yield 8.4 per cent currently despite their present 9 per cent premium over face value. If you feel comfortable with a well-covered BB issue such as Williams Companies 11s-12s of 1981, your current return would be 10 per cent.

Stocks Score Strong Across Board Gains

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices gained across a broad front today on the New York Stock Exchange with the help of some encouraging financial and economic developments. Trading was fairly active.

Analysts said another economic development that might have sparked some buying was a Commerce Department announcement the nation showed a sizeable trade surplus in September.

Observers noted, however, investors have been prone this week to gross over-reactions—both to bad news and good. The list thus has been subject to sharp intraday fluctuation.

Upjohn, a recent loser on disappointing earnings forecast, added 2. Polaroid was up 2 ¾, and Corning Glass 2, among other glamors.

Steels and chemicals posted smaller advances. Rails and papers were mixed, while airlines and aircrafts were practically unchanged.

Oils moved ahead across the board. Halliburton, Phillips Petroleum, Exxon, Atlantic Richfield, California Standard and Ohio Standard each showed gains of a point or more.

INTERESTING FACTS
George Washington lived in a house called the White House 30 years before he was President! Here's how it happened.
When Washington married Martha Custis, her mansion, by coincidence, was known at that time throughout Virginia as the "White House". Washington lived there in 1759. He didn't become President until 1789. And, here's another interesting fact . . . most U.S. Insurance Companies offer a 15% discount on collision insurance, because of the exclusive SAAB Impact Absorbing Bumper System.

UNUSUAL PLAYHOUSE

The gas chamber used to execute 24 men between 1933 and 1955 now is part of a playground outside the Colorado State Penitentiary at Canon City. Prison officials say there have been a few complaints since former Warden Wayne Patterson placed the chamber in the park. One inmate said it's "sick" for children visiting their parents at the prison to have to play in a gas chamber.

Former Marin Pastor Placed On Probation

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — A former Corte Madera minister was placed on three years' probation in Alameda Superior Court yesterday for forging his wife's name to a loan application.

Rev. Joseph Leon Hughes, who is credited with breathing life into the dwindling congregation of the Church of All Faiths in Corte Madera, was sentenced by Judge William J. McGuiness and ordered to pay $100 a month to repay the $2,964 loan.

Hughes was arrested in January while he was still pastor of the congregation he had led since 1968. He pleaded guilty to forging his wife's name to use her inheritance as a collateral for the loan, from the American Baptists Norcal Credit Union in Oakland.

Economy Said In Good Shape

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI) —John C. Renner, deputy assistant secretary of state for economic and business affairs, said yesterday Watergate has had no negative effect on the American economy.

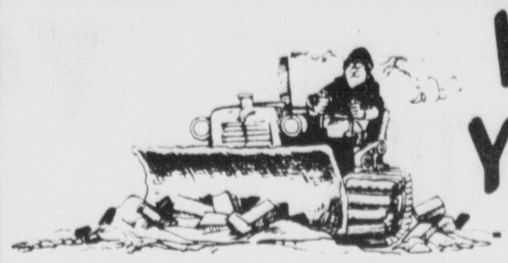

Renner, speaking at a Grand Rapids news conference for Michigan International Week, said the U.S. economy was doing fine with balance of payments down and the business level in the foreign market at its highest in recent history.

He said if the Middle East cease-fire goes into effect there woald be minimal harm to the American economic picture.

Judge Dismisses Recall Challenge

OAKLAND (UPI) — Superior Judge Robert K. Barber Wednesday threw out of court a challenge to the Aug. 21 special election which ousted radical Berkeley city councilman D'Army Bailey.

Five voters had challenged the election on grounds they were not properly notified because they had moved and their mail, containing official notice, was not promptly forwarded to their new addresses.
